Carr receives Award of Excellence

Frances Carr was granted UNCW's 1993 Award of Excellence during the university's Service Awards Luncheon, held June 24 at UNCW. She will go on to compete for the Governor's Award of Excellence, which will be granted in September.

Carr, office manager of the Career Planning and Placement Center, was nominated for her "high level of commitment to her job, her department, her division, the university, and her family," said Career Planning and Placement Center Director James Braye in nominating Carr. "She has demonstrated the ability to provide guidance and counsel to the many publics that use the placement center in a way that engenders an instant and positive response."

Carr oversees the student full- and part-time employment programs, handles the center's overall budget, and supervises the campus college recruiting program. She played a primary role in expanding the university's yearly career day to the point that it had to be moved from the University Union to Trask Coliseum because of increased participation by graduate schools, private industry, and the local, state, and federal government.

Carr received her secretarial degree from Kings College. She joined UNCW's staff in 1982.

The other nominees were: Diane Edwards, Dean of Students Office; Douglas L. Johnson, Admissions; Celestine J. Jones, Financial Aid; Nancy B. Jones, Chemistry; Terry L. Middleswarth, Athletics; Don Norris, Physical Plant; Margaret Sheridan, General College; Diane B. Talley, Public Service and Extended Education; and Pamela B. Whitlock, Research Administration.

Educational partnership set

UNC Wilmington and the Brunswick County Board of Education recently agreed to a long-term commitment to "Excellence in Education."

Central to the agreement is a commitment to strengthening teacher preparation based on the belief that the most direct route to improving student learning is to improve the quality of teaching.

The UNCW/Brunswick County partnership will establish a professional development system with several primary components including: providing a variety of "real world" teaching and learning experiences to provide education students intensive instruction and practice under the supervision of excellent public school and university teachers; employing models of teaching which value, use and reward high levels of academic knowledge and superior technical methods; clarifying the professional roles of teachers and administrators; and broadening decision making systems for schools.

UNCW and the Brunswick County Schools will collaborate for a minimum of four years under the agreement. Faculty and public school teachers will work together to provide education students with fields experiences in direct instruction, tutorials, and community experience. Brunswick County will accept 25 student teachers per year, and one Brunswick County teacher will be given release time to serve as a senior lecturer at UNCW.

AIDS quilt coming to Trask

The AIDS NAMES Memorial Quilt, an international memorial to those who have died of AIDS, will be on display Oct. 21 to 24 in Trask Coliseum on the campus of UNCW. The display will feature 800 three by six foot panels, each remembering the life of someone who has died of AIDS.

The Cape Fear Host Committee, a diverse group of concerned community and university volunteers, is responsible for bringing the quilt to Wilmington for the first time. The goals of the host committee are to promote awareness of HIV/AIDS and its human impact on our community and to build a positive, creative means of expression for those whose lives have been touched by HIV/AIDS.

Funding for this display will come from corporate sponsorships and individual donations. Additional funds raised beyond display expenses are urgently needed and have been designated to support people in Southeastern North Carolina. (cont. on p. 3)

Announcements

ORIENTATION

The 1993 fall orientation program will be held Aug. 15 to 16 for freshmen and Aug. 16 for transfers.

Departments who have materials for distribution should send them to AL 101 the week of Aug. 2 to 6 only. Materials will not be accepted before or after this week. Approximately 400 new freshmen, 850 transfers, and 350 parents are expected.

Soar with the

SEAHAWKS!

Here's your chance to sport the Seahawk logo and support the UNCW Alumni Association. For the same cost as a personalized plate, you can honor the Seahawks by owning an official Seahawk license plate.

In addition to the regular annual motor vehicle registration fee, pay only $25 annually for the UNCW license plate. Fifteen dollars of that money comes back to the university.

UNCW must send the names of 300 people interested in purchasing (but not obligated to buy) license plates to the Department of Motor Vehicles. Once the DMV has 300 names, they will commit to making the tags and will send each person who signed up an application for a UNCW license plate.

If you are interested in signing up, stop by the Alumni Office, Alderman room 108, or call Pat Newirth, director of alumni relations, at ext. 3616.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTION SYSTEM

UNCW employees are invited to submit innovative, cost-saving ideas for to the Employee Suggestion System. The meritorious service award program provides for equitable compensation and/or recognition to state employees who develop and submit valid suggestions that are used by the state.

Any suggestions adopted between now and June 30, 1994, will be eligible for the award.

Employees whose ideas were adopted between July 1, 1992, to June 30, 1993, are also eligible for the Ralph Ketner Award, a $10,000 award to be granted during September's Employee Appreciation Week.

Winners will be chosen by a committee of Employee Suggestion System coordinators. Call ext. 3162 for information.

FITNESS CERTIFICATION

AFAA (Aerobics Fitness Association of America) will come to UNCW from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 25, to give a primary certification workshop and certification test to students, faculty, and staff interested in becoming a fitness professional. For more information, contact Tonya Cutch at ext. 3261.

REGALIA

Faculty members who need to rent regalia for September's convocation should place orders by July 15.

If you have a card on file in the Bookstore, call Jessiebeth Geddie at ext. 3054 and send a check to the Bookstore through the campus mail.

BASKETBALL PUBLICATION EARNS NATIONAL RECOGNITION

UNC Wilmington's basketball magazine, "Hawk Hoops," has been judged by the College Sports Information Directors of America as the fourth best game program among the nation's 290 NCAA Division I schools.

The University of Kansas took first place in the competition, followed by Tennessee, Texas, UNC Wilmington, and Oklahoma. The top five publications will receive awards at next month's national meeting in Atlanta, Ga.

"Hawk Hoops" will begin its fourth season of publication this fall and was edited last year by Sports Information Director Joe Browning and Intern Gary Glenn. The designation marks a first for the school's athletic publications.

Quilt panels are made by friends and family members and include a wide variety of materials ranging from human hair to love letters to teddy bears. The panels are just a portion of the 24,000 panels that make up the entire AIDS NAMES Memorial Quilt. Anyone can participate in making a memorial panel. There is no fee, but a financial donation to help pay for the cost of adding panels to the quilt is requested. The Cape Fear Host Committee is seeking panels honoring people from Southeastern North Carolina. For more information about panel making, call (919) 675-1561.

The quilt, which represents 14 percent of all U.S. AIDS deaths, was begun in 1987 by Cleve Jones, a gay rights activist. Jones made the first panel in memory of his friend Marvin Feldman, who died from AIDS. He spray painted Feldman's name onto a piece of cloth about the size of a grave. Portions of the quilt, which stretches over 15 football fields, have been displayed in 700 U.S. cities.

Official Notices

Student time sheets

Student time sheets for July are due no later than 10 a.m., Friday, July 30. Student signatures are required for payroll processing. Because of the summer schedule, most students will not be on campus the 30th, so please plan ahead.

Reminder

The July 4 holiday observed Monday, July 5, required that one hour be charged to vacation leave.

PUBLIC SERVICE AND EXTENDED EDUCATION

UNCW to Offer CPA Review Course

The Department of Accountancy and Business Law, in association with the Division for Public Service and Extended Education, will offer a CPA review course for candidates preparing to take the November 1993 Uniform CPA Examination.

Scheduled for Aug. 3 through Oct. 21, the "Conviser & Duffy CPA Review" will be offered from 6 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday evenings in Cameron Hall room 214.

Call for more information or to register or contact Richard A. Roscher, assistant professor of accountancy, at ext. 3507. Registrations will also be accepted on the first night of class.

For information about the program listed above, or to register by credit card, call ext. 3195.

Harvey joins Advancement staff

Dolores Harvey, facilities use planner for UNCW, has left Public Service to join the staff of University Advancement.

In addition to scheduling campus facilities, she will be responsible for commencement and convocation. Harvey's phone extension, 3011, remains the same.

Fiscal year-end closing

FRS will be down from 7:30 a.m., Wednesday, July 14, to 7:30 a.m., Monday, July 19, for year-end closing. Plan your schedules accordingly.

State vehicles

Users of state vehicles may not use Motor Fleet Management in Raleigh as a clearinghouse for parking tickets.

If a parking citation is not paid within a two-week period, a notice is sent to the Motor Fleet Management Division and forwarded to the assigned driver. MFM deems the ticket "unpaid."

Excessive (2) unpaid parking citations within a one-year period received by MFM for the same driver constitutes vehicle "abuse" (Ref. Title 1, Chapter 38, Section .0400, North Carolina Administrative Code 10/07/92 and Department of Administration, Motor Fleet Management Regulation, Section VII.E.).

Motor Fleet Management will not accept vehicle abuse and will start taking a firmer stand on parking citations.

Shared leave

Helen Washington from the Bookstore and Lela Dorsey-Coleman of House-keeping have both requested shared leave donations to avoid leave without pay due to illness and surgery.

Please check your leave balance and be generous. Call Dale at ext. 3161 for more information.

Employee emergency loans

An employee emergency loan program has been approved effective July 1.

Permanent, probationary, and time-limited employees in need of immediate financial assistance due to a medical emergency, death in the family, or other emergency circumstance that warrants assistance are eligible to apply for emergency loans up to $250.

Loans will be repaid by payroll deduction over the next one to three paychecks. An employee may use the emergency loan program no more than once each calendar year.

Loans will be administered by the Human Resources Department. Non-emergency loans will continue to be handled through the State Employees' Credit Union or other financial institutions. For further details on the Emergency Loan Program, see UNCW Procedure No. HR 4.40 or call Human Resources.

Community Item

New Hanover County is updating its Minority/Women Business Enterprise (MBE/WBE) Directory for 1993-94.

Minority and woman-owned businesses are encouraged to contact New Hanover County's MBE/WBE Program for information on how they can have their businesses advertised in the directory free of charge, obtain information concerning contracting opportunities with New Hanover County and the New Hanover International Airport, and become certified or pre-qualified to bid on county and airport projects.

All interested business owners should call 341-7415 by July 30.

Gerasimov to teach at UNCW

Ambassador Gennadi Gerasimov, who served as spokesman for Mikhail Gorbachev during the perestroika period, will teach at UNCW next spring as a distinguished visiting professor in the departments of political science and communication studies. He'll also give presentations to faculty, staff, students, and the public.

Gerasimov, in his position as spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, traveled around the world with Mikhail Gorbachev, then president of the USSR, and became a familiar face to television viewers. He made numerous appearances on TV news programs such as Nightline with Ted Koppel.

After President Yeltsin took office, Gerasimov served two years as ambassador of the USSR, and later the Russian Federation, to Portugal. Upon completion of a two-year term, Gerasimov returned to Moscow and has since been active as columnist and speaker.

In 1990 he was recognized as "Communicator of the Year" by the National Association of Government Communicators. Gerasimov was the first non-U.S. media official to be recognized by NAGC.

Gerasimov, a career journalist, has worked for the Novotsi Press Agency and the Marxist Review in Prague, Czechoslovakia. He spent six years in the United States during the '70s and '80s as editor-in-chief of Moscow News Weekly.

Two nursing scholarships established

UNC Wilmington has received a gift of $42,500 from the Forty and Eight honor society of the American Legion. The money, raised through 25 years of annual fish fries and barbecues, will be placed into an endowed scholarship trust and will fund two nursing scholarships annually.

The group is made up of veterans who wish to honor the memory of the many nurses that helped them during war times. The name Forty and Eight, which comes from the French Voiture 245 of La Societe des Quarante Hommes et Huit Chevaux, represents the number of men (40) or horses (8) that could fit into one of the small French rail cars used during World War I to transport troops across the countryside.

These scholarships have been established in joint memory of Voyageur Militaire John H. McInnis (former director of Voiture 245's Nurses Training Committee), Dorothy Dixon (chair of the previous associate degree nursing program at UNCW), and Harold Sternberger (top fish fry and barbecue ticket seller).

"This is a tremendous contribution to the school and the university from a highly dedicated group of community members," said Dr. Marlene Rosenkoetter, dean of the School of Nursing at UNCW. "We are indeed grateful to the many Forty and Eight members who have worked so tirelessly to raise this amount of money."

International art on display

"Art from Afar: Nine International Artists," is now on display on the first floor of Randall Library. The exhibit, which runs through July 31, is part of this year's Oceanside ArtsFest program. The twenty-eight original prints were created by nine artists from Japan, Korea, Brazil, France, Germany, Italy, and Spain. Exhibited works include woodcuts, etchings, mezzotints, screenprints, and other forms of printmaking.

Chicago art dealer Richard Milliman, who represents many artists from overseas, selected the exhibit and its arrangement.

Local teacher awarded fellowship

Teresa Brookins, a teacher at Laney High School in Wilmington, has been awarded a fellowship to work in the laboratories of the Center for Marine Science Research at UNCW this summer. The sponsors of the award are the American Society for Cell Biology and the Society for Developmental Biology.

"This is a chance for us to stimulate an interest in science among the people on the front lines of education," said Dr. Tom Shafer, associate professor of biology at UNCW and a member of the project team. "Terry (cont. on p. 3)

THANK YOU

Peggy Hendrix of the Physical Plant wishes to express her appreciation to university staff for the kindness and concern shown after the death of her husband, Roger.

IN MEMORIAM

Dr. Victor Zullo, professor of geology, died suddenly last week. The faculty and staff of UNCW wish to extend sympathy to the family of Dr. Zullo.

Zullo joined UNCW's faculty in 1971 and later served as chair of the Department of Earth Sciences. He received his bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree from the University of California at Berkeley and worked at the California Academy of Sciences, San Francisco State University, and the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Ma., before coming to UNCW.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow, Friday, July 23, at St. James Episcopal Church in downtown Wilmington. In lieu of flowers, donations to the Geology Trust Fund are requested.

Michael Allen Howe, past president of the UNCW Biology Club, died in an accident last weekend. Funeral services were held yesterday in Hampton, Va.

Contact the Department of Biological Sciences for more information.

EMPLOYEE SUGGESTION SYSTEM

UNCW employees are invited to submit innovative, cost-saving ideas to the Employee Suggestion System. The meritorious service award program provides for equitable compensation and/or recognition to state employees who develop and submit valid suggestions that are used by the state.

Any suggestions adopted between now and June 30, 1994, will be eligible for the award.

Employees whose ideas were adopted between July 1, 1992, to June 30, 1993, are also eligible for the Ralph Ketner Award, a $10,000 award to be granted during September's Employee Appreciation Week.

Winners will be chosen by a committee of Employee Suggestion System coordinators. For suggestion forms or more information, contact Pam Barnes in Human Resources at ext. 3162.

ORIENTATION

The 1993 fall orientation program will be held Aug. 15 to 16 for freshmen and Aug. 16 for transfers. Departments who have materials for distribution should send them to AL 101 the week of Aug. 2 to 6 only. Materials will not be accepted before or after this week.

Approximately 400 new freshmen, 850 transfers, and 350 parents are expected.

EARTH SCIENCES SEMINAR

The Department of Earth Sciences will sponsor a seminar by Dr. Arthur Spivack, assistant professor of geochemistry and oceanography, Scripps Institute of Oceanography, University of California, San Diego, at noon today in Friday Hall room 251. His talk is titled "Boron Isotope Geochemistry and Ocean pH."

His display includes four pieces from his "Uta" series, which translates loosely as dream or poetry." His mysterious images feature geometric structures containing richly textured beds of gravel, over which hover metallic bars. Ito created one of the four pieces while artist in residence in Wilmington. This lithograph is available for purchase, and proceeds will help fund future guest artists at UNCW.

Many of the exhibited pieces hint at meanings but invite the viewer's imaginative response to complete the images. Arthur Piza, a Brazilian artist, provides clues with titles like "Pyramid" and "Elevation" to his richly embossed etchings.

Spaniard Carlos Villar's works feature warm earth tones and superimposed marks that resemble art found in prehistoric caves.

Japanese artist Yuji Hiratsuka presents the most colorful work of the exhibit in his stylized compositions of figures, flowers, and patterns. Titles like "Flower Crown" and "Temptation" suggest the lush appeal of his color etchings.

And the Italian artist Giuseppe Santomaso makes spare, graceful etchings where relatively few shapes and marks make up the lyrical images.

All of the works in the exhibit are for sale. Call the Fine Arts Office at ext. 3440 for more information.

EARLE DEPARTS

Dr. Rodney S. Earle, Department of Education, is making plans to leave for Utah, where he has accepted a position at Brigham Young University. "I wish to express to faculty, staff, administrators, and students my deepest appreciation for twelve wonderful years at UNCW," said Earle. "My experiences here have been rich opportunities for personal and professional development. (Leaving) has not been an easy decision to make because of the associations I've had with so many people on campus and in the community. Thanks for the wonderful memories. Best wishes in your future endeavors." His new addresses follow:

TRAVEL UPDATE FROM AAA

Don't forget to request maps and tour books from AAA. The books are informative, sometimes contain discount coupons, and will be delivered to your department upon request.

Stand-By Policy: If AAA has to book you on a late flight due to fare purposes, you can fly standby on an earlier flight at no additional charge. Travelers may discover during the course of a trip that a more convenient connection or return flight is available. If seats are available on better flights, the airline will usually accommodate the standby request at no additional cost.

will have the chance to take what she's learned and share it not only with her students, but with other teachers."

Brookins will study the molting process of blue crab shells. Blue crabs periodically lose their hard outer shell, which reveals a soft shell underneath that hardens as the amount of calcium carbonate it contains increases. What researchers aren't sure of is what triggers the shell to begin the hardening process.

Brookins will study the possible role of a series of enzymes in causing the soft shell to harden by applying them to small pieces of soft crab shells.

This line of research could benefit the crab fishing industry. If the researchers are able to find out what makes the shells harden, it may be possible to keep them soft longer. More soft shell crabs would mean more money for those who sell the delicacy to consumers.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Jeffrey Brown, Mathematical Sciences, presented "Scattered Data Interpolation Over the Sphere," at the Second International Conference on Curves and Surfaces held June 9 to 16 in Chamonix, France.

Dr. John Bennett, HPER Department, was a keynote speaker at three statewide health promotion conferences in Pennsylvania, Vermont, and Virginia during the month of June. His topics centered around team building, individual wellness, change, and leadership. He will address the Maryland Health Promotion Conference on the same topics this month.

Dr. Kimon Bird and Anne Kindrick of the Department Biological Sciences have published a paper with former UNCW undergraduate Mark Kinkema.

The title is "Agglutinins from Marine Macroalgae of the Southeastern United States," which appears in the Journal of Applied Phycology 5: 213-218.

Cameron Sperry, a graduate of UNCW's master's program in English as a lecturer in our Creative Writing Program, has been elected president of the Board of Trustees of the North Carolina Writers' Network beginning June 1993. The NCWN is a nonprofit organization that fosters the literary arts through programs, conferences, readings, awards, etc., and has a membership of 2,500. Its advisory board includes Tom Wicker, Rita Dove, Fred Chappell, and Lee Smith.

Philip Gerard is the recipient of one of four North Carolina Arts Council Fellowships in Literature for 1993. His work was chosen from among the work of 170 applicants statewide. Judith Ortiz Cofer, Simon Ortiz, and Allan Kornblum were the judges. The fellowship carries a stipend of $8,000 to support work-in-progress. Gerard also was one of three UNCW faculty to receive a College of Arts & Sciences Excellence in Teaching Award for 1992-93 academic year. He also received the English Department Service Award.

Welcome to Rex Pringle, UNCW's new director of campus recreation. Pringle comes to UNCW from Fairfield University in Connecticut.

A life in the circus on display

A combination of mixed media drawings and dioramas by retired circus entertainer Betty Huber will be on exhibit Aug. 2-Sept. 3 in the UNCW University Union Living Room. Entitled "Circus Realm," the exhibit tells the story of Huber's life as a circus performer.

The 76-year-old Wilmington resident has lived an amazing life. The Huber family owned a traveling circus that stretched back six generations. Their internationally famous troupe was known as the Circus Brunbach and entertained all over Europe. The family's escape from the Nazis on the eve of World War II was dramatized in the 1950s movie, Man on a Tightrope.

Huber carried on the family tradition for most of her life. The coordination and balance which were once manifested through her physical ability now make themselves apparent through other creative avenues. Occasionally she works as a film extra, but her forte is that of the visual storyteller. Huber's drawings began to emerge in 1989 when she had a close call with cancer.

"Working with different acts has brought many pictures to my mind," Huber explains. "I'm telling my stories about working with beautiful acts and their impressions on me. The circus was my life. My drawings keep reminding me of what a beautiful life I once led."

Betty Huber's work can be viewed from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday. There will be a "Meet the Artist" reception from 2:30-4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29, in the University Union. The reception is open to the public and all are welcome.

School chosen for hands-on science

New Hanover County's Williams Elementary School is one of 10 schools in the state selected to receive a hands-on science program sponsored by the Southeast Partnership of the N.C. Science and Math Alliance at UNCW.

"Using the Outdoors to Teach Experiential Science" (UTOTES) is a school-based science program that includes activities such as enhancing native animal habitats by putting up bird feeders and bird baths and planting wildflowers and other plants.

"The program helps students discover science around them in the outdoors," explained Wayne Hanson, coordinator of the science and math alliance.

Williams Principal Veronica McLaurin and teachers Sandy West and Sharon Bigford enlisted the support of teachers, parents and businesses to bring the on-going program to the school. The program will involve 25 hours of teacher workshops and an integrated science curriculum and outdoor activity program tailored to the school, at a cost of about $5,000.

Other area schools that have participated in UTOTES are Southport Elementary and Lincoln Primary schools in Brunswick County.

Exhibit by Baldridge opens

Paintings by Wilmington artist Jane Baldridge will be on display in the UNCW University Center lobby Aug. 10-Oct. 1. The show, "Reflections," features paintings that capture the interplay of light and water on the ocean shore.

Baldridge is an active environmentalist. "Growing up on the water, I have come to feel very close to the ocean and what lives in it," she said. "This is reflected in my work as well as my life. The colors of a clean ocean, coral reefs and many fish are as beautiful and vibrant as any floral garden. Life on this planet depends on the oceans; we must all do our part to help everyone see the beauty of a healthy environment and want to preserve it."

Baldridge attended California Institute of the Arts and The Alfred G. Glassel Museum School of Art in Texas. She has shown her work in numerous exhibitions throughout North and South Carolina, most recently at East Carolina University. Her awards include Best of Show at the 1992 Feast of Pirates Art Show.

A "Meet the Artist" reception will be held Thursday, Sept. 23 from 5 to 7 p.m. in University Center. The public is encouraged to attend.

Medical Insurance Annual Enrollment

Representatives from the State Health Plan and Physicians Health Plan (PHP) will be on campus from 1:30-3 p.m. and 3:30-5 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 18 in Bryan Auditorium, Morton Hall. Updates on the two plans will be given and a question and answer period will follow. Information on the plans is being mailed to home addresses. Employees are encouraged to attend one of the two sessions.

The annual open enrollment period is Aug. 1-31. This is the only time during the year that employees may change medical plans.

Posting mail notices

The person responsible for processing incoming mail in each department is responsible for posting university vacancy announcements conspicuously. The Department of Human Resources understands there has been some confusion about who is to receive postings, since department labels no longer appear on the announcements. Your assistance is appreciated.

1993 EEO/AA Plan filed

The university's Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Plan for 1993 has been completed and submitted to the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs. Copies are available to employees for review in Human Resources, the Provost's office, the Chancellor's office, and at the reserve desk in Randall Library. Questions concerning the plan should be directed to Sam Connolly, assistant to the chancellor for EEO/AA and Quality Management, Ext. 3855.

Reminder

University summer hours will end Friday, Aug. 6. The normal 8 a.m.-5 p.m. schedule will resume Monday, Aug. 9.

Merchant Fair

The merchant fair scheduled for Welcome Week will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday Aug. 19 on the University Union North Lawn.

Requisition Tips

When processing a requisition, please don't forget to give your suggested vendor's name, full address and phone number, if known. At the very least, we need name, city and state. Certain commodities give purchasing agents major headaches when it comes to determining the correct location. An incorrect choice only causes delays that pass the headaches to you. The more information you can give us in Purchasing, the better job we can do for you. Don't hesitate to call if we can assist.

Shared leave

Emma Kay Thornton has requested 24 hours of shared leave to avoid leave without pay due to the birth of her new baby. Please send your vacation leave requests to Human Resources or call Dale at ext. 3161.

Family medical leave

The federal Family Medical Leave Act goes into effect Aug. 5. The state has issued its policy to campuses effective Aug. 2. Human Resources is working on UNCW's policy; details will be forthcoming.

If you have questions, call Kay Fryar at ext. 3698 or Kay Robinson at ext. 3274.

Student box stuffings

Postal Services is accepting material to be placed in student mail boxes for the fall semester. To ensure distribution to student boxes before Aug. 14, mailings must be delivered to Postal Services before Aug. 5. Call Doris Moore at Ext. 3734 for more information.

Welcome to campus!

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington will welcome incoming freshmen for the 1993 fall semester with "Transitions," sponsored by UNCW Housing and Residence Life. The four-day program is designed to help freshmen make the social and academic adjustments associated with college. "Transitions" kicks off with a picnic dinner from 4:30-6:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 14, in Trask Coliseum followed by an alumni basketball game. Afterward there will be a small orientation session and Playfair, an interactive activity of play and orientation to campus. The UNCW Alumni Association will host a Dominos pizza party at 10 p.m.

On Sunday, freshmen can spend the day at Wrightsville Beach and wind up with a boat cruise on the Intracoastal

Waterway. The cruise departs at 8 p.m. from Carolina Beach, and tickets are $7. Transportation to the beach and the boat ride will be provided. Monday and Tuesday will be devoted to small group presentations which deal with study skills, time management and living with roommates. At 8 p.m. Monday, a trip is planned to Jungle Rapids theme park, which includes water slides, a go-cart track, miniature golf, bumper boats and a video arcade. Tickets are $7 and transportation will be provided.

The 1993 fall semester begins when on-campus housing opens Saturday, Aug. 14, for incoming freshmen. Residence halls will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Classes begin Thursday, Aug. 19.

Projected enrollment for the fall 1993 semester is 8,050 students, with a projected total minority enrollment of 490. The freshman class is expected to number 1,375, of whom 110 are black, a new high in the number of black freshmen. The freshman class has an average SAT score of 938. The Office of Institutional Research, which provided the projections, noted that final figures will not be available for several weeks, when registration is complete.

Comedians Jimmy "JJ." Walker and Randy Kagan of MTV will kick off five days of Welcome Week activities at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 17, with a show at Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are $5 for UNCW students and will be available at the door.

FALL AIRFARE CUTS

On Aug. 5, Delta Airlines announced it would cut fares for travel between Sept. 15 and Dec. 15. Discounts depend on the date of purchase. Tickets purchased now through Aug. 17 will be discounted 35 percent. Tickets purchased from Aug. 18 to Aug. 31 will be discounted 30 percent, and tickets purchased from Sept. 1 to Sept. 15 will be cut by 25 percent.

Travel must take place between Sept. 15 and Dec. 15 to qualify. A Saturday night stay is required, but there are no holiday blackout periods. Tickets are non-refundable and must be ticketed within 24 hours of when reservations are made. This sale applies to most markets in the United States, including U.S. Virgin Islands, Hawaii, San Juan, Canada, Bermuda and Nassau. Other airlines are expected to match Delta's fares. As always, airline restrictions change, so contact AAA Travel Agency (763-9520) for more details.

SEANC SESSION HELD

Gloria Sasser, membership chair for SEANC District 62, will hold an open session for all employees from 7:30-10:30 a.m. Friday, Aug. 13, in the University Union Glass Room. All state employees are invited. Biscuits and coffee will be served. Materials will be available and state representatives will be present to answer questions about SEANC.

ANTI-HAZING SPEECH PLANNED

"Hazing: A Greek Tragedy" will be presented by Eileen Stevens, founder of CHUCK (Committee to Halt Useless College Killings) at 8 p.m. Sept. 8 in University Center Ballroom. Since the hazing death of her son, Chuck, in 1978, Stevens has waged a national campaign to eliminate all dangerous physical and mental hazing practices by collegiate fraternities and sororities.

Stevens has lectured to more than 500 campuses nationwide. Her message is not anti-Greek, but anti-hazing. Fraternities and sororities work closely with her to find alternatives and positive programs.

The CHUCK organization has been profiled on 20/20, Phil Donahue, Good Morning America, Today, People, The New York Times and The Chronicle of Higher Education. Stevens' presentation is sponsored by ALTERNATIVES!, Office of the Dean of Students, Greek Presidents Council, Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Council and GAMMA.

For more information, call Bob Smith, Office of the Dean of Students, Ext. 3119.

SYMPHONY TO HOLD AUDITIONS

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will hold auditions for new members at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 23, in Kenan Hall. Interested musicians should bring a prepared piece and plan to do some sight reading. Those who wish to audition must call the symphony office at 791-9262 to schedule an audition time.

The 45-piece orchestra is made up of talented musicians from the local schools, UNCW and the surrounding community. During the concert season, rehearsals are held at 7:30 p.m. every Tuesday evening in Kenan Hall. Public concerts under the direction of Dr. Steven Errante are performed in October, November, December, February and April.

DONATIONS NEEDED TO BENEFIT MUSEUM

Items are needed for an auction to benefit UNCW's Museum of World Cultures.

The auction is scheduled for 7 p.m. Nov. 4 in University Center Ballroom No. 4. There will be no fee to attend the auction or view items beforehand (from 5 to 7 p.m.), but bid cards for the auction will cost $3. Donated items do not need to be of antique or museum quality. New or used articles in good condition, such as furniture, jewelry, lamps, pictures, rugs, tools, decorating accessories, etc. will be gladly accepted. Our only requirement is that it has some monetary value.

Donations will be accepted by the Museum of World Cultures in Room 100-D of Cameron Hall. If you cannot bring your donation to us, we will make arrangements to pick it up.

For more information or to make a donation, call Dr. Gerald Shirin, museum director, or his secretary, Jo Strobush, at the Museum of World Cultures, Ext. 4007. Thank you for your support.

Notice to all departments

The ADS (Alumni Development System) in place in the University Advancement Division was installed last year to accurately track all gift records. Per administrative procedures, it is imperative that all gifts to UNCW be processed through University Advancement.

Any department on campus that receives a donation, cash or check, from a donor must deliver the deposit, with any attached information, to the Advancement division for proper handling. This will insure that donors are properly receipted and gift records are accurate. Once the deposit has been processed, a copy of the deposit will be returned to your department. A receipt is mailed to all donors, as well as other personal acknowledgments. It will be at the discretion of each department to send additional correspondence, if desired.

All honor or memorial gifts should include the name and address of the appropriate contact for notification of the gift. For all non-cash gifts, you must furnish a value, together with donor's name, address and description of the gift. If you have any questions, please call Vicki Dull at Ext. 3937. Thank you.

Student time sheets

Student time sheets for August are due no later than 3 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 31. Please make sure time sheets are complete with account numbers and appropriate signatures. If you have any questions, please call Tina at Ext. 3752.

New mileage rate

Effective Aug. 1, the new state reimbursement mileage rate is 28 cents per mile for round trips of 60 miles or less, or when a state-owned vehicle is not available. The mileage rate for round trips of more than 60 miles remains at 20 cents per mile.

Legislative update

Enhanced Retirement Benefits: The factor used in the formula for calculating a retirement benefit for members of the State Retirement System has increased from 1.70 percent to 1.71 percent. With the increased factor, an employee with 30 years' participation in the State Retirement System and an average final compensation (average of highest four years' earnings) of $30,000 could expect a maximum benefit at retirement of $15,300 annually. This amount could be adjusted annually by the legislature. To fund the increase in the formula, the employer's monthly contribution rate to the pension fund increased from 8.35 percent to 8.38 percent of covered salaries. Employee contribution remains at 6 percent of salary.

The employer contribution rate for members of the Optional Retirement Plan (ORP) increased from 6.46 percent to 6.50 percent. Employee contribution remains at 6 percent of Enhanced Leave Policy.

Employees with a vacation balance in excess of 240 hours on Dec. 31 may transfer the excess to their sick leave account instead of forfeiting it. Unused sick leave hours may be converted to service credits at retirement for members of the State Retirement Plan. A maximum of 12 days' sick leave credit for each year of retirement service may be converted. 20 days (160 hours) of sick leave may be converted to one month of service credit.

Pay plan for SPA employees: In addition to the 2 percent cost of living increase reflected in July 1993 paychecks for SPA employees, a 1 percent bonus (not added to base pay) will be paid in December 1993 to SPA employees who were hired into permanent positions July 1, 1993 or earlier. Employees hired between July 2, 1993 and Jan. 1, 1994, will receive the 1 percent bonus in June 1994.

A comprehensive pay plan for SPA employees was also adopted with an effective date of July 1, 1994. The plan contains three components: career growth, cost of living adjustments and performance bonus. More information on the implementation of the pay plan will be provided when it becomes available.

Medical Insurance Annual Enrollment

Representatives from the State Health Plan and Physicians Health Plan (PHP) will be on campus from 1:30-3 p.m. and 3:30-5 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 18, in Bryan Auditorium, Morton Hall. Updates on the two plans will be given and a question-and-answer period will follow. Information on the plans is being mailed to home addresses. Employees are encouraged to attend one of the two sessions. The annual open enrollment period is Aug. 1-31. This is the only time during the year that employees may change medical plans.

Soar with the

SEAHAWKS!

Here's your chance to sport the Seahawk logo and support the UNCW Alumni Association. For the same cost as a personalized plate, you can honor the Seahawks by owning an official Seahawk license plate.

In addition to the regular annual motor vehicle registration fee, pay only $25 annually for the UNCW license plate. Fifteen dollars of that money comes back to the university.

The Department of Motor Vehicles must receive orders from 300 people before it will strike the first plate.

If you are interested in buying a Seahawk license plate, stop by the Alumni Office, Alderman Room 108, or call Pat Neuwirth, director of alumni relations, Ext. 3616.

Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Dr. Marvin Moss is pleased to announce that Dr. Jo Ann Seiple, former chair of the department of English, has joined the academic affairs administration team as an assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs. Dr. Seiple began her new position on July 1. Her new office is Alderman 111.

Dr. John P. Bennett, HPER, led a New Hanover County Public Schools staff development workshop for elementary teachers Aug. 3 titled "Bringing the Curriculum to Life through Movement." The workshop focused primarily on effective techniques on curriculum integration. Bennett also had an article selected for inclusion in the August 1993 issue of Resources in Education titled, "Let the Good Times Roll — Laissez les Bon Temps Rouler!", co-authored with Bernadette Morris of the N.C. Department of Instruction.

Tryer gets $5,000 for cost-saving idea

Vincent Tryer, HVAC mechanic, yesterday was presented a check for $5,000 from the university for a suggestion submitted through the Employee Suggestion System for the State of North Carolina. This is the first monetary award presented for a suggestion from a UNCW employee.

Tryer's suggestion dealt with revisions to the air conditioning system in Randall Library that were implemented in April 1992. His idea was to combine the library's two cooling systems into a single unit serving the entire building. Figures compiled to date indicate a $16,000 annual savings for the first year, an amount expected to continue in the future.

Tryer was employed as HVAC mechanic by the university on June 1, 1983. Before that, he was in Air Force maintenance and was involved in vending machine and refrigeration repair.

During his tenure at UNCW, he has primarily served as HVAC mechanic, except for a short period in which he acted in the capacity of maintenance planner.

The Employee Suggestion System exists to encourage efficiency and cost savings in government, and carries a monetary award based on a percentage of the savings up to $5,000. Suggestions are shared statewide and applied wherever possible.

Elikai honored for excellent teaching

Dr. Fara Elikai, associate professor of accountancy and business law in the Cameron School of Business Administration, was awarded the UNCW Board of Trustees Teaching Excellence Award during the board's regular quarterly meeting Aug. 11.

The Board of Trustees based their choice on the recommendation of an anonymous committee made up of UNCW faculty members. In addition to the award, Elikai received $1,500 in cash.

In selecting him for the award, the committee singled out several accomplishments. These included high student evaluations, his awards for excellence from student chapters of the Institute of Management Accountants, and his appointment within the Cameron School of Business as chair of the Effective Teaching Committee.

Also noted was Elikai's work as faculty advisor to the UNCW Accountancy Club, which won national recognition for student projects in 1989 and 1990.

During his presentation of Elikai to the board, Chancellor James R. Leutze applauded Elikai's hard work and commented on the satisfaction he must feel in knowing that others recognize and value his efforts. "I am certainly among them," Leutze said in issuing his congratulations.

Elikai joined UNCW in 1986 as an assistant professor and was promoted to associate professor in 1989.

Leutze names Howard-Vital vice chancellor

Chancellor James R. Leutze has announced that he has selected Dr. Michelle R. Howard-Vital as his choice to fill the position of vice chancellor for Public Service and Extended Education. If approved by the Board of Governors, Howard-Vital will be the first minority vice chancellor ever employed at UNCW.

Leutze will forward this recommendation to UNC President C.D. Spangler Jr. for final approval by the UNC Board of Governors at their Sept. 10 meeting in Chapel Hill.

In making the announcement, Leutze commented on Howard-Vital's wide range of experience. "She is a broadly capable individual who knows extension education from the academic side of the house as well as public relations and marketing," he said.

Michelle R. Howard-Vital is currently associate vice president for academic programs and dean of university college, Edinboro University of Pennsylvania, Edinboro, PA, a position she has held since July 1991.

In her present position, Howard-Vital is responsible for developing and implementing academic programs, policy, and curricula; working closely with academic deans in developing and monitoring operational budgets for academic affairs; recruiting and hiring new faculty; and coordinating a variety of academic support activities including tutoring, freshman orientation, and a program designed for students who haven't decided on an academic major.

FULBRIGHT EXCHANGE PROGRAM

The United States Information Agency (USIA) has announced the 1994-95 Fulbright Teacher Exchange Program.

The program is unique among Fulbright educational exchange programs in its one-on-one exchange of teachers; each U.S. school or college continues to pay the U.S. teacher's salary and receives in exchange a highly qualified international teacher (paid by his or her home school).

The school district and community not only benefit from the experiences of the returned U.S. teacher, but also gain an invaluable resource in the international exchange partner.

The program is open to educators and administrators of all subjects at the secondary, postsecondary, and (in a few countries) elementary levels. There is no limit to the number of educators who may apply to the program from a given institution or organization.

Countries participating in the 1994-95 Program are Argentina, Belarus, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Egypt, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Mexico, Morocco, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Russia, Senegal, Slovak Republic, South Africa, Switzerland, Turkey, Ukraine, and the United Kingdom.

Exchange grants may include full or partial travel grants and cost-of-living supplements, depending on the country of exchange. Exchange teachers to Canada and the United Kingdom pay their own transportation expenses. Most exchanges are for one academic year; however, some last a semester or six weeks.

The application deadline for U.S. applicants is October 15, 1993. To receive more information and application materials with specific country requirements, call 1-800-726-0479.

A message from Chancellor Leutze 1993 Fall Convocation

UNCW will hold Fall Convocation at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 8, in Trask Coliseum. The event will mark the beginning of our academic year and will be a time to honor several people for their outstanding achievements.

As we make plans for this year and the next few years, it is important that you be a part of the process. This ceremony is one event we invite all members of the university community to attend and share our vision for progress.

In addition to the ceremony, a picnic lunch with live music has been arranged at noon in the pines on the north side of Trask. We hope you will participate in this as another part of the university's attempt to create a sense of "community" among all members of our family.

To provide for your attendance at these events, I am asking supervisors to operate their offices at minimum staff levels from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. We look forward to this as a memorable day. Please join us in celebrating the beginning of the academic year.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Joseph Pawlik of Biological Sciences attended the Tenth Annual Meeting of the International Society of Chemical Ecology in Tampa, Fla., Aug. 1 to 4, and presented an invited seminar titled "Chemical Defenses of Caribbean Sponges."

Kimberly M. Markham, Biological Sciences, presented a paper and chaired a session at the Third International Seminar on Misconceptions and Educational Strategies in Science and Mathematics, held at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., Aug. 1 to 4. The paper was titled "The Structure and Use of Biological Knowledge About Mammals in Novice and Experienced Students."

Dr. Jim Mc Nab, chair of Foreign Languages, gave a paper titled "La Loi du pere et le fils ingrat: Aron et Sartre devant mai 1968" at the national meeting of the American Association of Teachers of French in San Diego in July. The paper examined intellectuals' responses to the French student uprising of 25 years ago.

Dr. Cynthia DeSouza, assistant professor of mathematical sciences, presented a poster titled "Bayesian Analysis of Outlier Models for Time Series Data Using the Gibbs Sampler" at the first world meeting of the International society for Bayesian analysis, held Aug. 6 to 7 in San Francisco. She presented another poster titled "Bayesian Inference for Small Area Estimation and Finite Population Sampling Using the Gibbs Sampler" at the 1993 joint American statistical meetings of IMS, ASA, ENAR, and WNAR held Aug. 8 to 12 in San Francisco.

Dr. Patricia Comeaux, Communication Studies, was selected to attend the 1993 National Leadership Symposium held at the University of Michigan July 28 to 31. The symposium's theme was "Leadership in Diverse Places."

Dr. Terry Theodore, professor of Theatre in the Fine Arts Department, has had his film review of Dragon: The Bruce

Lee Story accepted by Magill publications. It is now on line with PRODIGY and DIALOG databases. Lee, a famous martial arts actor, died mysteriously 20 years ago at the height of his career.

Dr. Kristin K. Howell, assistant professor of economics, was awarded a Fulbright Grant to participate in a German Studies Seminar on "German Society Today." The seminar was conducted entirely in German in Bonn, Rostock, and Berlin, Germany over a period of four weeks (June 18 to July 17).

Twenty-five instructors from colleges and universities across the United States participated, representing such specialties as foreign languages, history, political science, religion, law, and economics.

WELCOME

Stephanie Webster/Residence Life.

Employee Exchange

An employee exchange opportunity is available to any clerical employee who is a grade 57 or above. The employee exchange will assist David Miller, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs/enrollment manager.

Requirements:

- High School diploma
- Three years of related experience

Preferred Skills:

- Excellent customer relations
- Mac and WordPerfect experience
- Familiarity with UNCW campus

Applications will be reviewed by Human Resources based on skills and current position. Supervisory approval is required.

Human Resources will work with the "losing" department to meet temporary staffing needs. The exchange will last two months and will be a full-time position.

Call Kimberly Best-Tuten, Human Resources, at ext. 3712 for an employee exchange application.

VAX Account Use

Faculty and staff are reminded that their VAX computer account access is not to be shared with anyone for any reason. This is in violation of the university's Computer Resource Use Advisory.

Honors Projects

The Academic Standards Committee (ASC) reminds faculty that forms HP-1 and HP-2 initiating undergraduate honors projects are to be completed and returned to the Registrar's Office by the end of the registration period for the semester in which the project is to begin.

ASC hopes to revise and update the honors booklet during the fall semester. Faculty who do not have access to a copy of the current booklet and need one to supervise a student should contact Bob Brown in the Psychology Department for a copy.

Defensive Driving Course

All university employees (other than occasional drivers) operating a state vehicle are now required by the state's vehicle insurance carrier to be trained in all aspects of motor vehicle safety.

Sgt. Hunter Davis of the University Police has been certified to teach defensive driving. Davis will teach a defensive driving course from 8 a.m. to noon Aug. 24, Sept. 27, Nov. 2, and Dec. 8 in the Human Resources training room.

Call Barbara Harlow at ext. 3139 for more information or to sign up for the course. The course is free; a certificate will be issued on completion.

New Student Employee Policy

Under the new Student Employment policy (HR 1.60) now in effect, all documents (I-9, W-4, HR 1.60) and award letters (if applicable) should be forwarded to the Career Planning and Placement Center no later than the student's third working day.

All documents must be received at CPPC seven days prior to payroll's deadline date for time sheets. If documents are not received before time sheet processing, the time sheet will be held until the next mid-month payroll.

Please check the Communique each month for deadlines. August deadlines are:

- August 23 - Documents to CPPC
- August 31 - Time sheets to Payroll

Call Tina (payroll) at ext. 3752 or Frances (CPPC) at ext. 3174 if you have questions.

Human Resources Staff on Retreat Aug. 27

The staff of Human Resources will participate in an all-day retreat Friday, Aug. 27. The office's phones will be covered; faculty and staff are welcome to stop by for forms and applications. Call Barbara Harlow at ext. 3139 in case of emergency.

Post Office Update

The post office window opens at 8:30 a.m. and closes at 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Student post office box assignment will be completed Aug. 30. Departments may request listings of student box assignments by calling Betsy Stallard at ext. 3750. All mailings to student boxes must be in box number order.

Departments wishing to conduct student surveys should contact Postal Services for information about its student survey service. Surveys are distributed to student boxes and returned to a survey box in the post office lobby.

For information on the Postal Services paper shredding service, call Doris Moore at ext. 3734.

Community Items

Golf Tournament

World War II series premieres

As we approach the 50th anniversary of D-Day and other key World War II events, the UNCW Museum of World Cultures is sponsoring a WWII series of lectures. Premiering this series will be a lecture by UNCW Chancellor and military historian Dr. James R. Leutze at 8 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 2, in University Center Ballroom 5.

The lecture will provide a general introduction to World War II. It is free and the public is invited to attend.

Continuing the Museum of World Cultures WWII series will be a special lecture by a survivor of Auschwitz, Dr. Susan E. Cernyak-Spatz. Now a professor at UNC Charlotte in the Department of Foreign Languages, she will speak at 8 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 9, in the University Center Ballroom.

Born in Vienna, Austria, she also lived in Berlin from 1929-36, Vienna from '36-'38, and Prague from '38-'42. In May, 1942, she was deported from Prague to Theresienstadt; in January 1943, she was deported from Theresienstadt to Auschwitz-Birkenau; and in January 1945, she was deported from Auschwitz to Ravensbrueck.

Artist Harvey Littleton will be on hand in early October for the opening of the World War II Exhibit which will feature the Kristallnacht Print Series "Night of the Crystal Death" by Erwin Eisch, a series produced in Littleton's studio. This series commemorates the event that began the persecution of the Jews by Nazis. The exhibit will be on display through Oct. 29.

Children needed for Denver II test

UNCW student nurses need happy, healthy children to practice the Denver II, a developmental screening test. Learning how to perform this test, which was designed to assess developmental patterns in young children, requires youngsters for practice. If you have a child between the ages of three months and five years, you are invited to bring him or her to the Ogden McDonald's for testing. McDonald's and Sophia V. West Florist will have treats for moms and dads who bring children.

Practice tests will be done under the supervision of faculty members from the UNCW School of Nursing on the dates listed below.

Testing will be conducted from 9 to 11 a.m. Aug. 31, Sept. 1, 7, 14, 15, 21, 22, 28, 29, and Oct. 5, 6, 12, 13, 19, 20, and 26. Call ext. 3210 for an appointment.

GRE WORKSHOP

A one-session workshop, "Preparing to take the GRE," will be held from 4:30 to 5:45 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 7, and from 4 to 5:15 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 8, in SB room 104.

The workshop is designed for those planning to take the GRE in October or December, but those planning to take the test at a later date are invited to attend. The program will emphasize the GRE Aptitude Test, reviewing its content and scoring and giving some suggestions on preparing for and taking the test.

Faculty may wish to remind students that GRE test scores are required for application to a variety of graduate programs, including UNCW; that regular applications to take the GRE October 9 must be received by the Educational Testing Service by Sept. 3; and that GRE information/application booklets are available from the Student Development Center in Westside Hall.

Sponsored by the Department of Psychology and the Graduate School, the workshop will be presented by Bob Brown of psychology. Posters announcing the workshop have been sent to academic departments and relevant administrative offices.

CONVOCATION

UNCW will hold its annual fall convocation at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 8, in Trask Coliseum. The ceremony will include an address by Chancellor James R. Leutze and special recognition of excellent teachers.

A picnic in the pines with live music will follow convocation. The cost of the picnic is $3.65.

SEANC SESSION A SUCCESS

Gloria Sasser would like to thank everyone for their help and support during the year. The membership session held Aug. 13 was a great success; ten new members were added. If you want to sign up, please contact Gloria Sasser at ext. 3338 by today.

Loyalty Fund Annual Report

1992-93

First and foremost, THANK YOU for your generous support of our Loyalty Fund giving campaign for 1992-1993. We successfully reached our goal of $350,000 and your contributions enabled the university to provide for programs that cannot be funded in any other way. These programs benefited not only students but faculty and staff as well.

the

Your unrestricted gifts were used to provide student scholarships, general university programming such as bringing in guest speakers and providing for community relations programs among others. Many of you requested your gifts be directed to a departmental Trust Fund, the Staff Development Fund, or the Charles L. Cahill Faculty Research and Development Fund. We hope you are seeing the results of where your contributions went to work.

Your participation is so important and so appreciated that we wanted to show you how much support there was right here on campus. TOTAL DOLLARS RECEIVED FROM YOU LAST YEAR WAS $23,149.85. Of that total, $13,092.46 was given by faculty and $10,057.39 came from staff. However, keep in mind that the total campus participation rate was only 18 percent.

To those whose names are listed here, know that you are what is helping UNCW make its mark in education for the 90s.

You will soon be hearing more about this year's Loyalty Fund which began with the new fiscal year July 1, so be thinking now about how you can encourage those you work and teach with to participate this year. It is up to each of us to make a difference!

CHANGE

Again this year you may contribute by direct payment or payroll deduction. Information and forms will be coming to you soon. Should you have any questions, please contact Barbie Cowan, loyalty fund coordinator, at ext. 3004.

Campus Happenings

THE BARBADOS EXPERIENCE

The UNCW School of Nursing in cooperation with Coastal AHEC will present "The Barbados Experience: Clinical Practice in an International Setting" from 1 to 4 p.m., Friday, Sept. 10, in Cameron Auditorium. Dr. Marlene Rosenkoetter, Dr. Betty J. Reynolds, and Dr. Howard Cummings will present the program which offers .36 CEU credits and 3.6 ANA/NCNA contract hours.

The fee is $10, and you must register by Sept. 3. For more information, call 343-0161, ext. 270.

SEANC

SEANC Scholarship is still selling tickets for the Ford Ranger Truck and the trip. Tickets are $1, and the drawing will be held Sept. 11. Get tickets by calling Gloria Sasser at ext. 3338.

FREE AIR

Air pumps available for use by faculty, staff, and students are located at the motor pool and near the loading ramp behind the Burney Student Support Center.

FACULTY/STAFF DINING ROOM PLANNED

Campus Dining Services is pleased to announce the grand opening of a new faculty/staff dining room, located in Room U of the Hawk's Nest. It will be open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily beginning Sept. 8. A special buffet will be served each Wednesday.

CHICK-FIL-A COMING

A Chick-fil-A outlet will debut at the Hawk's Nest at 2:30 p.m. today. A free taste test will follow the ribbon cutting.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Ned H. Martin and Dr. Yousry Sayed, professors of chemistry, have just had their "Organic Chemistry Laboratory Manual with Waste Management and Molecular Modeling" published by Kendall/Hunt. This is the first organic chemistry lab manual to incorporate waste management procedures and computer molecular modeling exercises for students to perform.

Dr. William J. McCarthy, assistant professor of history, has had "Between Policy and Prerogative: Malfeasance in the Inspection of the Manila Galleons at Acapulco, 1637" published in the spring 1993 issue of the Colonial Latin American Historical Review. He also presented a paper titled "Death of the Paríán: the Massacre of the Philippine Chinese in 1639" at the World History Association's annual conference in Honolulu in June.

Dr. Terry Theodore, professor of theatre in the Fine Arts Department, has signed a contract with Salem Press to do a study on American writer and feminist Susan Glaspell. He will examine her large contribution of short stories, plays, and novels and do in-depth studies on representative works in each genre. The study will be published next year in Magill's Survey of American Literature.

A book by Dr. P.J. LaPaire, foreign languages and literatures, titled Montherlant et la parole: Etude d'un langage dramatique has been published by Summa Publications of Birmingham, Ala. The book is a stylistic study of the theatre of the French playwright Henry de Montherlant.

Dr. David Webster, biological sciences, and Kelly Cook, UNCW graduate student, appeared on public television's Search Tuesday night. The show looked at their efforts to save endangered sea turtles on Masonboro and Bald Head Islands.

Dr. Ann Lockledge, associate professor in the Department of Curricular Studies, attended the National Council for Geographic Education's annual meeting in Halifax, Nova Scotia, this August. She made a presentation with geographers from Pennsylvania and South Dakota called "GeoBuddies: Innovative Uses of a Nontraditional Teaching Resource."

A research article by Dr. Xin Lu and Dr. Wei Feng of mathematical sciences titled "Dynamics and Numerical Simulations of Food Chain Populations" has been accepted for publication in the journal Applied Mathematics and Computations. The paper gives theoretical discussions and numerical demonstrations of the long-term behavior in a differential equation system modeling the 3-species food chain interactions in ecology.

Dr. Robert W. Smith, School of Education, led a New Hanover County Public Schools staff development workshop for K-12 teachers on multicultural education Aug. 3.

Dr. Teresita J. Parra of Foreign Languages and Literatures presented a paper "Perspectiva femenina algunas esaritoras venezolanas contemporaneas" at the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese National Conference in Phoenix, Az., Aug. 9 to 13. Parra also chaired a session on Venezuelan literature titled "Literatura venezolana del siglo XX: la escritura de fin de siglo."

Dr. Lee Schweninger, English Department, has had an essay on Leslie Marmon Silko and Native Americans as nature writers published in summer 1993 issue of MELUS, the journal for multi-ethnic literatures of the United States.

WELCOME

Christie Harrison/Intramurals;
Sharon McCauley/Athletics.

Official Notices

New Student Employee Policy

Under the new Student Employment policy (HR 1.60) now in effect, all documents (I-9, W-4, HR 1.60) and award letters (if applicable) should be forwarded to the Career Planning and Placement Center no later than the student's third working day.

All documents must be received at CPPC seven days prior to payroll's deadline date for time sheets. If documents are not received before time sheet processing, the time sheet will be held until the next mid-month payroll.

Please check the Communique each month for deadlines. August deadlines are:

August 23 - Documents to CPPC (passed)

August 31 - Time sheets to Payroll

Call Tina (payroll) at ext. 3752 or Frances (CPPC) at ext. 3174 if you have questions.

Human Resources Staff on Retreat Tomorrow

The staff of Human Resources will participate in an all-day retreat tomorrow, Friday, Aug. 27. The office's phones will be covered; faculty and staff are welcome to stop by for forms and applications. Call Barbara Harlow at ext. 3139 in case of emergency.

Training Schedule

The Staff Training and Development Fall 1993 schedules are now available. If you need additional copies of the schedules (calendars), call the Human Resources Department or stop by.

The workshop descriptions and procedures for registering for courses are available in your department for review.

You may contact the Academic Computing Services (ACS) to register for computer workshops or Joan Greene for Safety workshops.

If you have questions, please call Kimberly Best-Tuten in Human Resources at ext. 3712.

Student Time Sheets

To ensure that students' time sheets are processed timely and accurately, please verify the following prior to submitting time sheets to Payroll:

1. The work study or work assist box has been checked.
2. The 10-digit account number is noted.
3. The pay rate for both work assist or work study is noted.
4. The time sheet has been signed by both the student and the supervisor.

Incomplete time sheets will be returned, which could result in delaying the students' payment. Call Tina Wilson at ext. 3752 with questions.

ADS System

The ADS (Alumni Development System) in place in the University Advancement Division was installed last year to accurately track all gift records. Per administrative procedures, it is imperative that all gifts to UNCW be processed through University Advancement.

Any department on campus that receives a donation, cash or check, from a donor must deliver the deposit, with any attached information, to the Advancement division for proper handling. This will insure that donors are properly receipted and gift records are accurate. Once the deposit has been processed, a copy of the deposit will be returned to your department. A receipt is mailed to all donors, as well as other personal acknowledgments. It will be at the discretion of each department to send additional correspondence, if desired.

All honor or memorial gifts should include the name and address of the appropriate contact for notification of the gift. For all non-cash gifts, you must furnish a value, together with donor's name, address, and description of the gift. If you have any questions, please call Vicki Dull at ext. 3937.

Send Campus Communique items to BUSSEC on VAX or to Carolyn Busse, c/o University Relations

UNCW announces $185,000 gift from BB&T

UNCW announced Monday a major gift of $185,000 from Branch Banking & Trust to be used primarily to support excellence in leadership.

The bulk of the gift is a $150,000 fund to be designated the Branch Banking & Trust Leadership Challenge. In addition, BB&T has committed $10,000 to be title sponsor of the BB&T/Landfall Legends of Tennis tournament to fund scholarships for UNCW student athletes. The bank will also make an annual corporate gift of $5,000 for the next five years toward the Chancellor's Club.

The gift was announced this morning at UNCW's Challenge Course by BB&T Senior Vice President and City Executive John R. Lancaster and UNCW Chancellor James R. Leutze. During the announcement, Lancaster climbed approximately 35 feet up the course's rock board, attached the check, and challenged Leutze to retrieve the check. The check was successfully retrieved, and both exited using the course's Zip Line, gliding through the trees back to earth.

Income from BB&T's $150,000 endowment will go toward leadership research, learning, and program initiatives to provide for the development of better student leaders. Programs likely to be supported under the initiative include an interdisciplinary minor in leadership studies, leadership scholarships to help attract high school leaders, and support for the service-learning program for UNCW's student volunteers. Another possibility would be support for a UNCW program aimed at area corporate and business leaders titled "Creating Excellent Organizations."

In making the announcement, Leutze praised the Leadership Development Center, established in 1988 under the direction of Catherine Birmingham. The only one of its kind at a North Carolina university, the center is a pioneer in leadership development for students of all majors.

Since it was established, more than 45 students have participated in the two-semester Emerge Leadership Program. It has also placed more than 600 students as tutors in some 70 agencies around New Hanover County, including Crossroads, Domestic Violence Shelter, Rankin Terrace, and Jervay Place.

"To succeed in today's marketplace, undergraduate students need to learn the skills to become leaders," Leutze said. "In addition to being essential to career success, leadership skills apply in all walks of life. The student leaders we inspire at UNCW are the key to helping our communities grow and prosper and to assure that quality of life is kept at a high level.

"This significant gift from BB&T will allow us to build and strengthen an already exciting and effective program," he said.

Commenting on BB&T's history of strong support for education in Eastern North Carolina, Lancaster stated that this contribution to UNCW "meets our organization's corporate mission and fulfills a gap in today's educational needs. We believe the Leadership Center is a fundamental part of teaching leadership techniques to young adults."

He also noted that his involvement with the ropes course on Monday was not the first time BB&T employees have taken on the challenge. "The majority of our employees have participated in this ropes challenge course," Lancaster said. "The results have been overwhelming in helping to build teamwork throughout our organization."

BB&T Senior Vice President John R. Lancaster and Chancellor James R. Leutze prepare to tackle the UNCW Challenge Course Monday.

LOYALTY REPORT CORRECTIONS

Barbara Harlow, staff member in the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Business Affairs, was mistakenly left off last week's Loyalty Fund Annual Report.

Vivian Bowden, Internal Audit, was not listed as a UNCW alumna, which she is. University Advancement apologizes for these oversights.

Be sure to read the back page section
Official Announcements for information that could affect your job

CPS REVIEW CLASS

A review class for the Certified Professional Secretary (CPS) Business Law Exam will be held from 6 to 9 p.m., Wednesdays, from Sept. 15 to Oct. 20 in the Human Resources training room. The fee for the class is $35, and the book costs $28 plus tax. To register or for more information, call Mary Browning, CPS, at ext. 3188.

SEXUAL ASSAULT PROGRAMMING

Campus sexual assault educational programming is again being coordinated by Diane Edwards, coordinator of ALTERNATIVES! New this year is the program's name, REACH OUT!, which includes all sexual assault education services, programs, volunteers, and Peer Educators. REACH OUT! is housed in University Union room 104 with ALTERNATIVES! If you have questions or would like to schedule a presentation related to issues surrounding sexual assault, call Edwards at ext. 3577.

CONVOCATION

UNCW will hold its annual fall convocation at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 8, in Trask Coliseum. The ceremony will include an address by Chancellor James R. Leutze and special recognition of excellent teachers.

A picnic in the pines with live music will follow. The cost of the picnic is $3.65.

VAXcluster Account Cleanup

All accounts on the VAXcluster (VXA, VXB, or VXC) that have not been accessed since January 1 of this year will be deleted Sept. 15.

Please notify Bobby Miller at ext. 3529 if you know of any colleagues on leave from the university or who have other extenuating circumstances that have prevented them from accessing their accounts this year.

Faculty and Staff

The fifth edition of Laboratory Exercises in Earth History (William C. Brown Publishers) has just been released. The historical geology laboratory manual was authored by Dr. James Brice (USGS), Dr. Harold L. Levin (Washington University, St. Louis), and Dr. Michael S. Smith, Department of Earth Sciences, UNCW.

Dr. William Overman, professor of psychology, had a research article published in the September issue of Developmental Psychobiology. The article is co-authored by two UNCW psychology majors, Frank Sewell and Jana Drew, and by Dr. Jocelyne Bachevalier of the University of Texas Medical School at Houston. The paper is titled "A Comparison of Children's Performance on Two Recognition Memory Tasks: Delayed Nonmatch-to-Sample Versus Visual-Paired Comparison."

Catherine M. Tait of the Student Development Center attended the Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) Professional Qualifying Program. The five and one-half day program was sponsored by Type Resource, Inc. and was held in Silver Spring, Md., June 14 to 20. The training qualified her to administer and interpret the Myers Briggs Type Indicator.

Dr. Moorad Alexanian, professor of physics, spent two months this summer at the Centro de Investigacion y de Estudios Avanzados (Cinvestav) in Merida, Mexico. Cinvestav is a graduate school in applied physics and marine biology. Alexanian gave lectures on classical and quantum mechanics and started some work in high temperature superconductivity. He also visited the Centro de Investigacion Cientifica de Yucatan (CICY), and the University of Yucatan. CICY is a research institute specializing in biochemistry, molecular biology, polymers, etc. While in Merida, he met several Cuban scientists who were part of the many exchange programs with Cinvestav. Faculty members interested in the work being done in Mexico should contact Alexanian.

Dr. T. David Evans, sociology and anthropology, has had "Public Perceptions of Corporate Crime" published in Understanding Corporate Criminality, edited by Michael B. Blankenship and published in New York by Garland Publishing. The article examines changing public perceptions of seriousness and punishment attitudes toward white-collar crime within a social context of changing tolerance of risk, trust in institutions, and demands for "total justice" and equal treatment in the criminal justice system.

Dr. Paul Shotsberger and Dr. Karan Smith, Department of Mathematical Sciences, conducted a workshop titled "The Mathematics Classroom of Today" for secondary teachers from New Hanover and Pender counties Aug. 20. Major topics included use of technology, cooperative learning, effective classroom discourse, assessment, and changes in content and emphases. There were 40 attendees.

Dr. Konstantine Burdin and Dr. Marina Efimova left Aug. 30 to return to Russia. They would like to extend their thanks to the entire faculty and staff of the university for a warm and hospitable stay during their eight months at UNCW.

An open letter to the university community

Dear Colleagues and Students:

I was dismayed, as I know you were, that the Ku Klux Klan targeted Wilmington for a march and rally recently. As the university and its employees seek to play a responsible role within the community, we must recognize the importance of promoting racial understanding and valuing diversity.

While we respect the right to peaceful assembly, we must not lose sight of our need to coexist peacefully, productively, and collaboratively with those of other races or from other cultures.

I strongly believe that we here at UNC Wilmington must seek a common ground and realize that the fulfillment of our individual interests can only be found when the interests of all are addressed. This requires conscious thought and effort by each of us — as illustrated by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., when he wrote:

Like life, racial understanding is not something that we find but something that we must create. And so the ability of Negroes and whites to work together, to understand each other, will not be found ready made; it must be created by the fact of contact. . .

Somewhere along the way the two must join together; black and white together, we shall overcome, and I still believe it.

We must remain vigilant to guard against the resurgence of hatred, division, distrust, and racism — and show, by our own words and actions, our personal commitment to promoting racial understanding and valuing diversity at UNC Wilmington and throughout our community.

With all best wishes,

James P. Kuefe

Employee Benefits Survey Results

Remember the employee benefits survey you completed in late April? Results have been tabulated, and Human Resources is planning several ways to communicate them to you as well as the department's recommendations for changes.

The Sept. 16 issue of the Campus Communique will include an insert showing overall results and recommendations. Copies of complete survey results are available for you to review in the Human Resources Department, the Chancellor's Office, and at the reserve desk in the Randall Library. General presentations of the survey results are scheduled as follows:

Monday, September 27, 10 to 11 a.m., UU room 100; Tuesday, September 28, 9:30 to 10:30 p.m., UU room 100; and Wednesday, September 29, 9 to 10 a.m., UU Room 100.

Please note that the Sept. 28 meeting is in the evening for the convenience of employees who are working the evening shift. Some divisions are planning separate presentations. Check with your supervisor so you can plan which session to attend.

Business Cards

A reminder that white business cards with black raised printing are available through Printing Services. The cost of the cards is $26.35 for 500 and $29.32 for 1000. Gray business cards with gray flat print remain available at $45.65 for 500 and $59.30 for 1000.

Shared Leave

Catherine Hall, Cameron School of Business, needs 69 hours of shared leave due to her recent hospitalization and recovery. Please be generous and help her avoid leave without pay.

Helen Washington, Bookstore, needs our help again with 80 hours due to another illness and hospitalization. If you have questions or would like to make a donation, call Dale at ext. 3161.

Supplemental Retirement Reps to be on Campus

One of things employees noted in the benefits survey is that they do not understand the supplemental retirement plans very well. The State Retirement Plan is structured to provide slightly more than 50 percent of your average final salary (average of your highest four years pay) in monthly retirement benefits for those who have participated in the system for thirty years (Other periods of participation will yield different percentages).

To allow employees to supplement their State Retirement Income, Congress has enacted tax laws that favor supplemental retirement investing. As an employee of UNCW, you have several options, all of which offer excellent investment opportunities.

You may be able to invest up to 20 percent of your income (or as little as $25 a month) in a supplemental retirement plan through payroll deduction. You do not pay taxes on the investment or the gains from the investment until you begin to receive the income. Call Marsha at ext. 3006 to make an appointment with one of the following reps:

VALIC - John Pezzoni - Sept. 14 and 15; Lincoln National - Beverly Warren - Sept. 17; TIAA/CREF - Fran Strayhorn - Sept. 28 and 29; and Deferred Comp - Frank Smith - Sept. 30.

Computer Operations New Hours

Beginning Sept. 7, Computer Operations in Hoggard Hall room 206 will close at 5:30 p.m. Phone and e-mail assistance will be available for faculty and staff from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

ADS, FRS, HRS and SIS will shut down for batch processing at normal times except on Fridays, when ADS, FRS, HRS, and SIS will shut down at 6 p.m.

Call Ray Humphries at ext. 3799 regarding exceptions required to this schedule.

Employee Exchange

An employee exchange opportunity is available to any clerical employee who is a grade 54 or above. The employee exchange will assist Dr. Stephen McNamee, department chair of sociology and anthropology. Requirements:

- High school diploma
- Preferred Skills:
 - WordPerfect experience
 - Excellent interpersonal skills
 - Able to type at least 40 words per minute
 - Ability to answer phones, run errands, assist students, and collate materials for faculty members for the following departments: sociology, criminal justice, anthropology, and social work.

The exchange will last for two and a half months and three hours per day. The tentative start date is Sept. 13. The deadline to apply is Wednesday, Sept. 8.

Call Kimberly Best-Tuten, Human Resources, at ext. 3712 if you have questions or would like an employee exchange application.

Attention: Electronic Requisitioners

The following items were not covered in training: all manually prepared and emergency requisitions that are for computer hardware, software, etc. (would be coded "CR" if created electronically) should be approved by George Quinn before being processed by Purchasing. Please have requisitions signed by Quinn before taking them to Purchasing.

With the implementation of electronic travel encumbering, departments can enter the account number on the line item of the requisition. Please use this capability for travel and only when there is a need to charge a specific account number or object code to a specific line. Note: there will be a separate transaction on the departmental report for each line item created with the account number entered on the line item. Please contact Diana Bellamy at ext. 3153 if you have questions.

Convocation begins new academic year

A formal academic convocation was held at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 8, in Trask Coliseum to start the 1993-94 academic year at UNCW. Chancellor James R. Leutze awarded three faculty with distinguished teaching professorships which are designed to foster UNCW's commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. Recognized were Dr. John Garris, associate professor of production and decision sciences in the Cameron School of Business Administration; Dr. Diane Levy, professor of sociology; and Dr. William Overman, professor of psychology. Also, Dr. Robert Toplin, professor of history, received the UNCW Faculty Award for Scholarship.

Dr. John Garris, three-time nominee for the Trustees Teaching Excellence Award and recipient of the Cameron School of Business Administration Teaching Excellence Award, the MBA Teaching Award, and the Chancellor's Award for Teaching Excellence in 1991, received high praise from his peers and students.

A member of the UNCW faculty since 1984, Garris has combined his expertise in production and operations management with computer applications by developing a faculty data-base for assistance in research activities and co-authoring a users manual. He developed three new upper-division courses for a new major in business systems while also being active in the community as a speaker to local professional engineering and management groups, and as a consultant to firms such as DuPont, Federal Paperboard, and SAS Corp.

Dr. Diane Levy's effectiveness and popularity as a teacher is made evident by her consistently high evaluation ratings by students and her commitment to continuing adult education, community involvement, and international education.

As a field instructor, Dr. Levy integrates classroom instruction with direct observation of other cultures to give students an unforgettable learning experience. She has organized and taught three summer study abroad programs in Barbados, including interdisciplinary participation with faculty in anthropology and English. And through a European Extension Program with the University of Maryland, Levy taught sociology to U.S. service personnel and dependents in West Germany, Belgium, and the Netherlands.

Combining her specialization in family organization, gender roles, and the workplace, Levy contributes regularly as an editor on women's issues for WAAV Radio, is a member of the UNCW's Speaker's Bureau, and serves on various campus committees. In addition, Levy has served on the board of directors for both the Domestic Violence Shelter and Services and the YWCA.

Globe Watch visits southeast Asia

Southeast Asia's explosive economic growth has helped fuel predictions that the 21st century could be dominated by the nations of the Pacific Rim. In the ninth season of Globe Watch, airing Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. beginning Sept. 16 on University of North Carolina Television (Wilmington's WUNJ on channel 39 or channel 13 on Vision Cable), host James R. Leutze visits the Region on the Rise: Southeast Asia. He will explore the impact of this dramatic economic upswing on the ancient and complex cultures of Malaysia, Singapore, and Indonesia.

Today, these nations face distinctively modern problems: over-population, deforestation, an exodus of workers from the country to urban areas, and an ever-widening gap between traditional ways of the past and westernization.

Now, at the dawn of what many prophesy will be the Pacific Century,

Leutze visits the Far East to explore the dramatic changes in this increasingly influential region. Analyzing the economic boom underway in Southeast Asia, Leutze journeys to Malaysia, Indonesia, and Singapore, where new ideas are being implemented to overcome racial strife, make the transition from authoritarian to more democratic governments, and create economic prosperity.

SASASAAS MEETING

UNCW will host the annual business meeting of the Southern Atlantic States Association for Asian and African Studies (SASASAAS), a consortium of which we are a member, Sept. 17 and 18. SASASAAS funds activities dealing with Asian and African studies on member campuses, provides audiovisual resources, and directs a study abroad program in China.

UNCW faculty are invited to a reception from 5 to 6 p.m., Friday, Sept. 17, in the International Programs Office, University Union room 103. Faculty planning to attend should R.S.V.P. to International Programs (ext. 3685). Interested faculty are invited to a film, The Japanese Version and a discussion (with slides) of ways to incorporate visual images of Asia in teaching. The film and discussion begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Cameron Auditorium.

SASASAAS has an extensive film and video library housed at Appalachian State University which is available to UNCW faculty and students via interlibrary borrowing. It also provides minigrants to help sponsor campus events, exhibits, or projects that incorporate Asian or African materials. For more information, contact Joe Wilson of the Department of Philosophy and Religion at ext. 3410 or VAX WILSONJ, or Paula Kamenish of the Department of English at ext. 3617.

BRAGGS TO READ WORKS

Earl S. Braggs, a UNCW alumnus, will be on campus Thursday, September 9, to read from his award-winning poetry. Mr. Braggs will join Ms. Kathleen Halme's class in Morton Hall Room 102 from 5 to 6 p.m. Visitors are welcome.

At 6:30 p.m., Braggs will hold a reading of his works in Randall Library Auditorium. Everyone is invited.

Braggs is an assistant professor of English at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. His collection, Hat Dancer Blue, won the 1992 Anhinga Prize for Poetry. He also won second place in the Gloucester County Poetry Contest for a single poem.

Hats, his chapbook, was published in 1989. Also in 1989, he was selected as one of the winners in the North Carolina Writer's Network-sponsored Black Writer's Competition.

Poet Marvin Bell, final judge for the 1992 Anhinga Prize, said of Mr. Braggs' work: "Here's a strong, young, black voice that applies imagination to social detail and can speak for and through others. These poems blossom out of content. Strong stuff that matters. Not the usual thing."

Braggs' work has also been published in Southern Images, Colorado Review, and a special issue of Ploughshares edited by Rita Dove.

FACULTY/STAFF DINING ROOM

The grand opening of the Faculty/Staff Dining Room in the Hawk's Nest will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. today. A $3.99 deli buffet with assorted deli meats from Healthy Choice, cheeses and rolls, potato salad, cole slaw, fresh fruit salad, assorted desserts, iced tea, coffee, and water will be available.

The dining room will be open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday to Friday with a special buffet lunch each Thursday. Watch future issues of the Communique for the featured menu of the week.

LEARNING CONFERENCE

The MBA Chapter of the UNCW Alumni Association will hold a lifelong learning conference Sept. 18 and 19. Session will include "UNCW Today and Tomorrow" with William G. Anlyan, Jr., Dr. Denis C. Carter, and Marvin Robison; "Investing in the 1990s" with Dr. Ronald E. Copley, Eric Brandt, and Joel Cain; and "Augmenting Your International Business Acumen" with Dr. William M. Wadman and Dr. Sheila A. Adams. For more information, call 350-8175 and leave your name, phone number, and message.

CHANCELLOR'S HOURS

Students can meet with Chancellor Leutze in his office during the following hours:

8:30 to 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 19
3:30 to 5 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 4
8:30 to 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, Nov. 17

8:30 to 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, Dec. 8
3:30 to 5 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 14

UNCW DISCOVERY

All full-time faculty members are invited to submit one-paragraph abstracts describing their research that has appeared recently, or is in press, in peer-reviewed professional media appropriate to their disciplines, including works in the fine arts. The UNCW Discovery editorial board will select four or five for expansion into 1000- to 1300-word articles for the fall issue of Discovery. Submit 10 copies of each abstract to the Graduate School by Oct. 25 on one-page forms available from department chairs or the Graduate School. Consult recent issues of UNCW Discovery for guidance concerning the character of the publication.

FACULTY SENATE MEETINGS

The Faculty Senate will meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 14, Oct. 12, and Nov. 9, and at 9 a.m., Monday, Dec. 19, in DeLoach Hall room 114.

Faculty and Staff

Barbara Jackson has joined the Student Development Center as a counselor. She comes to the university from Northeast Louisiana University in Monroe, La., where she was an instructor of psychology. She also provided counseling services to children at Psychological Associates. Jackson can be reached by calling ext. 3746.

Dr. Terry Theodore, professor of theatre in the Fine Arts Department, has a lengthy film review of American Me in the just-published Magill's Cinema Annual: 1993. Theodore's study was selected from thousands of admissions and this is the second time he has been honored.

The encyclopedic work carries reviews of major pictures and other pertinent information.

Dr. Joe Kishton of the Psychology Department has been awarded a $172,000 grant from the National Science Foundation. The NSF grant will support the operation of the Cape Fear Summer Science Camp. The goal of the camp is to increase minority awareness and interest in careers in science, engineering, and mathematics. Two four-week sessions will be conducted for middle school-age minority students over the next three summers, and the program will also include academic year follow-up activities.

Dr. Carol Pilgrim, associate professor of psychology, has received a $17,493 grant from the National Science Foundation for the project "RPG: Disruption of Equivalence Classes."

Welcome — Cathy Olson/Career Planning and Placement

1978, Levy's current research explores the impact of tourism on Caribbean women and family systems, and the relationship among gender roles, the workplace, and family organization—especially relating to the military.

As a UNCW faculty member since 1978, Dr. William Overman has already received numerous teaching awards: the Teaching Excellence Award from the UNCW College of Arts and Sciences in 1992, the UNCW Outstanding Teacher Award voted by the student body in 1991, and the Phi Eta Sigma Outstanding Teacher Award voted by the UNCW Student Honor Society in 1980.

Further, as an instructor for very large classes, Overman takes time to meet individually with students who score poorly on first tests to determine difficulties and persistently follows through by referring any students with special problems to appropriate help on campus.

Overman has won numerous grants, the most recent being a $191,000 award in 1993 from the National Institutes of Mental Health to study gender differences in cognitive behavior.

Each distinguished teaching professor recipient receives a $5,000 per year stipend for three years.

On the faculty since 1978, Dr. Robert Toplin has provided UNCW students, his professional colleagues, and our community with diligent teaching and research. Through his numerous articles, books, and presentations Toplin has earned, as one colleague wrote, "...a national reputation as an especially perceptive and lucid historian."

An accomplished scholar in American and Latin American history with an emphasis and interest in slavery, violence, and race relations, Toplin has also become a leading scholar in the field exploring history and the cinema. He has served as project director for numerous television productions for PBS, served on various university committees, and been elected to local public school PTA's and the New Hanover Board of Education.

Toplin received $1,500 for the faculty scholarship award.

Official Notices

Shared Leave

Catherine Hall, Cameron School of Business, needs 69 hours of shared leave due to her recent hospitalization and recovery. Please be generous to help her avoid leave without pay.

Also, Helen Washington, Bookstore, needs our help again with 80 hours due to another illness and hospitalization. George Syles, Central Stores, needs 160 hours and Troy Kelly, Physical Plant, Grounds, will need about 200 hours, both for hospitalizations.

If you have questions or would like to make a donation, call Dale at ext. 3161 in Human Resources.

VAXcluster Account Cleanup

All accounts on the VAXcluster (VXA, VXB, or VXC) that have not been accessed since January 1 of this year will be deleted Sept. 15. Please notify Bobby Miller at ext. 3529 if you know of any colleagues on leave from the university or who have other extenuating circumstances that have prevented them from accessing their accounts this year.

The deadline to submit Communique items is noon on Tuesdays

Defensive Driving Course

All university employees (other than occasional drivers) operating a state vehicle are now required by the state's vehicle insurance carrier to be trained in all aspects of motor vehicle safety. Sgt. Hunter Davis of the University Police has been certified to teach defensive driving. Davis will teach a defensive driving course from 8 a.m. to noon Sept. 27, Nov. 2, and Dec. 8, in the Human Resources training room. Call Barbara Harlow at ext. 3139 for more information or to sign up for the course. The course is free; a certificate will be issued on completion.

Parking Decals

Parking decals for 1993-94 are now on sale in the Parking Office. Faculty and staff members who chose to purchase their decals by payroll deduction may pick up their parking stickers now. New decals must be displayed by Oct. 1. Call Towana Moore, ext. 3051, if you have questions.

VALIC

VALIC representative John Pezzoni will be on campus Sept. 14 and 15. Call Marsha at ext. 3006 for an appointment.

Dinosaur hunter to appear at UNCW

Dr. Robert T. Bakker, one of the best known and most controversial paleontologists in North America, will speak at 7:30 tomorrow night at Kenan Auditorium. His visit is co-sponsored by UNCW and the Cape Fear Museum.

Bakker's major research interests include the "Hot-bloodedness" of dinosaurs, dinosaurian running speed and ecology, and mass extinctions. Many of his ideas about dinosaurs were incorporated into the movie Jurassic Park, and he has been featured in numerous dinosaur documentaries including A&E's Dinosaurs I with Walter Cronkite, "T. Rex Exposed" on Nova, and The Dinosaurs! on PBS.

Bakker is a vertebrate paleontologist and adjunct curator of paleontology at the University Museum, University of Colorado, Boulder, and is the author of the book The Dinosaur Heresies.

He is a consultant for Dinamation International Corp. and is a board member of the Dinamation International Society, a non-profit organization committed to preservation, education, and research in dinosaur paleontology. Bakker appears in conjunction with Dinamation's "Dinosaurs in Motion" exhibit at Cape Fear Museum.

Bakker will present "Hot and Cold Running Dinosaurs" tomorrow night. The lecture is free, but reserved seating is required. Tickets can be picked up at the Kenan Auditorium box office or at the Cape Fear Museum.

Rosenkoetter announces resignation

Dr. Marlene M. Rosenkoetter, dean of the School of Nursing, has announced her resignation as dean effective July 1, 1994.

Rosenkoetter came to UNC Wilmington in 1981 as chair of the then Department of Nursing. Her mission was to plan and implement a baccalaureate degree program in nursing at UNCW, phasing out the existing associate degree program. The UNCW School of Nursing opened in 1984, accepted its first students as juniors in 1985, and graduated the first class in 1987.

Accomplishments during her tenure include gaining all the approvals necessary to establish and accredit the program. These included approval from the UNC Board of Governors to establish the program, approval from the North Carolina Board of Nursing, and accreditation by the National League for Nursing which was obtained in 1987.

Graduates of the program reflect its quality. Their nurse licensing exam scores are the highest of any bachelor of science nursing program in North Carolina, with an average pass rate of approximately 99 percent.

UNCW Provost Marvin K. Moss commented that Rosenkoetter's leadership has brought the School of Nursing to a level that is "recognized throughout the state and the Southeast as a program of excellence. She is to be commended for her work in taking a two-year program to the baccalaureate level, achieving high passing rates, and bringing UNCW distinction."

Leutze outlines future plans

Chancellor James R. Leutze outlined some important action items for the next three years during his address at last week's convocation ceremony. His goals include:

- Initiate an honors program
- Enhance recruitment of minority students
- Make all campus programs more student-centered and user friendly
- Increase the role and function of the enrollment management office
- Raise SAT score 50 points in the next three years
- Improve student retention by five percent within three years
- Improve four-year graduation rate
- Successfully complete the university's first capital campaign
- Hire and promote more minorities and women
- Pursue actively our goal of building North Carolina into one of the leading marine science research centers in the world
- Seek more funded research grants
- Maintain the university's commitment to undergraduate teaching
- Improve efficiency and moral
- Fund and hire three new chaired professors
- Build men's and women's athletic programs
- Expand international program offerings
- Increase revenue by increasing summer school and evening offerings
- Expand community and regional outreach

NAMES QUILT

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt will be on display Oct. 21 to 24 in Trask Coliseum. The quilt is an international effort to promote awareness of and education about HIV/AIDS and its human impact. Our display will feature 750 3'x6' panels, each remembering the life of someone who has died of AIDS, including adults and children from North Carolina.

Volunteers are needed to help with set up and break down, sales and information, media and volunteer support, and quilt monitoring. Faculty and staff who would like to volunteer to work a three-hour shift during the display must attend one of the following information sessions:

Today - noon to 1 p.m., University Center room 104; Sept. 20, 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., University Center room 104; Oct. 3, 1 to 2 p.m., University Center Ballroom 2; and Oct. 12, 9 to 10 a.m., University Center room 104.

Call ext. 4137 for more information.

FIX-UP DAY SATURDAY

Faculty, staff, and their families are invited to be a part of UNCW's "Fix-Up Team," to participate in the United Way's first "Fix-Up Day" on Saturday morning, Sept. 18. Teams are being organized to provide area social service agencies with hands-on help with projects. UNCW has been paired with the United Way's administrative headquarters. The project is to assist with equipment and supply inventory and to help with a mailing. Volunteers will receive a free T-shirt and lunch at the Volunteer Recognition and Campaign '93 Kick-Off. Contact Linda Moore or Peggy Roggenstein at ext. 3283 for more details.

MOVIE TICKETS

Movie tickets are on sale in the University Union Information Center for $3 and are good at all area Carmike theaters (except College Road Cinemas) Sunday through Thursday.

SCHWEITZER LECTURE

Oscar Arias, Nobel Prize winner and former president of Costa Rica will speak at UNCW's first Schweitzer Lecture in the Humanities at 4 p.m., Monday, Oct. 4, in Kenan Auditorium.

Arias is acclaimed as a leader of "extraordinary vision" and for his dedication to furthering democratic ideals and world peace. Also recipient of the Philadelphia Liberty Medal, he presently heads the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

FEMINIST COLLOQUIUM

All interested faculty, staff, and students are invited to this year's first meeting of the Feminist Colloquium, 3 to 4 p.m., Friday, Oct. 1, in Morton Hall's faculty common. Bring suggestions for readings for this year. Refreshments will be provided.

WELCOME RECEPTION

The Office of International Programs invites the university community to a Welcome Reception for UNCW's international students at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 29, in the University Center ballroom. Please plan to join us.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES UPDATES

The following updates to the Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual are now available on the VAX:

HR 3.30 - Establishment and Classification of Positions. All department heads or directors wishing to establish a new EPA or SPA position or to request the reclassification review of an existing SPA position must consult with Human Resources and must submit a HR 3.30 form (Request for EPA/SPA Position Action) for appropriate approvals. Newly established positions may not be advertised without the proper approvals.

INF 1.10 - Computer Application Systems Development. This procedure establishes policies and procedures whereby a university department may request computing application programming through Administrative Computing Services.

INF 3.30 - Academic Software Support. This is a new procedure explaining software support services provided by Academic Computing Services.

INF 4.10 - Financial Records System Access. This procedure has been revised to include new requisitioning screens and to explain the four screen packages available to access the Financial Records System.

The Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual can be accessed through either VXA, VXB, or VXC on the VAX by typing INFO at the username prompt. Administrative Procedures can also be accessed through SNBALLEXP and through FRS and SIS menus.

SEANC

SEANC recently passed several issues of interest to all state employees:

1) Dues will go from $30 a year to $36. This means an increase of $.50 a month. retirees dues will be $21. The action was overdue, since the association has been low on funds for several years.

2) SEANC will be endorsing political candidates. This will give the association the tool it needs to achieve its goals. EMPAC was established 10 years ago for this purpose.

3) The delegate ratio has been changed from one delegate per 50 members to one delegate per 50 for the first 350 members and then one delegate per 75 members. For district 62, this means in 1995 we will take 18 delegates to the convention instead of 24. The change was made to lower the size of the convention.

SEANC is hard at work working for you and your best interest.

Also: the 1993 Fort Ranger truck was won by a retiree from Roxboro who has bought 100 tickets every year. Over $30,200 was raised with donations still coming in. Be on the watch for your Reporter to get all the coverage of the state.

The Survey Says....

Human Resources Employee Survey Results

Back in April you were asked to complete an Employee Benefits Survey conducted by the Human Resource Department. Forty-one percent of you believed we would not respond to the results or look at possible changes that you suggested. Well, we are responding!

The results are outlined below along with recommendations and action plans for changes. A presentation of the results was made to the Administrative Cabinet Aug. 26 and the Faculty Senate Sept. 14 to get members' support in making some of the changes you asked for. "I've read the results of the survey," said Chancellor Leutze. "The good news is that over 45 percent of you took the time to respond. The not-so-good news is that we have many areas where we can do better. Under the leadership of Human Resources and with my support and the support of all the vice chancellors and deans, the needed changes will help us to be a more employee-focused campus."

Medical Insurance (Health, Dental & AFLAC)

Primary dissatisfaction is with costs.

Recommendations for changes:

- Encourage State Medical Benefits Office to continue developing cost-cutting strategies.
- Encourage authorization of Section 125 Plan for pre-tax dental insurance premiums.
- Encourage state-wide bidding of dental plan.
- Encourage adding a dental plan to the State Health Plan.
- Encourage review of AFLAC plan to determine if it should be enhanced, maintained, eliminated, or re-bid.

Disability Insurance

54 percent are interested in a supplemental plan.

Death Benefits

Most employees want life insurance that is portable. We will be working with the Benefits Committee on this issue.

Retirement Benefits

We will be looking at additional information sessions for employees including information about supplemental plans.

Paid Time Off

64 percent are satisfied with leave programs.

Job Satisfaction

	Yes	No
Satisfied With Job:	70%	18%
Satisfied With Coworkers:	78%	10%

	Yes	No
Satisfied With Pay:	16%	68%
Satisfied With Supervisor	66%	19%
Satisfied With Promotional Opportunities	14%	65%

Recommended changes include:

- Enhancements to transfer and promotion policy and program.
- Development of career planning program for staff.
- Enhancements (including training for supervisors) in Performance Management Program.
- Development of user-friendly policies for supervisors.
- Work with state personnel on new pay plan.

Staff Programs

Staff attend the awards program and enjoy the summer work schedule and relaxed dress code. Comments included the request to be given time to attend appreciation programs.

Areas where we can do better:

- Performance evaluation program.
- Training and professional development opportunities.

Recommended action items include:

- Targeted training for all employees including a log of what training has been received.
- Enhancement of employee exchange program as training tool.
- Enhancement of employee orientation program (in Human Resources and in department).
- Development of employee focus groups to help communication exchange.
- Re-instatement of Employee Assistance Program (2 scheduled days per week on campus).
- Development of employee handbook.

Survey Results Presentations

General presentations for employees are scheduled on the days and time listed below:

- Monday, September 27, 10 to 11 a.m., UU, Room 100
- Tuesday, September 28, 9:30 to 10:30 p.m., UU, Room 100
- Wednesday, September 29, 9 to 10 a.m., UU, Room 100

Copies of the surveys are in Human Resources, the Chancellor's Office, and at the reference desk in the library.

If you have questions, plan to attend one of the presentations and sign up for one of the employee focus groups.

GAME ROOM TOURNAMENTS

The University Center Game Room will sponsor several tournaments this fall. Oct. 1 will be the spades tournament, from 6 p.m. until, Oct. 2 is pool night from 2 p.m. until, and Oct. 3 will be the Center's table tennis extravaganza beginning at 2 p.m. Tournament action will heat up again in November, with spades competition at 6 p.m. on the 12th, billiards play on the 13th at 2 p.m., and more table tennis frivolity on the 14th at 2 p.m. Don't forget to come in and try out the latest video games in the Game Room.

DENVER II TEST

Saturday, Oct. 9, has been added to the Denver II test schedule. The developmental screening test is being conducted by UNCW student nurses. Call ext. 3210 for an appointment.

THESIS DEFENSE

Robert J. Toonen will present a graduate thesis defense titled "Settlement of the Gregarious Tube Worm Hydroides dianthus (Polychaeta: Serpulidae): All Larvae Are Not Created Equal" from 11 a.m. to noon, Friday, Sept. 17, in Friday Hall room 151. Everyone is welcome; refreshments will be served.

RA'S NEEDED

Residence Life is looking for students interested in becoming a residence assistant. Two positions are available — one for a male and one for a female. If you know of anyone who is interested, refer them to the Residence Life Office or have them call ext. 3241.

Nobel Winner Arias to Speak at UNCW

Dr. Oscar Arias, former president of Costa Rica and the 1987 winner of the Nobel Prize for Peace, will speak at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington at 4 p.m., Monday, Oct. 4, in Kenan Auditorium. He is expected to discuss the struggle for peace. His talk, the first in the Albert Schweitzer Lecture Series, is free and open to the public.

Arias served as president of Costa Rica from 1986 to 1990. During his presidency, he was the main author of the Central American Peace Plan, for which he was awarded the Nobel Prize for Peace. Also a recipient of the Philadelphia Liberty Medal, he currently heads the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

Prior to his term as president, Arias was a professor of political science at the University of Costa Rica, served as Costa Rica's minister of planning, and as general secretary of the country's national liberation party. Educated in Costa Rica and at Brown University, Arias received his doctorate degree from the University of Essex in Great Britain.

The Albert Schweitzer International Prizes are awarded every four years at UNC Wilmington in the areas of medicine, music, and the humanities. The prizes are sponsored by the North Carolina Educational, Historical, and Scientific Foundation Inc. and are granted to those who reflect Schweitzer's "reverence for life."

Jazz Ensembles Open Fall Season

Announcements

UNCW DISCOVERY

All full-time faculty members are invited to submit one-paragraph abstracts describing their research that have appeared recently, or are in press, in peer-reviewed professional media appropriate to their disciplines, including works in the fine arts. The UNCW Discovery editorial board will select four or five for expansion into 1000- to 1300-word articles for the fall issue of Discovery. Submit 10 copies of each abstract to the Graduate School by Oct. 25 on one-page forms available from department chairs or the Graduate School. Consult recent issues of UNCW Discovery for guidance concerning the character of the publication.

GUITAR DUO TO PERFORM

The Newman & Oltman Guitar Duo will present a concert 8 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 5, at Kenan Auditorium. Admission is $5, and UNCW students will be admitted free with I.D.

Hailed by the New York Times as "Fresh, Hot and Headed for Fame," guitarists Michael Newman and Laura Oltman have been making music together since 1977. Ensemble-in-Residence at New York's The Mannes College of Music, 1993-94 Arts in Residence at Lafayette College in Pennsylvania, and recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts Recitalist Fellowship, the duo's concert tours have taken them to forty-nine states, Canada, Europe, Asia, and the Caribbean.

ART ON DISPLAY

Erwin Eisch's Kristallnacht (Night of the Crystal Death) Portfolio of ten vitreographs and his watercolor paintings and ink drawings will be on display in the University Center Oct. 4 to 29. It is part of UNCW's fall series of programs to commemorate the 50th anniversary of World War II.

An opening will be held at 10 a.m., Monday, Oct. 4, in the University Center.

NSF FUNDS DELOACH RENOVATION PROJECT

UNC Wilmington has received a $218,000 grant from the National Science Foundation for the renovation of classroom and laboratory facilities in DeLoach Hall; the grant will be matched by UNCW, a necessary condition of the award. The NSF office received 189 proposals from 44 states, two territories, and Bermuda and the District of Columbia, totaling $139.8 million; only $37.5 million was available for funding. Credit for UNCW's successful competition with well known, nationally ranked research institutions goes to the project's hard-working, dedicated team: Dr. Ned Martin, Dr. Jack Manock, Dr. Charles Ward, Joe Hack, Carl Dempsey, and Dr. Marvin Moss, who served as the principal investigator.

HARD HAT PARTY

The UNCW Alumni Association invites you to a Hard Hat Party to celebrate the opening of the Wise Alumni House. It will be held from 4:30 to 6 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 2, and from 1 to 3 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 3, at the Wise House, 1713 Market Street. Dress is casual, and opportunities for memorials are available.

RECEPTION

The Employment Security Commission and the Career Planning and Placement Center invite faculty and staff to attend a reception commemorating the tenth anniversary and resigning of their employment agreement. It will be held from 4 to 5 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 30, in the University Union living room.

FEMINIST COLLOQUIUM

Lindsay Pentolfe Aegerter will lead the first discussion of the Feminist Colloquium (3 p.m., Friday, Oct. 1, in Morton Hall's faculty common) on Michelle Cliff's companion essays "A Journey Into Speech" and "If I Could Write This in Fire, I Would Write This in Fire." The readings are on reserve in the library under Feminist Colloquium, or call Janet Ellerby at ext. 3764 for copies.

JENKINS RETIRES

After 20 years of service to the university, Connie Jenkins will retire Sept. 30. The Accounting Department invites the campus community to a reception for Jenkins from 3 to 5 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 30, in Alderman Hall room 215.

PASSPORT TO WELLNESS

LivWELL '93 - Passport to Wellness, the ninth annual health promotion event, will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Wednesday, September 29, in Trask Coliseum.

Faculty are asked to encourage attendance. Students who attend and participate can receive verification of attendance if needed. Call Deborah Haywood, ext. 4137, if you have questions.

WELCOME RECEPTION

The Office of International Programs invites the university community to a Welcome Reception for UNCW's international students at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 29, in the University Center ballroom. Please plan to join us.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Bruce C. McKinney, assistant professor of communication studies, had his article "Mediator Listening, Dispute Reframing, and Mediation Outcome: A Pilot Study," published in the 1993 edition of the Journal of the International Listening Association (Vol. 7). The article was co-authored with Drs. Rex M. Fuller and William D. Kimsey, both of James Madison University. McKinney also had his review of the book Communication and Negotiation published in the recent edition of the journal Communication Quarterly.

Dr. John Williams, professor of psychology, attended the XXIII International Ethological Conference in Torremolinos, Spain, Sept. 1 to 9. He presented the paper "Coyote Pack Structure in Yellowstone National Park."

Dr. Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, recently had a review titled "Marine Invertebrate Chemical Defenses" appear in the latest issue of Chemical Reviews, Vol. 93, pp. 1911-1922.

An article by Dr. Ann Lockledge, associate professor in the Department of Curricular Studies, titled "Mathematics as the Language and Tool of the Social Studies" appears in the September issue of Social Studies and the Young Learner. She was also guest editor of the theme section on social mathematics.

During the spring semester, the Department of Management and Marketing within the Cameron School of Business was privileged to host Adrian Palmer, exchange professor from De Montfort University in Leicester, England. He taught classes in Principles of Marketing and Services Marketing and conducted research in the travel and tourism industry. This was the second international professor exchange for the department during the year. In the fall, Robert Hartley, also from De Montfort University, exchanged with Dr. Arvid Anderson of UNCW.

Dr. Terry Theodore, professor of film in the Fine Arts Department, will present a film/lecture on Russian director Sergei Eisenstein's monumental epic Alexander Nevsky (1938) this Sunday at 2 p.m. at Brookgreen Gardens. Rich in visual imagery and dramatic power, the film also features a powerful, original musical score by Prokofiev. It is based on Russian history about the great medieval Prince Alexander, who stopped an invasion by Teutonic knights in 1242 A.D.

Brookgreen Gardens is located 18 miles south of Myrtle Beach, S.C. The program is free, but there is an admission charge to Brookgreen.

A book Dr. David K. Miller, enrollment manager, titled Measurement by the Physical Educator: Why and How, second edition, has been published by Brown and Benchmark.

Employee Appreciation Week

Human Resources hopes that all employees were able to attend at least one of the events during Employees' Appreciation Week and believes all that attended had an enjoyable time.

Marsha Hinson would like to thank all committee members for the wonderful job they did. Without their support and hard work the week wouldn't have been such a success. The committee members were: Margaret Beatty, Ada Halter, Bonnie Hamilton, Edwina Johnson, Bill Moore, and Marny Temple. Thanks again for a job well done.

Please take a few minutes to respond, on a separate sheet, to the following Employee Appreciation Week Survey:

1. What events did you attend?
2. If you were unable to attend events, please indicate why (i.e., time of day, etc.).
3. Do you have comments about this year's activities?
4. What are your suggestions for next year?

Send survey answers to Marsha Hinson, Human Resources.

The broadcast will be aired at the beginning of the program and will be followed by a panel discussion by Dr. Robert Tyndall, dean of the School of Education; Dr. Tom McNeel, superintendent of New Hanover County Public Schools; Rachel Freeman, New Hanover County Public School board member; Diane Flagler, teacher of the year; Fred E. Nelson, principal of the year; and Diane Kearney, teacher representative from Phi Delta Kappa, Cape Fear Chapter. Dr. Paz I. Bartolome, president of the PDK Cape Fear Chapter and professor of education, will moderate the discussion.

ENLIGHTEN YOUR MIND

Arts and Lectures, a committee of the Association for Campus Entertainment that brings lecturers and special programs to campus, is seeking representatives from campus departments to help them build a year-long "Enlighten Your Mind" lecture series. Suggestions for possible campus programs are also welcomed. Interested faculty and staff should call ext. 3842.

LIFE SCIENCES EXPO

Two hundred vendors of scientific equipment, supplies, and services will exhibit their products Oct. 20 and 21 at the North Carolina Biotechnology Center in Research Triangle Park. Admission is free, and exhibit hours are from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Call Flora Moorman at (919) 541-9366

MARINE EXPO

The North Carolina Marine Expo 1993 will be held from Oct. 1 to 3 at the Coast Line Convention Center in downtown Wilmington. The Marine Expo is designed to assist marine businesses with statewide, national, and international marketing and regulatory compliance. It also exposes them to new technologies and products.

It will be open to the public from noon to 6 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 2, and from noon to 4 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 3.

The expo is being organized by the Marine Trades Program (SBTDC) and Public Service and Extended Education.

COMPUTER SCIENCE PRESENTATION

Harry F. Smith of the Mathematical Sciences Department will present "What Is Computer Science (?) A Multimedia Presentation" at 3 p.m., Monday, October 4, in Bear Hall room 219.

REGALIA

Faculty members who need to rent regalia for Dec. 4's graduation should call Jessiebeth Geddie, ext. 3054, by Oct. 15 to place your order.

WWII EXHIBIT OPENING

Artist Harvey Littleton will be on hand for the opening of the World War II exhibit featuring the Kristallnacht Print Series "Night of the Crystal Death" by Erwin Eisch, a series produced in Littleton's studio.

It will be held at 10 a.m., Monday, Oct. 4, in the University Center.

BOND ISSUE FACT SHEET

The N.C. General Assembly passed legislation enabling the citizens of North Carolina to vote Nov. 2 on a $740 million bond issue to meet critical construction needs. Major components of the bond issue are listed below; each component will be voted on separately. Please share this information with your family and friends.

$310 million University Improvements
$250 million Community Colleges
$145 million Water and Sewer Projects
$35 million State Park System

WITHIN THE BOND PACKAGE FOR THE UNC SYSTEM, UNCW WILL RECEIVE:

$18,522,900 Science Building
$ 992,050 New wing on Bear Hall

The 100,000-square-foot science building is expected to house classrooms, laboratories, faculty offices, and an auditorium. The new building would be placed on the northwest corner of Reynolds Drive and Chancellors Walk in proximity to Cameron Hall. Because preliminary planning funds of $600,000 were made available earlier, initial planning is complete. Planning and construction are expected to take approximately 36 months, with occupation of the building in the 1996 academic year.

The 11,547-square-foot addition to Bear Hall will be built on the west side of the building. The new wing will mirror the east wing added in 1989, and will include faculty offices, an 80-student classroom, and two smaller classrooms. It is anticipated to be ready for occupancy after 24 months of design and construction.

WHY DOES UNCW NEED THESE IMPROVEMENTS?

For several years, UNCW has operated with severe space constraints throughout the university. In 1991, UNCW ranked first in having the most crowded academic facilities in the UNC system. In fact, since the fall of 1988, UNCW's student body has increased 25 percent with no increase in square footage for academic facilities. Space is at a premium for classrooms, faculty offices, work areas for graduate students, and science laboratories.

OVER

The shortage of space has been particularly severe in laboratory sciences. In fact, UNCW laboratories are more fully utilized than laboratories at any other UNC institution. As enrollment has increased in the baccalaureate degree nursing program and biological and environmental sciences, more students are taking lab courses in buildings designed for a significantly smaller student body. For instance, Friday Hall was built in 1974 when the UNCW student body numbered 2,850 compared to 8,050 today. It houses the Departments of Biological Sciences, Earth Sciences, and the Environmental Sciences program.

Since then, the number of biology majors has grown from 477 in 1974 to 1155 in 1992, plus 49 graduate students. Biological sciences, chemistry, and earth sciences are essential components of our internationally ranked marine sciences program, which has been unable to grow in faculty, graduate, and undergraduate students because of space limitations.

Chemistry laboratories are another area of severe overcrowding and out-of-date laminar flow air handling systems. DeLoach Hall, which houses chemistry and physics, was built in 1968 for a student body of 2,000. The bond issue will provide funds to renovate DeLoach as well as construct a new science building.

WILL TAXES GO UP IF THIS BOND ISSUE PASSES?

No. State Treasurer Harlan Boyles has projected that the state tax base will expand sufficiently to cover the repayment of principal and interest. Good faith estimates place the repayment at less than one half of 1 percent of this year's General Fund.

OTHER IMPORTANT CONSIDERATIONS:

Interest rates are low, making this an ideal time to borrow. According to the U. S. Bureau of the Census, North Carolina's net long-term debt per capita is $134, as compared to a national state average of $506 and a Southeastern state average of $391.

Treasurer Boyles has also stated that if North Carolina does not address capital construction backlog, the state's excellent bond rating is in jeopardy.

The infusion of $740 million to fund construction will provide a major stimulus to North Carolina's economy with far-reaching impacts. UNCW economist Dr. W. W. Hall estimates that the $19.5 million share for UNC Wilmington will have an economic impact over the construction period of $41.1 million. These projects will generate an average of 230 jobs per year and $13.2 million in payroll over the life of the project for the four counties in State Planning Region O (Brunswick, Columbus, New Hanover, and Pender).

THE LAST DAY TO REGISTER TO VOTE IS OCTOBER 11

QUILT FUND RAISER

The Athletic Department, ALTERNATIVES!, and GAMMA are co-sponsoring a "basketball shootout" to benefit the local display of The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt.

The "shootout" will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Wed., October 6, on the north lawn of the University Center. It will feature Coaches Kevin Eastman and Susan Yow as well as several members of the men's and women's basketball teams.

Come try your best shot against UNCW "hoops stars" and help raise funds for the Quilt. All proceeds from the "shootout" will go to the Quilt. For more information, contact Diane Edwards at ext. 3577.

Eight hundred panels of the Names Quilt will be displayed at Trask Coliseum Oct. 21 to 24. Volunteers are still needed to help with the display. Call ext. 4137 for more information.

VIDEO AVAILABLE

The National Undersea Research Center at UNCW has worked with scientists from around North Carolina, including Chief Scientist Dr. Stan Riggs of East Carolina University and Dr. Martin Posey (biological sciences), to understand the geology and ecology of hard bottom reefs in Onslow Bay. The reefs are the foundation of valuable recreational and commercial reef fisheries, but we still struggle to understand the factors that make some hard bottoms more attractive than others.

A videotape produced by the UNC Sea Grant College Program titled "Undersea Oases: The Science of Hardbottoms" is now available from Environmental Media, P.O. Box 1016, Chapel Hill, NC 27514.

The 15-minute presentation is intended for ages 12 to adult (junior high to college) and includes extensive underwater footage taken by divers and submersibles. NURC has a copy that is available for loan to university staff for educational purposes.

THESIS DEFENSE

Charles G. Miller will present a graduate thesis defense titled "Molt Stage Specificity of Cuticular Matrix Proteins in Callinectes Sapidus Suggests a Role in Exoskeletal Mineralization" at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Friday Hall room 151. Everyone is welcome; refreshments will be served.

YOGA CLASSES

Yoga classes (8 lessons) will be offered from 4 to 5 p.m., Thursdays, from Oct. 14 to Dec. 9, in Westside Hall's second floor resource room.

The cost is $24/participant, $12/student. Call 350-4137, LivWELL, to pre-register. No classes Thanksgiving week.

EV-HENWOOD

Ev-Henwood, UNCW's nature preserve near Town Creek in Brunswick County, is available to all academic departments for class field trips, student and faculty research, and other educational activities. Call the Department of Biological Sciences at ext. 3197 for further information or to schedule trips.

REMINDER

The UNCW Lost & Found is located in the University Union Information Center. If you have lost or found any items/objects on the campus, please come by and check in with the Information Center.

DONATIONS NEEDED TO BENEFIT MUSEUM

Items are needed for an auction to benefit UNCW's Museum of World Cultures.

The auction is scheduled for 7 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 4, in the University Center Ballroom No. 4. The will be no fee to attend the auction or view items beforehand (from 5 to 7 p.m.), but bid cards for the auction will cost $3. Donated items do not need to be of antique or museum quality. New or used articles in good condition, such as furniture, jewelry, lamps, pictures, rugs, tools, decorating accessories, etc. will be accepted; the only requirement is that items have some monetary value.

Donations will be accepted by the Museum of World Cultures, Cameron Hall room 100D. If you cannot bring your donations, pickup will be arranged. Call ext. 4007 for more information or to make a donation.

ALCOHOL AND THE LAW

"A Fake ID and BAC- The Latest News" will be presented by A.L.E. Agent Stephen Deacon at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 5, in the Randall Library Auditorium. If you've ever wondered what could happen to someone caught with a fake ID or if you want to know about the new blood alcohol content regulations effective this October, then don't miss this event. ALTERNATIVES is sponsoring this program and will be providing attendance vouchers and prizes for those who attend. For more information call ext. 3683.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Kristen Howell, Cameron School of Business Administration, has had her paper titled "Impacts of Various Sources of Lending on Mexican Development," accepted for presentation at the Southern Economic Association meeting, Nov. 21 to 23 in New Orleans.

Dr. John Bennett, HPER, recently presented "Physical Fitness and You - It's Never too Late!" at a meeting of the American Business Women's Association of Wilmington - Marbella Chapter.

Dr. Ralph Brauer's review, "The Camel and its Role in Shaping Mideastern Nomad Societies" has appeared in Comparative Civilization Review.

Dr. Anne Russell, Communication Studies, has been invited to address the Lower Cape Fear Historical Society Oct. 24 on the subject "Free and Independent Spirits: Builders of the Old North State." Her presentation will be based on her book "Portraits of Faith: A Pictorial History of North Carolina Religions, which was created with the sponsorship of the UNCW Museum of World Cultures and the aid of Marjorie Megivern. The book is in the Randall Library collection, as are the original photographs.

Dr. Jimmy Reeves, Chemistry, delivered a paper titled "A Possible Square Scheme Mechanism for Unusual Quasireversible Behavior" at the 1993 Annual Meeting of the Southeastern Association of Analytical Chemists held in Atlanta Sept. 10 and 11.

Dr. Frank Bongiorno, Department of Fine Arts, Division of Music, has been appointed contributing writer for the Saxophone Journal, an internationally distributed trade magazine. His bi-monthly column, "Basic Saxophone Skills," will address various performance problems encountered by developing saxophonists. The first article in the series, "Common Octave Key Problems," was published in the Sept./Oct. issue.

Dr. Russell Herman, associate professor in the Mathematical Sciences Department, attended the Ninth Workshop on Nonlinear Evolution Equations and Dynamical Systems, or NEEDS '93, Sept. 3 to 12 in Gallipoli, Italy. Topics at the conference covered applications of dynamical systems in areas such as fluid dynamics, plasma physics, quantum mechanics, oceanography, and biophysics. This conference was attended by 80 participants from 20 different countries. Herman presented a talk titled "Soliton Propagation in Near Integrable Discrete Systems."

Dr. Stephen Pullum, associate professor of communication studies, recently published two articles. "They Shall Take Up Serpents: Images of American Snake Handlers in Visual Media" appeared as a chapter in Continuities in Popular Culture, published by Popular Press of Bowling Green, Ohio. His article "Sisters of the Spirit: The Rhetorical Methods of Female Faith Healers Aimee Semple McPherson, Kathryn Kuhlman, and Gloria Copeland" appeared in the recent issue of The Journal of Communication and Religion.

Pullum won the Seahawk Senior Invitational Tennis Tournament the weekend of Sept. 10 to 12.

Drs. David Bejou and Barry Wray, Cameron School of Business Administration, had their paper "Determinants of Relationship Quality: An Artificial Neural Network Analysis," selected as Best Paper for the Marketing Research, Theory, and Models Track at the 1993 SMA Conference. The paper was co-authored with Dr. Tom Ingram of Memphis State University.

Dr. William W. Hall, Jr., director of the Center of Business and Economics Services in the Cameron School of Business Administration, has been named to the Governor's Task Force on Business Incentives. The task force will focus its attention over the next two years on developing procedures that state government can use to conduct studies of the costs and benefits of incentives to attract investment to the state.

Dr. Cem Canel, assistant professor of production and decision sciences, has had two papers accepted for presentation at the Production Operations Management Society National meeting, to be held Oct. 3 to 5 in Boston. They are "A Goal Programming Approach to the International Facilities Location Problem" and "A Branch and Bound Algorithm for the Uncapacitated Multi-Period Facilities Location Problem." The second paper was co-authored by Dr. Sidhartha Das of George Mason University.

Travel Survey

Because of a delay in getting the travel survey in the mail, its submission deadline has been moved from today to Oct. 15. Your participation in this survey is requested to assist Purchasing's efforts to create and maintain an effective travel contract for UNCW travelers and travel arrangers. Your input will be appreciated.

Employee Assistance Program (EAP) Returns

Calvin Brewington of State Personnel will be UNCW's EAP Representative on campus starting Tuesday, Oct. 12. He will be here from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Tuesday in Randall Library room 227. Human Resources hopes to increase his time on campus to two days a week in the future.

You may call to schedule an appointment (for Tuesday) or drop in (although you may have to wait if he is seeing other employees). If Tuesdays are not convenient, he can meet with you at other times. His telephone number will be published in the Oct. 7 Communique.

Brewington will present an overview of what EAP is and how its services and resources can help you at 10 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 12, in University Union Room 100. All employees are welcome to attend.

Shared Leave

Some of our fellow employees need our help to avoid leave without pay due to unavoidable illness. Please give shared leave to Troy Kelly, Annie Aldrich, Patricia Deanes, and George Syles. Call Dale at ext. 3161 for information.

Student Payroll Deadlines

Today - Time sheets to Payroll (3 p.m.). Call Tina (Payroll) at ext. 3752 or Frances (CPPC) at ext. 3174 if you have questions.

Correction!

A headline in yesterday's Communique mistakenly reported the day that Oscar Arias will speak at UNCW. He will speak at 4 p.m., Monday, Oct. 4, in Kenan Auditorium. A copy of the article follows.

Arias to Speak Monday Afternoon

Dr. Oscar Arias, former president of Costa Rica and the 1987 winner of the Nobel Prize for Peace, will speak at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington at 4 p.m., Monday, Oct. 4, in Kenan Auditorium. He is expected to discuss the struggle for peace. His talk, the first in the Albert

Schweitzer Lecture Series, is free and open to the public.

Arias served as president of Costa Rica from 1986 to 1990. During his presidency, he was the main author of the Central American Peace Plan, for which he was awarded the Nobel Prize for Peace. Also a recipient of the Philadelphia Liberty Medal, he currently heads the Arias

Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

Prior to his term as president, Arias was a professor of political science at the University of Costa Rica, served as Costa Rica's minister of planning, and as general secretary of the country's national liberation party. Educated in Costa Rica and at Brown University, Arias received his doctorate degree from the University of Essex in Great Britain.

The Albert Schweitzer International Prizes are awarded every four years at UNC Wilmington in the areas of medicine, music, and the humanities. The prizes are sponsored by the North Carolina Educational, Historical, and Scientific Foundation Inc. and are granted to those who reflect Schweitzer's "reverence for life."

Aquarius at Work in Florida

On September 2, the National Undersea Research Center at UNCW received certification from the American Bureau of Shipping and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to begin science missions from the Aquarius undersea laboratory.

Aquarius is now operating at a depth of 20 meters at the base of a coral reef wall off Key Largo, Fla. During the first mission, chief scientist Dr. Kenneth Sebens and cohorts from the University of Maryland will investigate the effects of small-scale variations in current flow on coral physiology.

The health of coral reefs in the Florida Keys is declining due to a number of potential factors, including pollution, oceanic warming, and increasing ultraviolet radiation. Understanding how corals live is required basic information for predicting their response to such factors.

Using the undersea laboratory allows the science crew to set up and maintain microsensors and recording equipment that can measure the response of a single coral polyp to natural changes in light, temperature, and current flow.

Such studies are usually only attempted in shore side laboratories, but lab conditions cannot reproduce the natural environment. In 1994, a full schedule of saturation missions is planned that will address the ecology of the continental U.S.' only coastal coral reef ecosystem.

Aquarius will be featured on "Name Your Adventure" at 10 a.m., Saturday, Nov. 27, on NBC (WECT, TV-6), as Big Daddy Productions, Inc., of Burbank, Calif., grants a young boy's wish.

Open House Set for Oct. 23

UNCW invites all prospective students and their parents to a fall Open House from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 23, at University Union room 100. Faculty members, administrators, admissions counselors, and financial aid representatives will be on hand to answer questions on specific courses of study, admissions requirements, housing, application deadlines, and financial help.

To provide a closer look at UNCW, student guides will conduct walking tours of the campus, including Trask Coliseum, Randall Library, Wagoner dining hall, classroom buildings, and residence halls. These students can also answer questions about campus life. UNCW will also have a "Visit Day" Saturday, Feb. 19, 1994.

Visitors are also invited to come to UNCW on any weekday during the year when student-led campus tours are offered at 2 p.m., Monday to Friday, and at 10 a.m. in summer.

Davey to Read Works

Nationally acclaimed performer/teacher Fern Davey will present an evening of contemporary international poetry tonight, Thursday, Oct. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Center Stage Cafe.

Davey will read from works by Pablo Neruda, Ntozake Shange, Denise Levertov, and others. Her evenings, given on college campuses across the country, have been described as "interactive," "explorative," and "salonesque." Not only does she read poetry but she also responds to it and draws the audience into a conversation.

"An Evening with Fern Davey" is sponsored by the English Department. Admission is free and open to the public.

Big Band's first Performance Tomorrow Night

A story on the front page of last week's Communique listed the wrong date for the Seven O'Clock Big Band's performance at Center Stage Cafe. The band will perform its first concert of the fall season at 8 p.m., tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 8.

Selections will include popular standards Invitation by Bronislaw Kapar and Night & Day by Cole Porter and jazz selections All Blues by Miles Davis and Opus One by Sy Oliver. A performance of Oliver Nelson's Emancipation Blues will feature saxophonist Benny Hill.

General admission is $2; UNCW students will be admitted free with I.D.

ISSUES IN EDUCATION

Faculty and staff are invited to attend a panel discussion on "Issues in Education" on the N. C. State campus at 10 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 16. It is sponsored by the North Carolina American Association of University Professors (you need not be a member to attend).

Dr. Carol Brown, biology, Wake Forest University, will speak on a joint venture between Wake Forest and the public schools to create a magnet middle school in science and mathematics. Dr. Cecilia Steppe-Jones, director of special education at N. C. Central University, will speak on academic accommodations for students who are challenged. Dean James Anderson of N. C. State University will moderate.

The site of the panel discussion is Tompkins, a classroom building located near Hillsborough Street and the Bell Tower. Call Maggie Parish, ext. 3328 or 392-7372 for more information.

REACH OUT!

Students, faculty, and staff are invited to attend a presentation titled "Young, Restless, and Intoxicated" at 8 p.m., Monday, Oct. 11, in Cameron Auditorium. The program will be presented by Deborah Pittman of Wesleyan College and is sponsored by REACH OUT!, UNCW's Sexual Assault Education/Prevention Program.

REGALIA

Faculty members who need to rent regalia for Dec. 4 graduation should call Jessiebeth Geddie, ext. 3054, by Oct. 15 to place your order.

THESIS DEFENSE

Patricia A. Donovan-Potts will present a graduate thesis defense titled "The Biological and Physical Parameters Surrounding the Traditional Spawning Sites of the Bluehead, Thalassoma bifasciatum, along the Key Largo Florida Reef Tract" at 2 p.m., Friday, Oct. 8, in Friday Hall room 151. Everyone is welcome; refreshments will be served.

UNCW TO HOST MAJOR CONFERENCE

On Oct. 15, over 100 mathematicians will come to UNCW to attend the 13th Southeastern-Atlantic Regional Conference on Differential Equations (SEARCDE). The primary purpose of the meeting is to promote research in an area of mathematics known as differential equations. The conference also helps to promote contact among researchers in the southeast so they can exchange ideas and information.

It will provide the opportunity for new PhDs and advanced graduate students to present their work, meet researchers from the region, and hear the invited talks of mathematicians of international repute. To aid in this goal, the SEARCDE typically provides fellowships for 20 to 25 young researchers to attend these meetings each year.

More than sixty lectures in the areas of mathematics and its applications to the natural sciences will be presented.

A further attraction will be the speeches of three well-known mathematicians: H. Thomas Banks of N.C. State, J. Thomas Beale of Duke University, and Ivar Stakgold from the University of Delaware. Participants will come from a dozen states and as far away as the Russian city of Minsk.

FALL BREAK LIBRARY HOURS

Wednesday, Oct. 13, 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 14, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Friday, Oct. 15, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Saturday, Oct. 16, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Sunday, Oct. 17, 1 p.m. to midnight

CAMPUS-WIDE CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The Student Activities Office is planning a UNCW spring semester calendar of events that will include all facets of campus life. The project's mission is to inform the university community of upcoming events, facilitate preplanning, prevent any overlap, and increase attendance through increased promotion.

The calendar will cover the spring semester. If you would like to inform the campus community of your upcoming spring events, submit your list of activities by Oct. 29.

Please include photographs and any additional information about the events if available. The calendar is to become a bi-annual publication for each semester of the school year.

Please send information by E-mail to BANKSJ. If you have any questions, contact Jennifer Banks at the Leadership Center at ext. 3877.

HATS OFF TO YOU

The Alumni Relations Office wholeheartedly thanks the UNCW staff, faculty, administration, students, and parents for their support of Family Weekend. Many favorable comments were conveyed on behalf of our fine university. Thank you to everyone who took part in the weekend events. Sweet Success! Comments or suggestions are gladly accepted at ext. 3616.

FREE FLOWERS

During the week of Oct. 11 to 15, the grounds section will offer the annual purple Gomphrena in the Bookstore planter for use in dried floral arrangements. Gomphrena holds its color well when dried and is easily pressed. Please take as much as you need from this planter - it will be replaced with pansies the following week.

NEH SUMMER STIPEND

Three faculty members have been nominated by the university for the 1994 NEH Summer Stipend program. The nominees and their research topics are: John Myers of the Fine Arts Department: "American Bohemians: Interactions Among Artists and Writers in New York City, 1850-1860," Lindsay Pentolfe Aegerter of the English Department: "Southern African Women's Writing as Resistance," and Keith Newlin of the English Department: "Selected Letters of Hamlin Garland."

NAME OMITTED

Dr. Ralph Brauer's name was inadvertently left out of the new campus directory. Please update your directory as follows: Dr. Ralph Brauer, Exec. Dir. and Adjunct Prof., IRISC, 1601 Doctors' Circle, 762-4441, 6214 Towles Rd. Wilmington, NC 28409.

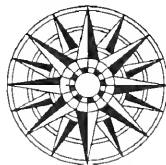

ORIENTATION

The Orientation Leader selection process for the 1994 staff will begin with an informational meeting (optional) at 6 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 12, in University Center Ballroom 4. Applications will be available Oct. 12 to 29 at the Information Center in the University Union and the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs (Alderman Hall room 101).

The application deadline is 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 29. Faculty and staff are asked to encourage enthusiastic students who possess strong leadership potential to apply. Call Dick Mullendore at ext. 3089 if you have questions.

CHEMISTRY SEMINAR

Dr. Paul H. Wine of the Georgia Institute of Technology will present the seminar "Laboratory Studies of Free Radical Chemistry in Cloud Water," at 3 p.m., Friday, Oct. 8, in DeLoach 114. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

CHARTING THE CURRENTS OF CHANGE

1993-94 Loyalty Fund Update

Within the next two weeks, all faculty and staff will receive information about our annual giving program, The Loyalty Fund. Money raised through this program will be used to fund special needs on the campus that state dollars do not cover. Your help is crucial and will provide benefits to each of us.

The 1992-1993 Loyalty Fund met its goal of $350,000 because of your generous help. You deserve to know how that money was used. Some of the programs assisted by Loyalty Fund last year were:

Over 10 student scholarships
National Living Treasure Awards
UNCW Magazine
North Carolina Humanities Journal
B. Frank Hall Memorial Lecture
UNCW Student Ambassadors
Individual Departmental Support
Additional professorships and staff positions

We hope that our new faculty and staff will join those who participated last year. That will enable the Loyalty Fund to work more effectively for us all.

If you have questions, please call Barbie Cowan at ext. 3004.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Kimon Bird, program coordinator at the Center for Marine Science Research, has received a grant of $80,000 from the UNC Sea Grant program for his proposal "Development In Vitro Propagation Technologies for Marine Seagrasses for Use in Habitat Restoration and Genetic Characterization of Seagrass Populations."

Dr. Tammy Hunt, Cameron School of Business Administration, presented the keynote address "Strategic Planning for Nonprofit Organizations" for the YWCA's National Conference for Executive Directors and recently appeared on WECT's Carolina in the Morning show for an interview regarding dual career families.

Office Staff Training and Development

Upcoming Training Workshops for Oct. 11 to 22:

Americans with Disabilities Act

This training is designed to provide managers and supervisors with information that will help them to comply with the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act. Role plays and sensitivity training will be used to help you learn to hire and accommodate people who happen to have disabilities.

Facilitator: Kay Robinson, Human Resources

Date: Oct. 11

Time: 9 a.m. to noon

Career Development Strategies

This four-part workshop will focus on understanding one's interests, strengths, and weaknesses and developing a personal career plan. General information and advice on various career paths will be discussed. The target audience for this workshop is staff employees. Also, participants are encouraged to attend the resume writing workshop after completing this workshop.

Facilitator: James Braye, Career Planning and Placement Center

Dates: Oct. 19 (Part I)

Oct. 21 (Part II)

Oct. 26 (Part III)

Oct. 28 (Part IV)

Time: 3 to 4 p.m. (all sessions)

Human Resources encourages everyone to take advantage of these training workshops. Call Kimberly Best-Tuten at ext. 3712 if you have questions or need registration forms.

POSTAL SERVICES

The Postal Services window will be closed Monday, Oct. 11, in observance of Columbus Day. Stamps may be purchased from the vending machine in the post office lobby. Campus mail will be distributed on regularly scheduled routes. Call James Young at ext. 3182 if you have questions.

Employee Focus Groups Forming

As a result of the Employee Survey conducted earlier this year by Human Resources, employee focus groups will be formed. The groups will help the department get additional input from employees on how programs should be developed, i.e. what they should include or not include.

There will be five focus groups - each group will meet for one or two sessions and be led by a member of the Human Resource team. Please call Human Resources at ext. 3160 if you want to be involved. You can sign up for one or more of the following groups:

- Recognition Program Enhancements
- Orientation Program for New Employees
- Suggestion Program Enhancements
- Communication and Involvement Programs
- Employee Exchange Program Enhancements

Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

Calvin Brewington of State Personnel will be UNCW's EAP representative on campus starting Tuesday, Oct. 12. He will be here from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Tuesday in Randall Library room 227. Human Resources hopes to increase his time on campus to two days a week in the future.

You may call to schedule an appointment (for Tuesday) or drop in (although you may have to wait if he is seeing other employees). If Tuesdays are not convenient, he can meet with you at other times. Brewington's UNCW telephone number is not yet available, but he can be reached through the toll-free number for the State EAP, which is: 1-800-543-7327.

Brewington will present an overview of what EAP is and how its services and resources can help you at 10 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 12, in University Union Room 100. All employees are welcome to attend.

Administrative Procedure Update

The following new policies for the Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual are now available on the VAX. These policies were effective Oct. 1 based on approval by the chancellor Sept. 27.

HR 6.30 - Employee Performance Management Program (EPMP). This procedure provides uniform standards governing UNCW's performance management program for SPA employees. The performance management program includes the performance work plan, interim review, and the performance evaluation.

INF 4.60 - Request for FRS Account Information. This procedure explains the policies and procedures regarding requests for ad hoc financial reporting.

VCB 1.40 - Motor Vehicle Safety. The eligibility of a UNCW employee to operate a state vehicle is governed by the following requirements: (a) current operator's license, (b) Motor Vehicle Record Review, and (c) completion of the required motor vehicle safety training. This training is required by the state's insurance carrier.

The Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual can be accessed through VXA, VXB, or VXC on the VAX by typing INFO at the username prompt. Administrative Procedures can also be accessed through SNBALLEX and through FRS and SIS menus.

FACULTY SENATE

The Faculty Senate elected the following officers during its Sept. 14 meeting:

- Ken Spackman - vice president
- Dan Noland - secretary
- Grace Burton, Carol Ellis, Melton McLaurin, and John Williams - Steering Committee members.

Fly Wright! this Weekend

Fly Wright! The Story of Two Brothers will be staged at 8 p.m., Friday to Sunday, Oct. 15 to 18, on Thalian Hall's Mainstage. The operetta, performed by the UNCW University Theatre, is written and directed by Frank P. Trimble of the Communication Studies Department.

An operetta in two acts, and revised since its premiere in December 1992, Fly Wright! tells the story of Wilbur and Orville Wright and their quest toward human-powered flight. The show is a living scrapbook and with the help of projected slides introduces the audience to these fascinating men and the details of their journey. The music in the production is a playful mixture of pop, rock, jazz, blues, gospel, and country.

As a living, musical history lesson, Fly Wright! depicts both the comedy and tragedy in the lives of these innovative American heroes. It entertains, educates, and inspires. The performance is especially appropriate to be presented this fall because 1993 marks the 90th anniversary year of human-powered flight, which occurred December 17, 1903.

Tickets are $6 for adults; UNCW students will be admitted free with valid ID. For more information, call 343-3664.

The University Theatre's upcoming productions include: The Verge, Feb. 23 to 27, and Reckless, April 13 to 17 and 20 to 24.

Second Softball Game Planned

Celebrate the Seahawk Spirit and sign up for this year's second Campus Softball Game to be held from 3:30 to 6 p.m., Friday, Oct. 29, at Brooks Field. The game will continue until a winner is determined. It will be cancelled if it rains.

Sign up yourself or your team (5 men/5 women) by October 26 in the Office of Campus Recreation, located in Hanover Gym. Drop-ins on game day are welcome. Please bring your own glove. Hot dogs and refreshments will be available for 50 cents each.

Faculty, staff, and students are encouraged to wear their favorite UNCW t-shirt all day on Oct. 29 to show their Seahawk spirit.

The event is organized by the Seahawk Spirit Committee. Call ext. 3827 or 3174 for more information.

Alumni Association Seeks Nominees

The Alumni Association is seeking nominations for its 1994 Alumnus of the Year and Distinguished Citizen of the Year awards.

The Alumnus of the Year award is open to any UNCW alumni. The Distinguished Citizen award is open to anyone and may be for service to the university or to the community.

Ron Choate and Jim Fugate were co-winners of the Alumnus of the Year award in 1993. Other winners have included W. Frank Bowen, John W. Baldwin Jr., J. Carl Dempsey, Anne E. McCrary, and Ray A. Buchanan. Football great and Wilmington native Roman Gabriel received the Distinguished Citizen award earlier this year.

Previous winners of the award include William J. Brooks, Hubert A. Eaton, Estell C. Lee, and Emsley A. Laney.

To make a nomination, write a letter of recommendation to the Alumni Association board of directors. Specify the award category and describe why you think the nominee merits the award. Include the nominee's name, address, telephone number, and work place.

Letters should be mailed to Patricia C. Corcoran, director of alumni relations, Room 108 Alderman Hall, University Advancement, UNCW, Wilmington, NC, 28403-3297.

The deadline for nominations is Nov. 10, 1993.

NO COMMUNIQUE NEXT WEEK

The Campus Communique will not be printed Thursday, Oct. 21. The next issue will be distributed Thursday, Oct. 28.

Carolyn Busse, the Communique's editor, has accepted a position with PlayMakers Repertory Company at UNC Chapel Hill. Her replacement will be named within the next month.

Send future Communique items to "Communique," c/o University Relations, or CUNNINGHAM on VAX.

A Message from the Chancellor

Dear Colleagues and Students:

Approximately 750 panels of the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt will be displayed at UNCW's Trask Coliseum next weekend. The quilt stands as a growing memorial to the estimated 500,000 AIDS victims worldwide.

Quilt organizers expect at least 25 new panels to be added to the section of quilt that will visit Wilmington — each panel representing a resident of Southeastern North Carolina who has died as a result of the AIDS disease.

Money raised beyond immediate quilt expenses will go to a local beneficiary, GROW: A Community Service Corporation and will be used for direct service care of people in our community who are living with HIV/AIDS. Funds will help with emergency needs of food, utilities, and medicine costs, care to the homebound, and transportation to the hospital.

I urge faculty and staff members to attend and to encourage students to see the quilt.

With all best wishes,

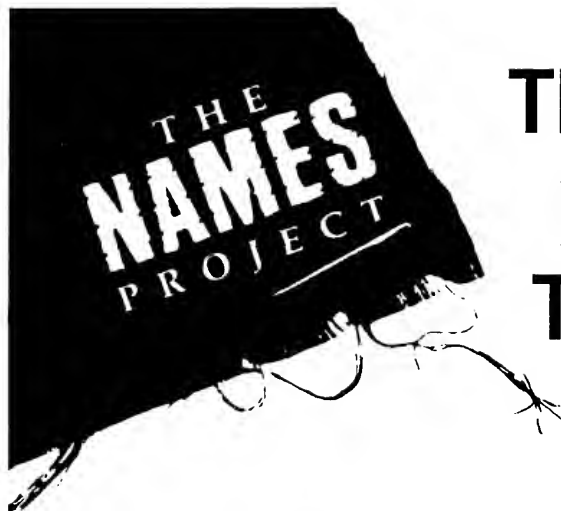

Facts About the Quilt

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt, an international memorial to those who have died of AIDS, was begun in 1987 by Cleve Jones, a gay rights activist. Jones made the first panel in memory of his friend Marvin Feldman, who died from AIDS. He spray painted Feldman's name onto a piece of cloth about the size of a grave. After the first panel was made, more people began to contribute their own panels, each with the name of a loved one on it. Quilt panels include a wide variety of material, from human hair to loveletters to teddy bears.

Portions of the quilt, which stretches over 15 football fields and represents 13 percent of all U.S. AIDS deaths, have been displayed in 700 U.S. cities. In 1989, The NAMES quilt was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize, and Common Threads, a feature-length documentary about the quilt, won an Academy Award in 1989.

More than three million people have visited the quilt, and over $1 million has been raised through the sale of merchandise. The Cape Fear Host Committee, a diverse group of concerned community and university volunteers, is responsible for the quilt's visit to Wilmington. The goals of the committee are to promote awareness of HIV/AIDS and its human impact on our community, raise funds to provide direct care to people in our community living with HIV/AIDS, and to build a positive, creative means of expression for those whose lives have been touched by HIV/AIDS.

THE QUILT: KEEPING THE LOVE ALIVE

The Cape Fear Host Committee is honored to host a display of

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Bruce C. McKinney, assistant professor, communication studies, participated in the 1993 Kendon Smith Lectures at UNC Greensboro. The lectures, sponsored by the UNCC psychology department and held Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, addressed "Human Aggression: Research Addresses Social Problems." McKinney spoke on the topic "Preventing Violence in Elementary Schools Through Student Mediation Programs." Researchers from other schools including UNC Chapel Hill, the University of Arizona, the University of Michigan, and UNC Charlotte covered topics ranging from victimization by sexual violence to aggression in adolescents.

Dr. Courtney Hackney, biological sciences, has received the Technical Communication Award from the East Tennessee chapter of the Society for Technical Communication for a volume he edited titled Biodiversity of the Southeastern United States: Aquatic Communities. The volume, published by Wiley Press, has received excellent reviews and will be followed by two additional volumes on the biodiversity of terrestrial communities in the Southeast.

Dr. Sheila A. Adams, Cameron School of Business Administration, spent the spring semester (1993) in Leicester, England as an exchange professor at De Montfort University. She taught students in several programs including the MBA (day and night programs), the graduate personnel program, and the Higher National Diploma program, as well as supervising workplace research projects for advanced personnel students. While there she participated in a program for visiting civil service managers from Nepal who were sent to Birmingham University for three months to study government processes and enhance their managerial skills. While teaching in Leicester, Adams lived in Stratford-Upon-Avon.

Drs. David Bejou and Barry Wray, Cameron School of Business Administration, had their paper "Determinants of Relationship Quality: An Artificial Neural Network Analysis," selected as Best Paper for the Marketing Research, Theory, and Models Track at the 1993 SMA Conference. The paper was co-authored with Dr. Tom Ingram of Memphis State University.

Dr. Cem Canel, assistant professor of Production and Decision Sciences, presented the paper "An Educational Tool for Facilities Location Problems" at the The Institute of Management Science South East regional meeting held Oct. 7 to 8 in Myrtle Beach.

Dr. Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, and three biology graduate students, Robert Toonen, Brian Chanas, and Craig Dahlgren, were participants aboard the University of Miami's research vessel, Columbus Iselin, from Aug. 16 to Sept. 6 on a research expedition to the less-visited islands of the Bahamas. They conducted field experiments on the chemical ecology of the Caribbean reef and mangrove sponges.

Dr. Terry Theodore, professor of theatre in the Fine Arts Department, is again offering free film-splicing services to UNCW faculty and staff. he will splice 8 mm, Super8 mm, or 16 mm film for any university-related program.

Dr. John Bennett, HPER, has had "Developmentally Appropriate Gymnastics" published in the September issue of Movement Today.

Professors Dr. James Megivern and Dr. Walter Conser of the Philosophy and Religion Department presided over sessions and attended the meeting of the North Carolina Religious Studies Association held recently at UNC Charlotte.

Dr. Dick Engdahl, Cameron School of Business Administration, has been appointed by Governor James B. Hunt to the North Carolina Quality Leadership Awards Council. The appointment is effective immediately and will expire Nov. 30, 1996.

Dr. Eleanor Krassen Maxwell, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, delivered a paper titled "Explaining Caregiving: A System's Approach," at the North American Congress on Women's Health Issues, Toronto, Ontario, Oct. 7.

Dr. Ina Markham, Cameron School of Business Administration, presented the paper "Continuous Improvement: Is It a Group-Based Cultural Effect?" at the 29th Annual Meeting of the Southeastern Chapter of TIMS held Oct. 6-8 at Myrtle Beach. Steven Markham of VPI & SU co-authored the paper.

Dr. George Schell, Cameron School of Business Administration, has been appointed editor of Computer Personnel, a journal of the Association for Computer Machinery Special Interest Group on Computer Personnel Research.

Vote November 2

All faculty and staff are encouraged to go to the polls and vote next Tuesday, Nov. 2. Polls will be open from 6:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Of particular interest to the university community is the $310 million bond issue for improvements to UNC system institutions. If the bond issue passes, UNCW will receive $18.5 million for a new science building (rendering above) and $990,000 to add a new wing on Bear Hall for faculty offices and classrooms.

Please ask your students, families, and friends to exercise their right to vote on Nov. 2.

WECT-TV6 presents Bond Issue Forum, 5:30 p.m., Oct. 31;

"Building North Carolina: Bonds for Higher Education."

Second Softball Game Planned

Celebrate the Seahawk Spirit and sign up for this year's second Campus Softball Game to be held from 3:30 to 6 p.m., Friday, Oct. 29, at Brooks Field. The game will continue until a winner is determined. It will be cancelled if it rains.

Sign up yourself or your team (five men/five women) in the Office of Campus Recreation, in Hanover Gym. Drop-ins on game day are welcome.

Please bring your own glove. Hot dogs and refreshments will be available for 50 cents each.

Faculty, staff, and students are encouraged to wear their favorite UNCW T-shirt all day on Oct. 29 to show their Seahawk spirit.

The event is organized by the Seahawk Spirit Committee. Call Ext. 3827 or 3174 for more information.

Littleton Named Living Treasure

Harvey K. Littleton, pioneer artist in the studio glass movement, has been chosen as the 1993 North Carolina Living Treasure by the Institute for Human Potential at UNCW.

Littleton is recognized throughout the world as the originator of vitreographs, prints made from sandblasted designs on glass plates. Exhibitions of Littleton's vitreographs have been displayed in Germany, North Carolina, and Tennessee. His other art (sculpture, stoneware, porcelain, cut pieces, and functional forms) has also been exhibited worldwide in France, Belgium, Denmark, and Germany as well as throughout the U.S.

Littleton's most recent honors include a Diploma of Honors from the Glas Museum of Frauenau, Germany, an election to the Western North Carolina Creative Arts Hall of Fame, the Distinguished Alumnus Award of the University of Michigan School of Art, and the Lifetime Achievement Award from The Glass Art Society.

Littleton will be recognized and presented the Living Treasure Award at a banquet at 7 p.m., Friday, Oct. 29, in the University Center Ballroom. Admission is by invitation and costs $14.

DONATIONS NEEDED TO BENEFIT MUSEUM

Items are needed for an auction to benefit UNCW's Museum of World Cultures.

The auction is scheduled for 7 p.m., Nov. 4, in University Center Ballroom No. 4. There will be no fee to attend the auction or view items beforehand (from 5 to 7 p.m.), but bid cards for the auction will cost $3. Donated items do not need to be of antique or museum quality. New or used articles in good condition, such as furniture, jewelry, lamps, pictures, rugs, tools, decorating accessories, etc. will be accepted; the only requirement is that items have some monetary value.

Donations will be accepted by the Museum of World Cultures, Cameron Hall, Room 100D. If you cannot bring your donations, pickup will be arranged. Call Ext. 4007 for more information or to make a donation.

STATE EMPLOYEES COMBINED CAMPAIGN

UNCW's State Employees Combined Campaign will conclude next week. Please return your form, whether or not you choose to contribute, to the designated campaign volunteer. The need is great, but the potential for staff and faculty to make a difference is also great. You can choose from over 200 different agencies, serving the nation, our state and/or the Wilmington area. Please read the campaign brochure before you make your decision and return your form right away.

BICYCLE AUCTION

The University Police Department will conduct its annual Bicycle Auction on Saturday, Nov. 13. The auction will take place behind the police building. All items to be auctioned may be previewed from 7 a.m. until the auction begins at 9 a.m. Bicycles and other items will be auctioned.

STUDENT INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The Faculty Senate will meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9, and at 9 a.m., Monday, Dec. 19, in DeLoach Hall, Room 114.

Faculty and Staff

Judy Siguaw, Cameron School of Business, had her paper, "The Influence of Market Orientation of the Firm on Salesforce Behavior and Attitudes" accepted for publication in The Journal of Marketing Research. The Journal of Marketing Research is considered to be one of the world's three best marketing journals.

George Schell, Cameron School of Business, had his paper "Information Systems Concepts: Can They Be Assimilated Into Non-MIS Courses?" accepted for the National Decision Sciences Institute Conference to be held in November in Washington, D.C.

Arvid Anderson, Cameron School of Business Administration, presented his paper, "The Enrollment of Foreign Students In United States Universities and Colleges and their Potential Impact Upon U.S. Business Both Here and Abroad" at the 29th Annual Meeting of the Southeastern Chapter of TIMS held Oct. 6-8 at Myrtle Beach.

Cem Canel and David Bejou, Cameron School of Business Administration, have had their paper "International Locations: The Link Between International Marketing and Manufacturing" accepted for presentation at the 1993 Annual Meeting of the Decision Sciences Institute in Washington, D.C., to be held Nov. 21-23.

Cem Canel and David Bejou, Cameron School of Business Administration, have had their paper "Relationship Marketing Encounter: The Missing Link Between Production and Consumption of Services" accepted for presentation at the 1993 Annual Meeting of the Production & Operations Management Society in Boston.

David Bejou, Cameron School of Business Administration, had his paper "Relationship-Selling Quality" accepted for presentation at the 1993 Annual Meeting of the Production & Operations Management Society in Boston.

Communication Studies faculty member Dr. Anne Russell's new pictorial history, Carolina Yacht Club Chronicles, is available at Randall Library. The book portrays the development of The Banks, now known as Wrightsville Beach, from the perspective of the sailing and social club that was founded in 1853 and became the first structure built on the island. It is the third oldest yacht club in the United States.

A proposal by Dr. Alan Hulbert and Dr. Steve Miller, CMSR, titled "A Proposal to Solicit, Review, Coordinate, Facilitate and Conduct Coral Reef Monitoring at Ship Grounding Sites in the Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary" has been funded for $514,442.

Dr. Lee Johnston, professor of political science, had his article, "Citizen Participation: Direct vs. Representative Democracy" published in The Changing World and International Law by Bak Young Sa Press, Seoul, Korea, 1993.

Dr. Terry Theodore, professor of theatre in fine arts, had his film review of Super Mario Brothers accepted by Magill Publications, and it is now on line with PRODIGY and DIALOG databases. The movie is based on the popular game and was filmed in Wilmington.

The N.C. Division of Coastal Management has allocated $9,000 in federal funds for support of Dr. Robert Buerger's research proposal titled, "Survey of Recreational Impacts and User Attitudes on the Masonboro Island Component of the N.C. National Estuarine Research Reserve." Dr. Buerger is in the Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

An article by Pam Hurley, part-time lecturer in the English department, titled "Ezra Pound's Yeux Glauques" appears in the fall issue of Paideuma. She also presented "Women and Erotica: The Myth of Female Sexuality" Oct. 2 at the third Annual Women's Studies Conference at Southern Connecticut State University in New Haven, Conn.

The National Science Foundation has awarded Dr. Carol Pilgrim, associate professor of psychology, a $17,493 grant for her project titled "Disruption of Equivalence Classes." Her research is designed to study how adults learn the meanings of unfamiliar symbols and how they respond to unlearning them.

Dr. Joseph Kishton, associate professor of psychology, has been awarded a grant of $172,000 from the National Science Foundation for his proposal "SCC: Cape Fear Summer Science Camp."

Dr. Charles M. Fugler, biological sciences, presented an illustrated discussion of the Latin American programs sponsored by the Office of International Programs of UNCW to undergraduate majors in Latin American studies and members of the faculty of the Tulane University Center for Latin American Studies on Oct. 13. Approximately 35 undergraduate majors and faculty attended the presentation. Dr. Fugler also presented a seminar entitled "A Life of Tropical Infatuation" to the students and faculty of the Department of Ecology, Evolution, and Organismal Biology of Tulane University on Oct. 15.

Dr. Richard Mullendore, associate vice chancellor for student affairs, is co-editor of a new book titled Designing Successful Transitions: A Guide for Orienting Students to College. The book is the result of a collaborative project between the National Orientation Directors Association and the National Resource Center for the Freshman Year Experience. Mullendore contributed two chapters, "Organization and Administration of Orientation Programs" (with Dr. Jimmy Abraham-Mississippi State University) and "Orientation Standards, Evaluation, and Assessment" (with Dr. Gary Biller-Dickinson State University).

Andrew F. Clark, assistant professor of history, has a review article, "West Africans in French Military Service, 1857-1960" in the current issue of African Studies Review (Vol. 36, 2; Sept. 1993).

Three members of the Biology Club: Phaedra Doukakis, Kathleen Taylor, and Heather Woodson, and Dr. Diane Dodd, biological sciences, were invited participants in the Roots and Shoots/Reverence for Life National Environmental Youth Summit held Oct. 8-11 at the Albert Schweitzer Institute for the Humanities in Hamden, Conn. Co-sponsored by the Jane Goodall Institute and ASIH, the conference was attended by approximately 45 students from around the country who met with Dr. Goodall to discuss environmental and humanitarian concerns.

Dr. Robert Y. George, professor of biological sciences, was a guest scientist at the Swedish Royal Academy's Marine Biological Laboratory in Kristineberg, Sweden during the fall break, Oct. 10 to 17, 1993. Dr. George visited both Lund University and the University of Goteborg where he presented a seminar on "Role of Krill in the Arctic Marine Food Chain." During this visit he made plans for 1994 Summer I field course for UNCW Marine Biology students in Sweden.

Four members of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures made presentations at the 43rd Mountain Interstate Foreign Language Conference at Clemson University, Oct. 7-9:

- Terry Mount: "The Virgin Mary and Justice in Berceo's Milagros;"
- Joann Mount: "Neruda: Longing for Cosmic Unity;"
- Peter Thomas: "Historiographic Metafiction and the Neo-baroque in Fernando del Paso's Noticias del Imperio;"
- P.J. Lapaire: "Emma Bovary au present: la Betty (Blue) de Philippe Djian."

Kathleen O'Connor Benzaquin (K.B.) has joined UNCW as an academic adviser. Kathleen comes to UNCW from UNC Chapel Hill where she held positions as associate dean of students and assistant dean of General College. Her office is in Randall Library 2027, and she can be reached at Ext. 3921.

Official Notices

Office Support Study

The Office Services Support occupational group classification study wrap-up discussion with Pam Bowling, Office of State Personnel classification analyst, will be held from 10 a.m. to noon, Nov. 4, in University Center Ballroom No. 3. All staff members are invited to attend; questions will be welcomed. The event is sponsored by Human Resources.

Paper Change to Recycled

UNCW has adopted recycled formal letterhead, envelope, and business card papers. The change will be made in conjunction with the change of the 919 area code to 910, which will take effect Nov. 14.

Departments should begin phasing in the new paper as soon as possible and should not use the current gray letterhead after Dec. 31, 1993.

The state contract white letterhead and envelopes will remain the same.

Human Resources Office Hours Change

Effective Nov. 1, Human Resources hours will be 7:30-5 p.m. (instead of 7:30-5:30 p.m.). A mail slot will be installed in the entrance door for applicants and staff who want to drop off materials at other times.

Night shift employees will be provided appointment cards and can request to meet with staff after hours.

If you have questions, call Kay Robinson, assistant vice chancellor of business affairs for human resources, at Ext. 3274.

Shared Leave Requests

Patricia Deanes, VCAA's office, needs 176 hours, George Syles, Central Stores, still needs 12 hours and Emma Parker, Physical Plant, needs 160 hours to avoid leave without pay due to illness. Call Dale at Ext 3161.

Vol. XXIII, No. 15 November 4, 1993

Bond issue passes!

UNCW can expect some relief for the overcrowded conditions in its science labs and classrooms. On Tuesday, North Carolina voters passed a $310 million bond issue to build improvements to the state's universities. Within the package was an $18.5 million science building for UNCW and $992,000 to enlarge and renovate Bear Hall. The measure passed statewide with 53 percent of the vote. In New Hanover County, the measure passed by 63 percent, and the total for the Southeastern North Carolina region was 55 percent.

"The bond issue result shows the confidence the greater community has in the university," said Chancellor James R. Leutze. "North Carolinians have always been visionary thinkers when it comes to the value of higher education."

UNCW, in partnership with the other universities in the UNC system, mounted an intensive effort to inform the public about the need for the university improvements on the Nov. 2 ballot.

The Chancellor extends his thanks to students, faculty, staff, alumni, parents, trustees and foundation members for their hard work on behalf of the bond issue, and expresses appreciation to the media for its fair coverage.

The new science building and improvements to Bear Hall will help to house rapidly growing programs in chemistry, physics, biology and earth sciences.

UNCW is among the fastest growing campuses in the University of North Carolina system. In recent years, classroom and laboratory space has not kept pace with enrollments, which have swelled by 25 percent in the last five years.

Professor receives $240,000 grant

Dr. Kimon T. Bird, marine biotechnology program coordinator for the Center for Marine Science Research at UNCW, has been awarded a $240,000 grant for a three-year study on sea grass propagation. The grant will fund Bird's proposal, "Development of In Vitro Propagation Technologies for Marine Seagrasses for Use in Habitat Restoration and Genetic Characterization of Seagrass Populations."

The research will focus on developing propagation technologies for marine plants used in habitat restoration.

"Specifically, we'll be using some biotechnology methods," Bird said. "We'll be developing systems to grow marine plants in test tubes, and we will be testing how well these test plants do when they are put back in the field."

The process of looking at sea grasses using detailed genetic information is similar to using DNA fingerprinting for identification purposes, says Bird. It will help identify what kinds of sea grasses work best for restoration purposes.

The grant is administered by the N.C. Sea Grant Program.

Blue-white scrimmage set

The Seahawk Men's Basketball Team will tip off in the Blue-White Scrimmage from 4 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7 in Trask Coliseum. The doors open at 3:30 p.m. for the scrimmage, which is free and open to the public. An autograph signing session with Seahawk players will follow from 5 to 5:30 p.m.

Last year, the Seahawks received their first votes in the CNN-USA Today Top 25 poll and knocked off ACC power N.C. State in Raleigh, its first win ever against an Atlantic Coast Conference opponent. UNCW posted a 17-11 record, among the best in school history. The 'Hawks are picked to finish third in the Colonial Athletic Association division this season.

The Seahawks will debut in an exhibition game against the Charlotte Royals at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18 in Trask Coliseum. The regular season begins at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 26 in Trask against Appalachian State.

INTERIM EDITOR

Mary Ellen Polson will be the interim editor of the Communique for the next few weeks. Send your Communique items to "Communique," 226 Hoggard Hall, or POLSONM on VAX.

Announcements

MCCAFFREY TO SPEAK

Dr. Sue McCaffrey will speak on "How Can Ethnic Violence in Eastern Europe be Resolved?" at 7:30 p.m. today, Nov. 4 in the meeting room of the New Hanover County Public Library. The lecture is the second in a series about ethnic conflict to be offered by members of UNCW's history faculty at the library this fall. The program is free and open to the public.

SUMMER INTERNSHIPS

The N.C. Youth Advocacy and Involvement Office will be available to talk to students about summer internships from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Friday, Nov. 5 in University Center.

FACULTY SENATE MEETS

Last week's Communique listed incorrect times and dates for future Faculty Senate meetings. The Faculty Senate will next meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9 in 114 DeLoach Hall. Next month's meeting will be held at 9 a.m. Dec. 13 in 114 DeLoach.

THESIS DEFENSE

Earth Sciences will present a thesis defense by Julia Kirkland Berger, "Estuarine Evolution in Response to Sea Level Rise in a Small Coastal Plain Estuary, Southeastern North Carolina," at noon Tuesday, Nov. 9 in 224 Friday Hall.

TELECONFERENCE ON CAMPUS UNITY

The Human Relations Committee will sponsor a video teleconference, "We Can Get Along: A Blueprint for Campus Unity" from 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 10 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. All are welcome to attend this free teleconference. For more information, contact Lana Taylor, Randall Library, special collections.

LEAVE DONATIONS APPRECIATED

Helen Washington would like to thank every one who contributed leave to help her with a recent illness. She is back at work now and feeling better.

LOYALTY FUND UPDATE

Many thanks to those faculty and staff members who have already sent in their contributions for the 1993-94 Loyalty Fund. Particularly at this time of year, when there are requests from many different organizations, we are pleased with the response from our own campus. If you have not yet sent in this year's contribution, please take a moment to drop it in Campus Mail, to University Advancement. For more information, call Barbie Cowan, Ext. 3004.

MULTI-CULTURAL WORKSHOP OFFERED

University instructors will demonstrate techniques for choosing, discussing and writing about multi-cultural works in a two-day workshop from 5 to 9 p.m. Nov. 12 and 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Nov. 13. Application has been made for 1 unit of teacher renewal credit. The fee is $48, with an $8 discount for students. The deadline to register is Friday, Nov. 5. To register or for more information, call Public Service and Extended Education, Ext. 3195.

MINORITY VISIT DAY SET

Prospective minority students and their parents are invited to Minority Visit Day Nov. 20. Faculty members, administrators, admissions counselors and financial aid representatives will be on hand to answer questions from 1-5 p.m. in University Center. Student guides will conduct hour-long walking tours of the campus and answer questions about campus life. After the program, visitors are invited to a free dinner in Wagoner Hall.

JAMES EXTENDS THANKS

Many thanks from Marcia James in accounting for the visits, cards, and flowers extended to her and her family following the death of her mother, Lucille Batton.

ALCOHOL TALKS PLANNED

Mike Green, a collegiate consultant on drugs and alcohol, will present a program on "The Four Stages of Drinking" from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Nov. 14 in Cameron Auditorium and from 7 to 8 a.m. Nov. 15 in the Golden Hawk Room. Green's talks are sponsored by the UNCW Athletic Department, Alternatives!, the Colonial Athletic Association and the NCAA Sports Science Program. The university community is invited and admission is free.

HAWK'S NEST SPECIALS

Monday—Meat loaf, mashed potatoes with gravy, green beans, $2.79

Tuesday—Beef stroganoff over noodles and one vegetable, $2.89

Wednesday—Turkey divan roll-ups over rice pilaf and one vegetable, $2.99

Thursday—Barbecue, cole slaw, french fries, $2.99

Friday—Fried flounder, cole slaw, french fries, $2.99

The menu for the faculty/staff dining room buffet next Thursday will offer a "Salad Fiesta" with chicken, tuna, ham, egg, macaroni, pasta and fruit salads, assorted rolls, desserts and beverages for $2.99.

JURIED ART ON DISPLAY

A juried exhibition of artwork by UNCW students will be on view in the University Union Living Room through Dec. 17. The exhibit includes works in a variety of media; several are available for purchase. Union hours are 7 a.m.-11 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Friday, and 4 p.m.-11 p.m. Sunday.

Campus Happenings

MUSEUM BENEFIT ON TAP

UNCW's Museum of World Cultures will hold a benefit auction at 7 p.m. tonight, Thursday, Nov. 4 in University Center Ballroom 4. Items for sale may be viewed from 5 to 7 p.m. at no charge, but bid cards for the auction will cost $3. The auction is open to the public.

CHEMISTRY SENIORS PRESENT

The chemistry department will present its second Senior Seminar at 3 p.m. Friday, Nov. 5 in 114 DeLoach Hall. Topics and speakers will include:

- Peggy Dodd — "Ganciclovir, a Protein Kinase Homologue Controls Phosphorylation of Ganciclovir in Human Cytomegalovirus-infected cells."
- Ned Hill — "Homegrown Diamonds by Low Pressure Chemical Vapor Deposition."

- Dianne King — "The Synthesis of Zeolites."

- Lisa Spiro — "The effects of Ciguatoxin and Maitotoxin on the Calcium, Potassium and Sodium Channels in Cellular Tissues."

Weather permitting, a thermite demonstration will also be given about 4:30 p.m. in the driveway behind DeLoach Hall in honor of Guy Fawkes Day.

MICROCOMPUTER EXPO NOV. 10

Want to find out more about computing and the latest technologies? Academic Computing Services will hold its third annual microcomputer and workstation EXPO from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 10 in University Center Ballroom 1. The expo is open to everyone — particularly for faculty, staff, and students who may never ever used, thought about, or wanted to buy a computer. Among the planned vendor exhibits are Apple, DEC, Silicon Graphics and MicroAge. Free food and beverages will be served.

RECEPTION FOR BISSETTE

A "meet the artist" reception for artist Sam Bissette will be held from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Nov. 14 in University Center Lobby, where Bissette's work, "An Exhibit of Selected Works Created Between 1971-1993," will be on display through Dec. 17. Several of the recent works in the show will be for sale. The reception is free and open to the public.

Another collection by Bissette, "The Universe According to Earth," has been on display in Randall Library since April. Bissette donated the collection to UNCW earlier this year.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Robert Y. George, biological sciences, a member of the UNCW-International Programs Advisory Council, took part in the 16th annual meeting of the Fulbright Association in Washington, D.C., on Oct. 2-5. He also participated in a special seminar for development for new chapters, including one for North Carolina.

Dr. Ileana Clavijo and Dr. David Lindquist, both of biological sciences, have received notification from the Cooperative Institute for Fisheries Oceanography that their proposal, "Is the Gulf Stream the Source of the Presettlement Phase of Reef Fishes in Southern Onslow Bay, North Carolina?" — Field Testing of Light-Traps," has been funded for $10,330.

Dr. Howard Cummings, School of Nursing, has had two articles published: "The Nurse Extern Practicum: A New Partnership between Education and Service," with B.H. Hughes and R.V. Allen, in J. Nursing Staff Development; and "Factors Associated with the Non-Traditional Occupational Choice of Nursing as a Career by Men in North Carolina (U.S.A.)," in Barbados Public Health Nurses Magazine. Cummings was recently accepted into Sigma Zi, the Scientific Research Society.

Dr. Paul Johnston, director, Student Development Center, attended the Association of University College Counseling Center Directors annual conference in Keystone, Col., Oct. 16-20. He was elected to the association's board of directors for a three-year term.

Dr. Ned H. Martin, chemistry, presented a poster on his research entitled "Continuation of the Development of a Proton NMR Shielding Model for the Face of a Phenyl Ring," at the Southeastern Regional Meeting of the American Chemical Society in Johnson City, Tenn., Oct. 17-20. This project is in collaboration with Craig A. Ogle (UNC Charlotte) and Kevin D. Moore (Duke University).

Dr. John Bennett, HPER, recently (Oct. 8-11, 1993) provided the opening keynote address and several other sessions for the Alaskan Association for Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance State Convention in Fairbanks. He spoke on change and leadership in the keynote address, and on how to build developmentally appropriate K-12 health and physical education programs and team building under the guide of the school reform movement in other sessions. He also provided physical education teachers in the Fairbanks city schools with a session on curriculum integration and whole-language techniques in the physical education classroom,

Mathematicians Host Conference

Close to 100 mathematicians from more than a dozen states gathered at UNCW for the 13th Southeastern-Atlantic Regional Conference on Differential Equations Oct. 15-16.

The purpose of the meeting was to promote research on differential equations and to offer scholars an opportunity to exchange ideas and information with other researchers from throughout the Southeast.

More than 60 lectures were presented at the conference, organized by members of the mathematical sciences department. Dr. Gabriel Lugo chaired the organizing committee. Other members were Dr. Thaddeus Dankel, Dr. Russell Herman, Dr. Joseph Yan, Dr. Steven Bianco, Dr. Wei Feng, and Dr. Xin Lu. Each member of the committee also presided over one of the 20 parallel sessions.

Four UNCW faculty members presented papers. Feng presented work done jointly with Lu entitled, "Harmless Delays for Permanence in a Class of Population Models with Diffusion Effect." Yan presented "Bifurcations in Reversible Vector Fields with the presence of Z2-symmetry." Dankel delivered the talk, "On the Stochastic Korteweg-deVries Equation Driven by White Noise." Bianco spoke on his joint work with Dr. Ibrahim Sadek (on leave). The talk was titled "Optimal Control of Time-delayed Systems by Orthogonal Functions."

Other UNCW faculty members who participated were Dr. Douglas Smith, Dr. Kenneth Gurganus, and Dr. David Berman. The organizing committee wishes to thank all those at UNCW who had a hand in making this a successful event.

Jazz Band to Play Benefit Concerts

Student scholarships stand to benefit from two performances by UNCW's Seven O'clock Big Band next week. Under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, the jazz group will play at 9 p.m. Nov. 19 and 20 at Gentleman Jim's Jazz Club, 23 N. Front St. in Wilmington. Admission is $15, or $25 per couple. All proceeds will go towards the UNCW Jazz Scholarship Fund.

The band includes musicians from the greater community as well as university students. Band soloists will be featured throughout each performance as the group swings to jazz standards from Miles Davis, Charlie Parker and Dizzy Gillespie, and contemporary arrangements by the likes of Woody Herman and Count Basie. Guest soloists will include pianist Rudy Tyson, bassist Herman Burney, trumpeter Jon Thornton and Bongiorno, a saxophonist.

For more information or reservations, call Gentleman Jim's, 251-0330.

International Lecture Planned

Mark Serrano, visiting professor and executive-in-residence in the Cameron School of Business Administration, will deliver the first Cameron School of Business Administration International Executive Lecture at 4 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 18 in Cameron Hall Auditorium.

His presentation, "Perspectives on Career Development and Personal Growth in a Multinational Company," will focus on his 26-year career with Philip Morris. The lecture is open to UNCW students, faculty and staff and to residents of the local community.

New Vehicle Request Requirements

Due to insurance regulations, effective Dec. 1, copies of driver's licenses and vehicle requests and invoices signed by a department head and the driver must be turned in to the Motor Fleet office at least one day prior to any planned trip using a state vehicle. No vehicle will be available if paperwork is not complete and presented in advance of the trip. Last minute change of drivers is not possible, due to the new regulations. The Motor Fleet office greatly appreciates the cooperation of faculty and staff in this matter.

Announcements

DEPARTMENT NAME CHANGE

The Department of Educational Design & Management in the School of Education has been renamed the Department of Specialty Studies.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS TO MOVE

The telecommunications department has moved to its new location on Price Drive, across from Campus Police and next to the Academic Service building. The university switchboard and fax machine (395-3486) now located in Alderman Hall will move to the new telecommunications building Dec. 14.

SHARED LEAVE NEEDED

Patricia Deanes still needs our help to avoid leave without pay, as well as Emma Parker. Please be generous and support our fellow employees in their time of need! Call Dale at Ext. 3161, Human Resources, for information.

BICYCLE AUCTION PLANNED

The University Police Department will hold a bicycle auction at 9 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 13 behind the police building on Price Drive. A preview will begin at 7 a.m., and the auction is open to the public.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE AND DRUGS

UNCW alumnus Brian Barndt, a criminal justice liaison with the Coastal Horizons Center in Wilmington, will present "Alcohol, Drugs and Criminal Justice," at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16 in University Center Ballroom 1. The presentation is open to students, faculty and staff and is co-sponsored by the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, the Criminal Justice Club, the Sociology Club and ALTERNATIVES!

THANKSGIVING SCHEDULE

The schedule for Randall Library will be as follows Thanksgiving week.

Tuesday, Nov. 23 — 7:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 24 — 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
Thanksgiving, Nov. 25 — CLOSED
Friday, Nov. 26 — 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

OBITUARY

Steve Foster, formerly on the staff of the psychology department and other campus offices, died at home in Amityville, N.Y., Oct. 27. He will be deeply missed by his many friends and colleagues at UNCW. Those who wish to send condolences to his family can do so by writing the Foster family, 16 Melody Lane, Amityville, NY 11701.

Dr. James D. Johnson, psychology, has had his article, "Construct Accessibility, AIDS and Judgment," accepted for publication in the January issue of Journal of Social Behavior and Personality.

Official Notices

Business Affairs Orientation

Business Affairs will offer an orientation session for new faculty and staff from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Dec. 3 in University Center Ballroom 3. The session will provide an overview of policies, procedures and services offered in Finance, Administrative and Auxiliary Services and Human Resources. Specific information will be provided on the budget process, travel and conference rules and regulations, payroll issues, purchasing regulations, motor fleet services, classification and position description process, recruitment and hiring process, and the disciplinary process. This is also a good session for newly transferred or promoted staff who have some administrative responsibilities for budgets, forms processing, etc.

We welcome your questions at the meeting, or call Kay Robinson, Ext. 3274, prior to Dec. 3 if you have specific topics you want addressed at the meeting. Please call Willina Mitchell, Ext. 3160, if you plan to attend.

Combined Campaign Deadline

UNCW's State Employees Combined Campaign concludes Friday, Nov. 12. This is the only time all year that you can designate contributions for a local, state or national cause of your choice as a payroll deduction. Please return your pledge form to your area's campaign volunteer today or Friday. For more information about the Combined Campaign call Linda Moore, Ext. 3283.

More About Letterhead Changes

UNCW has adopted recycled formal letterhead, envelope, and business card papers. The change will be made in conjunction with the change of the 919 area code to 910, which takes effect Nov. 14.

Departments should begin phasing in the new paper as soon as possible, with Dec. 31, 1993, as a goal for conversion to the new stock. Departments still using gray letterhead with the new area code may deplete their supplies before ordering letterhead on the new paper. UNCW discourages wasting paper, and printing services can convert old letterhead to notepads at your request.

Dependent Care Assistance Plan (DCAP)

November has been designated as an open enrollment period for the Dependent Care Assistance Plan for the 1994 tax year. Information was distributed in October pay envelopes. For enrollment information, call Elizabeth Greene, Ext. 3713. For details on the plan, call the plan administrator, Fringe Benefits Management, (800) 342-8017.

December Paydates

The regular pay date for December for permanent employees will be Monday, Dec. 20. The 1 percent compensation bonus will be paid on Dec. 30. An announcement will be made by Dec. 2 on how the compensation bonus checks will be distributed.

Student Payroll Deadlines

Student time sheets for November are due no later than 3 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24. Payment for time sheets turned in after this date will be delayed until January. Please make sure time sheets are complete before submitting to payroll. Inaccurate or incomplete time sheets may cause delay in payment. Call Tina at Ext. 3752 for more information.

Human Resources Office Hours Change

Effective Nov. 1, Human Resources hours are 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m. A mail slot has been installed in the entrance door for applicants and staff who want to drop off materials at other times. Night shift employees will be provided appointment cards and can request to meet with staff after hours. If you have questions, call Kay Robinson, Ext. 3274.

Human Resources Workshops

The following training workshops will be offered by Human Resources.

"Prepare," 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Nov. 17, 18 and 19, Human Resources Training Room. Cost: $10.

"Stress Management," 2-4 p.m. Nov. 22, Human Resources Training Room.

Please refer to the training catalog for workshop description and registration forms. We encourage everyone to take advantage of these workshops. For more information, call Kimberly Best-Tuten, Ext. 3712.

Faculty and Staff, con't.

Dr. Jonathan Geller, biological sciences, gave an invited lecture at a special symposium on the genetics of the fauna of the California Current at the California Cooperative Oceanic Fisheries Investigations annual meeting at Lake Arrowhead, Calif., Nov. 2.

Dr. Lindsay Pentolfe Aegerter, Dr. Donnalee Frega and Dr. Barbara Waxman, English, attended the South Atlantic Modern Language Association Convention in Atlanta, Nov. 4-6. Waxman chaired a special session on the literature of aging, at which Aegerter delivered a paper titled, "Age and Apartheid: The Triumphs and Tyrannies of South African Traditions," and Waxman delivered a paper titled, "Resisting Memory's Loss: Auto/biographies of Aging by L'Engle and Roth." At a session of the Society for the Study of Southern Literature, Frega delivered a paper titled, "Recording Relevance: Thematizing the Canon in the Contemporary Southern Novel."

Dr. Lloyd P. Jones and Dr. Lee Johnston, both of political science, recently published the featured article, "The Significance of an Altered Runoff Avoidance Rule in the 1990 North Carolina Legislative Elections," in the Southeastern Political Review.

Two UNCW Women Named Glaxo Women in Science

Two UNCW science students were recognized as Glaxo Women in Science Scholars Nov. 15 in Research Triangle Park.

They are Phaedra Doukakis, 21, a biology major, and Clair Weber, 37, majoring in physics. Doukakis and Weber were among 22 undergraduate women who received $1,000 scholarships at Glaxo's Sir Paul Girolami Research & Development Center. Each student was paired with a female scientist from Glaxo who will serve as her mentor during her undergraduate career.

"Statistics show that many promising women students are abandoning scientific studies," said Charles A. Sanders, chairman and CEO of Glaxo and chairman of the Glaxo Foundation. "We cannot afford this loss of skill, knowledge and energy. The Women in Science Scholars program is designed to provide young women not only with financial support, but also role models who will help guide them on to successful careers that will ultimately benefit us all."

Attending from UNCW were the two students; Dr. Carolyn Dunn, assistant professor of biology; Dr. Tim Haywood, professor of physics; Chancellor Jim Leutze and Mimi Cunningham, director of University Relations.

In addition to the incentive scholarships, each participating institution received a $25,000 endowment to provide funding for future Glaxo Women in Science Scholars. Selected by their schools, the students must have a demonstrated interest in science and maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or better on a 4.0 scale.

Alumni Board Seeks Members

The UNCW Alumni Association is seeking nominations for its Board of Directors. Eight full-time positions and six alternate positions will be filled in February.

Full-time appointments are for three-year terms; alternates serve one-year terms.

Nominations are open to anyone who has ever attended the University of North Carolina at Wilmington or Wilmington College. Potential board members should be active in UNCW alumni events, be contributing members of the Alumni Association and be willing to attend board meetings. The Alumni Association Board of Directors meets four times a year.

Resumes should be forwarded by Dec. 31 to Tommy Bancroft, nominations committee chair, or Pat Corcoran, alumni relations director, 108 Alderman Hall, Ext. 3616.

UNCW Gets $485,000 Grant

The Rural Electrification Administration has awarded $484,452 to UNCW to establish six new interactive distance learning sites in rural Brunswick, Pender and Columbus counties. One of 28 awards announced nationwide, the award will be used to buy interactive distance learning equipment.

The development puts Southeastern North Carolina "in a prime position to plug into the information highway," Chancellor James R. Leutze said. The network should be in place by June 1994.

As soon as next fall, the learning network will connect existing sites on the UNCW campus and elsewhere in Wilmington with Cape Fear Community College's Pender campus, Southeastern Community College, Brunswick Community College, West Brunswick High School, Pender High School and Topsail High School.

Cape Fear's Pender campus and Southeastern Community College will join the network first, possibly as soon as spring 1994.

No Communique Next Week

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, there will be no Campus Communique next week. The next Communique will be published Dec. 2.

Bonus Paid Earlier

Good News! Thanks to the accounting department's efforts, the 1 percent compensation bonus will be paid on Dec. 20 instead of Dec. 30. Employees hired into a permanent position prior to July 1, 1993 are eligible to receive the bonus. Pay will go into direct deposit.

Obituary for Space Heaters

Space heaters have been maligned by fire prevention officials for years. They have caused many fires and are a constant threat to our safety. They have also cost the taxpayers untold thousands of dollars because they are an inefficient way to heat. The state Department of Administration recently sounded a death knell for space heaters by issuing a ban on their use on state property. Please remove all space heaters from campus and help make UNCW a safer and more energy efficient workplace.

Welcome New Employees

Recently joining the UNCW staff are: Joanne Demers/Printing Services; Wallace DesChamps/University Union; Sara Roman/Auxiliary Services; Bruce Sommers/Small Business Technical Development Center.

New Vehicle Request Requirements

Due to insurance regulations, effective Dec. 1, copies of driver's licenses and vehicle requests and invoices signed by a department head and the driver must be turned in to the motor fleet office at least one day prior to any planned trip using a state vehicle. No vehicle will be available if paperwork is not complete and presented in advance of the trip. Last minute change of drivers is not possible, due to the new regulations. The motor fleet office greatly appreciates the cooperation of faculty and staff in this matter.

UNCW to Graduate 806 Saturday

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington will award 806 degrees at its 47th commencement exercises at 10 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 4 in Trask Coliseum. Presenting the commencement address will be Dr. Santiago Gangotena, chancellor of the Universidad San Francisco de Quito in Ecuador. An Ecuadorian native, Gangotena earned undergraduate and master's degrees in physics from Auburn University in the late 1960s. He received his doctorate in physics from UNC Chapel Hill in 1977.

This is the third December commencement to be held at UNCW, a development necessitated by an increasing number of students graduating during summer and fall semesters. Even with two commencements a year, the university has implemented a guest ticketing system due to space limitations in Trask Coliseum. Admission is by ticket only. This year, each graduate has been allotted six tickets. Admission to departmental receptions that follow commencement will be open to all guests.

In this graduating class, 749 students will receive bachelor's degrees while 57 will be awarded graduate degrees. Those graduating in December will include 216 bachelor's candidates, 19 graduate students who completed course requirements during the summer and 533 undergraduate and 38 graduate students who finish at the end of the fall 1993 semester.

UNCW will also honor former Wilmington College trustees who served from 1958-1969. These trustees helped lay the groundwork to transform Wilmington College from an associate degree-granting community college to a comprehensive university, awarding baccalaureate and graduate degrees.

Nineteen trustees or their representatives have been invited to attend the Dec. 4 commencement to recognize a special anniversary. Thirty years ago this fall, Wilmington College achieved senior college status by enrolling its first junior class.

Also participating in the ceremonies will be William F. Little, vice president for academic affairs, UNC General Administration; Eunice T. (Bambi) MacRae, chair of the UNCW Board of Trustees; and Ashley T. Wallace, senior class president.

The commencement schedule for Saturday, Dec. 4, is as follows:

- Graduates robe and prepare for processional, 9:15 a.m., Hanover Hall
- Academic processional, 10 a.m., Trask Coliseum
- Commencement exercises, 10 a.m.-noon, Trask Coliseum

Departmental receptions will take place at various departments and professional schools approximately 30 minutes after the conclusion of commencement exercises. Graduates will receive their diplomas at these receptions.

Bongiorno Septet to Perform

Saxophonist Frank Bongiorno will be featured with the Frank Bongiorno Septet at 8 p.m. tonight, Dec. 2 in Kenan Auditorium. The UNCW Septet will also perform. Admission is $5, $3 for students and senior citizens, and free for UNCW students with a valid I.D.

The UNCW Septet will kick off the evening's entertainment with performances of compositions by Bobby Shew and John Coltrane, as well as an original composition by the group's pianist,

The second half of the program will feature Bongiorno's septet and showcase some of North Carolina's finest musicians. Additional performers will include trumpeter Jon Thornton of Charlotte, known for his work with the group Faction; vibraphonist Jon Metzger of Greensboro, a recording artist and soloist; and Wilmington musicians Herman Burney on bass, Rudy Tyson on piano, Rick Hefner on tenor saxophone, drummer Ron Free and Bongiorno on alto sax. The septet will perform a set of original compositions by Bongiorno, which will shortly be recorded by the group for commercial release some time next year.

ARTS IN ACTION

A selected group from the Cape Fear Chordsmen will perform barbershop favorites during the lunch hour Friday, Dec. 3 in University Union and the Hawk's Nest. The performance is sponsored by Arts in Action, a program of the Student Activities Office.

HUNGER BANQUET

The Residence Hall Association, in conjunction with the UNCW Volunteers' program, will present a hunger banquet, an interactive program exploring world hunger, from 6 p.m.-8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 3 in University Union Room 100. Food will be provided. Attendance vouchers will be available for last-minute credit on exam day. The event is open to the UNCW community. Call Ext. 4427 for more information or to reserve a seat. Seats will also be available at the door.

WALK-IN MESSIAH

Walk in to the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra's "Walk-In Messiah" prepared. A preparation rehearsal for the annual event will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5 in 121 Kenan Hall. Vocal scores will be for sale for $7 each from 1:30 to 2 p.m. Those who attend the rehearsal will be eligible for reduced ticket prices ($5 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and $1 for students) to the Walk-In Messiah, which will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 6 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are regularly $10, $8 and $3. For more information, call 791-9262.

HOLIDAY FEAST

UNCW's annual holiday dinner will be offered from 5 to 7 p.m. Dec. 14 in Wagoner Hall. The dinner is open to all faculty and staff members and their families. The cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children 3 to 12, and free for children under 3. Bring your copy of the Campus Communicate and get $1 off for each person in your party. Reservations are requested by Dec. 13; to reserve tickets, call Ext. 3600.

PRICES DROP

Printing Services is happy to announce that Copy Center prices will decrease by approximately 5 percent effective Dec. 1. The price decrease is the result of more efficient equipment and increased volume of copying at the Copy Center, and we are delighted to pass the savings back to our users. Please call Ext. 3083 for a copy of the new price list.

POINSETTIA SALE

Girls Incorporated of Wilmington will hold its annual poinsettia sale through Dec. 23. Red, white or pink poinsettias are $6.50 each. Deliveries will be made to campus Friday, Dec. 3 and Dec. 10. Dr. Robert Mark Spaulding, history, has had his article, "Die Wirtschaft als Instrument deutscher Politik in Osteuropa," appear in Rolf Steininger, ed., Die Doppelte Eindämmung, Europäische Sicherheit und deutsche Frage in den Fünfzigern.

Dr. Ferenc Altrichter, philosophy and religion, had his book, Some Major Arguments in the European Tradition of Philosophy (Észérvek az európai filozófiai hagyományban, Budapest: Atlantisz Publishers, 1993) published in Hungarian.

Rex A. Pringle, campus recreation, presented a program entitled, "Designing Strength and Conditioning Facilities for Recreational Sports — From Ground Breaking to Maintenance," at the National Intramural Recreational Sports Association Region I Conference in Atlanta, Ga. Co-presenter was Richard T. Satterlee of UNC Chapel Hill.

Dr. Walter Conser, philosophy and religion, has published an article, "Transitions and Transformations in Traditional Cherokee Society," in Perspectives on Multiculturalism in North America, edited by C. Pfaff (Berlin: Freie Universität Berlin).

Dr. Cecil Willis, sociology and anthropology, and Dr. Earl Sheridan, political science, delivered a paper entitled, "Perceptions of the Criminal Justice System and Willingness to Serve on a Jury," at the annual meeting of the American Society of Criminology in Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 27-30.

Dr. Charles M. Fugler, biological sciences, has been appointed adjunct professor in the Department of Ecology, Evolution and Organismal Biology and in the Vertebrate Museum of Natural History at Tulane University in New Orleans. Fugler, who will retire at the conclusion of the 1993-94 academic year, will also be associated with the Tulane University Latin American Studies Center.

Drs. David E. Blake, James A. Dockal, John R. Huntsman, Richard A. Laws and Michael S. Smith, earth sciences, recently attended the 1993 N.C.

Geological Society annual meeting in Hendersonville. A memorial address for Dr. Victor A. Zullo (president of geological society as the time of his death in July), prepared by Dr. W. Burleigh Harris, earth sciences, was read at the society's annual banquet.

Dr. Michael Bradley, psychology, recently gave an invited presentation, "Coping with Change," at the fifth annual Maternity Fair, sponsored by the New Hanover County Health Department, Cape Fear Memorial Hospital and the American Lung Association.

Dr. Jonathan Geller, biological sciences, presented an invited lecture at the Duke Marine Laboratory on November 12. The title of the lecture was "Molecular Approaches to Marine Ecology: Biological Invasions and Species Extinction."

Dr. Stephen Pullum, communication studies, presented two papers at the Speech Communication Association Convention held recently in Miami Beach. Pullum's first paper was entitled "Pentecostal Prayer as Public Discourse: Faith, Culture and the Vision of God." His second paper, "Obstacles to Overcome in the Implementation of a Program to Reduce Communication Apprehension and Avoidance in the Basic Public Speaking Course," was co-authored with Dr. Bruce McKinney, communication studies. McKinney also presented, "Strategic Mediator Choices and Success of Mediation Outcome," which was co-authored with Drs. Rex Fuller and Bill Kinsey of James Madison University. McKinney also taught a short course, "Teaching the College Course in Mediation and Conflict Management." Finally, McKinney conducted a seminar series, "Crisis Communication and Intergroup Relations," with Dr. Deborah Brunson, communication studies.

Dr. P. Allen Gray, Jr., nursing, has published "Can Nursing Centers Provide Health Care?" in the October 1993 issue of Nursing and Health Care.

Dr. Judy Peel, HPER, recently presented a paper entitled, "The Multicultural Experience: Health Issues of Migrant Children," at the N.C. Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, Nov. 11-13 in Greensboro.

"Turn Off" Coming in '94

The Environmental Concerns Organization and the Chancellor's Energy Conservation Committee will co-sponsor an energy conservation program, "The Big Turn Off," beginning in 1994.

Inspired by a program at Harvard University, the Big Turn Off will encourage energy conservation in dormitories and other buildings throughout the UNCW campus. The program's purpose is to educate students, faculty and staff about energy conservation and to reduce the university's energy costs; the program at Harvard saved that university about $500,000.

From February through April, campus buildings will be monitored in the following categories each month: heat consumption, electricity consumption and water consumption. For the purposes of competition, buildings will be divided into residential and non-residential categories. The monthly energy consumption for each building will be compared to consumption rates for the building in the same month of the previous year. The results will be used to reach a "conservation quotient" for each building, or for each group of buildings, as in the case of apartments. The building which shows the greatest reduction in energy usage will win the competition in its category.

An overall winning building in each category will be announced after the April figures are in. The winning buildings will receive awards to be selected by a committee which will take into account overall energy savings.

Since recycling is not always available in all buildings at all times, the energy savings from recycling will not be factored in this year. Recycling may be added at a future date. For more about the Big Turn Off, call Charlie Maimone, Ext. 3178.

Finance Students Present

It's the truism that the world is one big marketplace. On Dec. 8, fourteen of Dr. Ronald E. Copley's finance students analyzed the international dimension in investment management markets, specifically the Orient, in presentations in UNCW's Cameron Hall.

The class was divided into four groups representing Hong Kong, Sri Lanka, Indonesia and the People's Republic of China. To show the benefits of interacting with other countries, each group researched three elements: economic development, capital market conditions and methods of investing.

Copley organized the "country reports" and investment presentations. The students, who had been researching and analyzing their countries throughout the semester, made professional presentations followed by a question and answer session.

CHORUS DATE CHANGES

Recently all faculty and staff received a memo from Kenan Auditorium offering discount tickets for the musical A Chorus Line, to be performed in Kenan Auditorium. Due to unforeseen routing problems, the performance date has been changed. Presented by Gordon Crowe Productions, A Chorus Line will be performed at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 20.

All tickets issued with the original date will be honored at the Dec. 20 performance. If the change of date is not convenient for you, the box office will refund your money. The staff of Kenan Auditorium regrets any inconvenience this change has caused.

Tickets are regularly $25 and $22 for reserved seats; members of the university community are eligible for a 10 percent discount.

If you are now eligible for a group rate, please contact the box office to obtain credit. Box office hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday. The phone number is 791-9695 or (800) 732-3643.

HOLIDAY PARTY

Chancellor and Mrs. James R. Leutze cordially invite all faculty and staff members and their guests to join them in celebrating the holiday season from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 15 in Wagoner Hall.

CASH FOR COPY

The copy center has added cash sales for UNCW faculty, staff and students. All sales must be items incident to the university's educational process, such as classroom handouts paid for by students, graduate theses, etc. The copy center is prohibited by law from providing any non-university related personal copying.

DONATE CANNED GOODS

Faculty and staff are invited to donate canned or dry goods for the Domestic Violence Shelter through Dec. 17 in the lobby of Alderman Hall.

TRAFFIC CONSULTATION PLANNED

Chancellor James R. Leutze has announced that a traffic consultant will be brought in next semester to address traffic issues on campus. This is in response to the many concerns about on-campus traffic voiced by students, faculty and staff.

BOOKSTORE INVENTORY

The UNCW Bookstore will be closed all day Dec. 17 to take a fiscal inventory. The store will reopen at 7:45 a.m. Dec. 20.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Terry Theodore, fine arts, has signed a contract with Salem Press to do a study on poet/novelist/critic James Dickey. He will examine Dickey's work and focus on his second novel, Alnilam. The study will be published next year in Masterplots II: American Fiction. Dickey visited and lectured at UNCW last year.

Dr. Matthew L. TenHuisen, mathematical sciences, has had a paper, "Vector Optimization and Generalized Lagrangian Duality," accepted for publication in Annals of Operations Research: Support Systems for Decision and Negotiation Processes. The paper contains new scalarization techniques for generating non-dominated solutions of non-convex multiple objective programming problems and was co-authored by Dr. M.M. Wiecek of Clemson University.

Dr. Teresita J. Parra, foreign languages and literatures, has had her book, Visión histórica en la obra de Arturo Uslar Pietri, published by Editorial Pliegos, Madrid. It deals with the historical vision of the New World through the works of this Venezuelan writer.

Cathy Birmingham, student affairs, recently graduated from the N.C. Public Manager Program as a Certified Public Manager.

Dr. Robert Brown, psychology, and Dr. Sue Lamb, arts and sciences, recently participated in the inaugural celebration of the Institute for College and University Teaching at Western Carolina University. Both Brown and Lamb serve on the board advisory committee for the Center for Teaching Excellence.

Dr. Michael Mallin, biological sciences, gave an invited presentation, "Meteorological Forcing of Algal Blooms in North Carolina Rivers and Estuaries," at the Estuarine Research Federation meeting in Hilton Head Island, S.C., Nov. 15-18.

Dr. Bob Toplin, history, participated in a 90-minute discussion with Ron Maxwell, director of the motion picture Gettysburg, on New York City talk radio. Toplin was also invited speaker in a conference on war, history and film at the Rutgers University Center for Historical Analysis.

Faculty and Staff, con't.

A research article, "Some Coexistence and Extinction Results for a 3-species Ecological System," by Dr. Wei Feng and Dr. Xin Lu, mathematical sciences, has been accepted for publication by the journal Differential and Integral Equations.

Dr. Ann Lockledge, curricular studies, attended the National Council for the Social Studies annual meeting in Nashville, where she presented a paper, "Developing Civic Competence Using Social Mathematics;" appeared on a panel, "Teacher Preparation for Leadership," for the National Social Studies Supervisors' Association; and chaired a round table: "Middle School Connections: Strategies for Excellence in Social Studies."

A proposal by Dr. Charles Ward, Science and Math Education Center, and Dr. Thomas Shafer, biological sciences, "An Inquiry Approach to Animal Development for Elementary Teachers," has been funded for $26,793 by the UNC Mathematics and Science Education Network. The grant period is from Oct. 1, 1993 through March 31, 1995.

A proposal by Dr. Charles Ward, Science and Math Education Center, and Dr. Jack Hall, earth sciences, "Training Teacher Leaders in the Geology of North Carolina," has been funded for $33,050 by the UNC Mathematics and Science Education Network. The grant period is from Oct. 1, 1993 through March 31, 1995.

A proposal by Dr. Charles Ward, Science and Math Education Center, and Dr. James Reeves, chemistry, "Implementing Computerized Data Acquisition in High School Science Laboratories," has been funded for $30,907 by the UNC Mathematics and Science Education Network. David Blake and John Huntsman, earth sciences, for geological mapping and structural analysis in support of the 100K geological mapping program, have been funded for $3,548 by the N.C. Department of Environment, Health and Natural Resources. The grant period is from Nov. 1, 1993 through Aug. 31, 1994.

Official Notices

Medical Insurance Deductions

Payroll deductions for medical insurance are made on a pre-tax basis automatically, unless you complete a benefit rejection form each year. For most employees, this results in a 30 percent savings. However, employees who are eligible for the earned income tax credit should determine if they would be better off paying with after-tax dollars and claiming the health insurance tax credit on their tax return.

Parking Safely

University Police would like to make members of the university community aware of a recent rash of tire slashings and vandalism in the area. While the problem is not isolated to the university, there have been several incidents involving university personnel and vehicles. Anyone observing any suspicious persons or activity should notify University Police immediately.

We also recommend that anyone who needs to leave a vehicle on campus for an extended period of time park in Lot BB, adjacent to the University Police building, or leave the vehicle in a well-lighted area.

Leave Donations Needed

Remember our fellow employees Diane Billings, Patricia Deanes and Emma Parker when you are reviewing your leave balances at the end of the year. You can help them avoid leave without pay by donating some of your excess hours to them. Call Dale at Ext. 3161 for more information.

Student Payroll Deadlines

The deadline for submitting student time sheets is 3 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 21. Please make sure time sheets are complete, signed and forwarded to Payroll by the deadline.

Excess Leave Transfer

For the first time, employees who have accrued more than 240 hours of vacation leave as of Dec. 31 may transfer amounts in excess of 240 hours to their sick leave account. The policy is also in effect on a pro-rated basis for part-time employees.

Here's how to transfer excess vacation leave hours. In the bottom margin of the December time sheet or leave record card, subtract any hours in excess of 240 from the vacation column and add them to the sick leave column. Bring the new balances forward for January.

How will sick leave balances effect retirement benefits? A participant in the Teachers & State Employees Retirement System may convert up to 96 hours of sick leave to retirement service credit for each year of participation in the retirement system. One month of credit is allowed for each 160 hours of unused sick leave.

EXAMPLE: An employee with 20 years retirement service and 2,000 hours of accrued sick leave applies for retirement. He may convert 96 hours for each year of service: 96 hours x 20 years = 1,920 hours (the excess 80 hours is forfeited at this time). One month of credit is allowed for each 160 hours of sick leave. One more month is allowed for any hours left over: 1,920 divided by 160 = 12.25 months. Total creditable service would be 21 years, one month. Unused sick leave does not have a value for members of the Optional Retirement Plan (TIAA/CREF, VALIC, or LINCOLN NATIONAL). Also, employees may donate vacation leave to any approved candidate in the shared leave program in lieu of transferring hours to sick leave. For more information on transfer of leave, call Alice Maile, Ext. 3392; for shared leave, Dale Lockwood, Ext. 3161; for retirement credit, Kay Fryar, Ext. 3698.

Delta Tau Delta Sponsors Math League

The UNCW chapter of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity has organized the Delta Mathematics League for high schools across North Carolina. Participating teams include New Hanover and Laney high schools in Wilmington, Southwest Guilford in Greensboro, and West Mecklenburg in Charlotte.

The league is designed for students with a strong grasp of mathematical application, but does not require advanced study. The competition revolves around five tests, given between October and February.

"This league provides an opportunity to elevate high school academic stars to that plateau generally reserved for athletes," said Jonathan Rowell, a UNCW senior who is director of academic affairs for the Zeta Tau Chapter of Delta Tau Delta. "We think that recognition may inspire other students to work harder at their studies."

In keeping with the goal of enhancing academic stars, each test is considered a conference "meet." Participating schools may enter up to three teams of five members each. Each team's score is the sum of its four highest individual scores. At the end of the fifth test, final conference standings will be determined. Awards will be presented to the top two teams and the top three individuals in the league.

Southwest Guilford's Team 1 won the first meet. Laney High's Micol Christopher had a perfect score.

African-American Leadership Conference Set

Bev Smith, host of Black Entertainment Television's prime time talk show, Our Voices, will be the keynote speaker for the second N.C. African-American Student Leadership Conference, to be held Feb. 4-6 on the UNCW campus. Smith will speak at the closing banquet Saturday night.

The purpose of the conference is to develop and strengthen the leadership skills of African-American students and communities. It will also serve as a means of addressing problems faced by African-Americans as students, citizens and leaders in society. About 250 students and advisers are expected from across the state, and UNCW students are encouraged to participate.

The cost to attend the conference is $10 for UNCW students and $25 for faculty and staff members. The registration fee covers the cost of four meals, workshops, a dance, conference entertainment and keynote sessions. Tickets for the banquet only will be $15.

The deadline to register is Jan. 21. For more information, contact Reggie Perry in the Leadership Center, 212 University Union, Ext. 3877.

Nursing School Gets Honor Charter

The Honor Society of the UNCW School of Nursing was chartered as a chapter of Sigma Theta Tau International at the 32nd Biennial Convention of Sigma Theta Tau International, held Nov. 29-Dec. 3 in Indianapolis. The petition was presented by local President Rebecca Harrison and Dr. Marlene Rosenkoetter, dean of the School of Nursing.

"This is a significant milestone in the history of the School of Nursing and everyone is to be commended for their efforts to acquire the charter," said Rosenkoetter.

The chapter installation is planned for April. There are more than 100 members in the local chapter. Membership is based on scholarship, including grade point average, class standing, leadership capabilities and member endorsement.

Next Communique to Appear Jan. 13

Because of the Christmas holiday break and job vacancies, the Campus Communique will next be published Thursday, Jan. 13. As always, the deadline is NOON TUESDAY. A new editor should be named shortly; until further notice, send Communique items to CUNNINGHAMM by VAX, or to University Relations, 104 Alderman Hall.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Robert W. Smith, School of Education, presented a paper, "Schooling and the Formation of Students' Gender Identities," at the National Social Studies Annual Conference Nov. 18-22 in Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Deborah Dowd, HPER, recently presented research, "Psychological Characteristics of Older Adults Participating in Senior Games," at the NCAAHPERD Convention in Greensboro. Co-presenters were Dr. Diane Gill and Lavon Williams of UNC Greensboro.

Dr. Frank Bongiorno has been appointed contributing writer for Jazz Player Magazine, an internationally distributed trade magazine. He will write a bi-monthly column, "Beginning Jazz Improvisers." Bongiorno's first article, "Major Scales as Well as Major and Minor Chords," was published in the December/January 1993 issue.

Dr. Andrew F. Clark, history, presented the paper, "Environment and Ecology in the Upper Senegal Valley, 1905-1914," to the annual meeting of the African Studies Association, held in Boston Dec. 4-7.

An article titled "Linking Women Across Generations: The Journals and Letters of Lessing and Sartre," by Dr.

Barbara Frey Waxman, English, has been published in Communication and Women's Friendships: Parallels and Intersections in Literature and Life, ed. Ward & Mink, Bowling Green State University Popular Press, 1993, pp. 27-43. A book edited by Waxman, Multicultural Literatures Through Feminist/Poststructuralist Lenses, has just been published by the University of Tennessee Press. The book contains an introduction, conclusion and an essay on Morrison's Beloved by Waxman, as well as essays by Dr. John Clifford, Dr. Janet Ellerby, Dr. Kathy Rugoff and Dr. Lee Schweninger, all of English, and an essay by Dr. Teresita J. Parra, foreign languages and literature.

Dr. Russell Herman, mathematical sciences, recently presented a talk at the Sixth Annual International Conference on Technology in Collegiate Mathematics Nov. 4-7 in Parsippany, N.J. The talk, "Integrating Technology into Calculus," will be published in a proceedings next year. Herman was also invited to preside over one of the sessions at this meeting. Herman has also been invited to have the article "Soliton Propagation in Near Integrable Discrete Systems," published in the journal Teoreticheskaya i Matematicheskaya Fizika as part of a two-issue coverage of the Proceedings of the NEEDS '93 Workshop. The article is scheduled to appear in early 1994. It will later be republished by Plenum Press in the issues of Theoretical and Mathematical Physics.

University Police officers Sgt. Rebecca Marshburn and Major Robert Riley have been awarded advance law enforcement certificates from the N.C. Department of Justice Criminal Justice Standards Division. This award is the highest level of certification in the state and is awarded based on a formula which combines formal education, law enforcement training and actual experience as law enforcement officers. Marshburn and Riley join Chief Billy Dawson, Wayne Howell and Charlie Willis as the department's advance certification holders.

A proposal by Dr. Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, "RUI: Assessing the Chemical Defenses of Caribbean Sponges," has been funded for $177,000 for three years by the National Science Foundation. The grant period is from Jan. 1, 1994 through June 30, 1997. The funding for the second and third years is dependent on the scientific progress of the project.

Official Notices

Holiday Schedule

Dec. 24, 27, 28, 29 and 31 are paid holidays this year. Dec. 30 will be charged to vacation leave or accrued comp time. Employees who do not have sufficient vacation or accrued comp time to cover the day may incur a negative comp time balance, with supervisory approval.

Negative comp time should be cleared with the first required extra time worked. In the event that no comp time is required and a supervisor elects to allow an employee to work extra time, the extra time worked must be in a week when the extra hours will not incur a time-and-one-half liability. (That is, in a week the employee has not worked 40 hours due to a holiday, vacation or sick leave use.)

All negative comp time must be cleared by Feb. 28, 1993, or the time sheet should be forwarded to Human Resources for a payroll deduction in March. For more information, call Kay Fryar, Ext. 3698.

Child Involvement Leave

Human Resources is developing information for supervisors on administering the new child involvement leave policy. Details will be announced in January.

Compensation Bonus

The 1 percent compensation bonus will be paid on Dec. 20 by direct deposit for permanent staff and faculty employed on or before July 1, 1993. The following withholding will apply: federal tax — 20 percent; state tax — 6 percent; FICA — 7.65 percent; retirement — 6 percent.

Shared Leave

Remember to consider sharing leave when you sign your time sheet this month. Diane Billings, Student Affairs, will need help to avoid leave without pay in February. Please call Dale at Ext. 3161 to donate.

New Employees

Welcome: Lee Brinkley/Admissions; Jeffrey Linney/University Police.

Medical Insurance

Payroll deductions for medical insurance are made on a pre-tax basis automatically, unless you complete a benefit rejection form each year. For most employees, this results in a 60 percent savings; however, employees who are eligible for the earned-income tax credit should determine if they would be better off paying with after-tax dollars and claiming the health insurance tax credit on their tax return. For more information or a benefit rejection form, call Elizabeth Greene, Ext. 3713.

Excess Leave Transfer

For the first time, employees who have accrued more than 240 hours of vacation leave as of Dec. 31 may transfer amounts in excess of 240 hours to their sick leave account. The policy is also in effect on a pro-rated basis for part-time employees.

Here's how to transfer excess vacation leave hours. In the bottom margin of the December time sheet or leave record card, subtract any hours in excess of 240 from the vacation column and add them to the sick leave column. Bring the new balances forward for January.

How will sick leave balances effect retirement benefits? A participant in the Teachers & State Employees Retirement System may convert up to 96 hours of sick leave to retirement service credit for each year of participation in the retirement system. One month of credit is allowed for each 160 hours of unused sick leave.

EXAMPLE: An employee with 20 years retirement service and 2,000 hours of accrued sick leave applies for retirement. He may convert 96 hours for each year of service: 96 hours x 20 years = 1,920 hours (the excess 80 hours is forfeited at this time). One month of credit is allowed for each 160 hours of sick leave. One more month is allowed for any hours left over: 1,920 divided by 160 = 12.25 months. Total creditable service would be 21 years, one month. Unused sick leave does not have a value for members of the Optional Retirement Plan (TIAA/CREF, VALIC, or LINCOLN NATIONAL). Also, employees may donate vacation leave to any approved candidate in the shared leave program in lieu of transferring hours to sick leave. For more information on transfer of leave, call Alice Maile, Ext. 3392; for shared leave, Dale Lockwood, Ext. 3161; for retirement credit, Kay Fryar, Ext. 3698.

EEO/AA Roles Clarified

Equal employment opportunity and affirmative action responsibilities have been separated from other federal regulatory and compliance responsibilities. Given the importance and complexity of various federal compliance programs, the following assignments will best provide for meeting the university's obligations.

Sam Connally, assistant to the chancellor for EEO/AA and Quality Management, functions as the university's "EEO/AA officer." He is responsible for monitoring the university's employment programs to ensure they are free of discriminatory factors. Questions concerning employment discrimination may be referred to Connally at 395-3855. SPA employees may also contact Kay Robinson, assistant vice chancellor for Business Affairs.

Nikki Howard, director of Internal Audit, functions as the university's "compliance officer." She is responsible for monitoring the university's overall compliance with federal regulations. Questions regarding access or entitlement under any federal program may be referred to Howard at 395-3835.

Student Payroll Deadlines

The deadline for submitting student time sheets is 3 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 21. Please make sure time sheets are complete, signed and forwarded to Payroll by the deadline.

Total Quality University Update

UNCW has undertaken a total quality management initiative designed to bring a formal structure to our efforts to improve the administrative and academic processes of the university. This initiative begins with the chancellor, vice chancellors and academic deans committing themselves and their staffs to the principle of continuous improvement.

Like any total quality initiative, UNCW's Total Quality University (TQU) is founded on the following key assumptions: 1) employees at all levels of the university must be committed to and personally involved in the process of improving the services they provide; 2) our focus in improving services must be on the students, employees, or other constituents or customers who receive our services; and 3) the best ideas for improving processes critical to the university's continuing success come from the people who actually provide those services.

To initiate a quality review team, senior academic or administrative officers identify processes that are critical to the university's success and that appear to provide significant improvement opportunities. The academic or administrative officer responsible for budgetary and policy-making decisions affecting the process becomes the team's "sponsor." The department head or unit manager directly responsible for providing the service becomes the "team leader," while employees who actually have their hands on the work become "team members." Each team also is assigned a "facilitator," trained in the TQU process and small group interaction, to assist in the quality review process.

The following quality review teams have been formed and have begun or will soon begin their work:

Voice Response Registration and Financial Aid Quality Assurance Program (Academic Affairs); Selected Accounting Procedures and Selected Central Stores Procedures (Business Affairs); General Catalogue Publication (Public Service and Extended Education); Undergraduate Student Employment (Student Affairs); and Public Information Services (University Advancement).

If you would like to learn more about UNCW's TQU initiative and the steps you need to take to start a quality initiative in your own department, you are invited to participate in a TQU Overview Workshop from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 18 or Thursday, Jan. 20, in the Human Resources Training Room. Call ext. 3030 to reserve a seat.

CASE OF THE MISSING RED COAT

A full-length red wool coat was reported missing after the Faculty/Staff Christmas Party at Wagoner Hall on Dec. 15. Please check your closets for an unidentified red coat, it would be appreciated. The coat can be returned to the Student Accounts Office. Thanks for your help in the search.

New Editor For "Communique"

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself as Gina Roundtree, the new Campus Communique editor.

Born and raised in Illinois, I graduated from Illinois State University with a major in public relations and a minor in business administration. My career began in Chicago, Ill. for the American Society of Anesthesiologists as communications assistant. There, I was involved with media relations, the monthly magazine, national public education campaigns and a variety of other tasks.

From there I moved to the Muscular Dystrophy Association in Champaign, Ill. as district director. My responsibilities included fund raising, the chapter newsletter and media relations.

In June, my husband and I relocated to Wilmington where I am now pleased to be part of the UNCW team. I look forward to working with you on the Communique and other university endeavors.

The Communique schedule will remain status quo with a noon deadline on Tuesdays. I welcome announcements and ideas for upcoming issues.

You can reach me at ext. 4082 and can send future Communique items to Communique, Gina Roundtree, c/o University Relations or ROUNDTREEG on VAX.

AMERICAN DIABETES ASSOCIATION

Dr. Jorge Gonzalez will present "DCCT Results and Your Diabetes" at the New Hanover County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association's meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Center on Shipyard Blvd.

FEMINIST COLLOQUIUM

Dr. Ele McKenna and Carolyn Pittman will lead the discussion, during a brown bag lunch, of the Feminist Colloquium on Wednesday, Jan. 19, at noon in Morton Hall's faculty common on a chapter from Deborah Tannen's "You Just Don't Understand: Women and Men in Conversation." The chapter is on reserve at the library under Feminist Colloquium or call Janet Ellerby at ext. 3764 for copies.

VOLUNTEERS! PROGRAM

The Volunteers! Program is recruiting volunteers for six community agencies. If you are interested in assisting someone in need, please come to a meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 5 p.m. in University Center Ballroom 2 or Wednesday, Jan. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in University Center Ballroom 3. For information, call ext. 3827.

FOR SALE

The Philosophy and Religion Department has an Apple Image Writer II in excellent condition for sale for $250. If a department is interested in purchasing this printer, contact Margaret Bailey at ext. 3406.

TAKE BACK THE NIGHT

The next planning meeting for the 1994 "Take Back the Night" march and rally is scheduled for Jan. 19 at 4 p.m. in Room 100-A, University Union. Committees will be formed and all faculty and staff are invited to participate. For more information, call Diane Edwards at ext. 3577.

CAMPUS RECREATION

The spring calendar is now on the Videotex system. All current Heart and Sole fitness schedules, Discover Outdoor programs, special event listings and intramurals can be accessed through the VAX under Faculty and Staff Interests. Please check with Campus Recreation for special holiday and weekend schedule changes. Also, fitness cards to the Heart and Sole facility are available for spouses.

COPY CARDS

The volume of department copies made with the new copy cards may be tracked in two ways. An arbitrary figure of $9999 was assigned to each card as required by the software. This balance decreases by 6 cents when a copy is made. Monthly copier usage may be tracked by recording the balance as displayed on the reader at the end of each month. Subtract the current month's balance from the previous month's balance to determine amount spent for copies. To determine number of copies, divide the dollar amount by 6 cents.

Also, the format for the information on your FRS report concerning copier usage will be unchanged, and you will be able to use this information to determine exact number of copies and amount billed for copying. If you have any questions, contact Debbie at ext. 3083 or Brenda at ext. 3563.

ALDRICH GIVES THANKS

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to the campus community, and especially to my coworkers in the Telecommunications Department, for their many acts of kindness, cards, visits, telephone calls, flowers and words of encouragement during my surgery, hospitalization, treatment and long recovery period. Your support has given me much strength and comfort.

Student Activities Office name is now Campus Activities Office. Same location and telephone number — University Union, Room 202, 395-3827.

EEO/AA Roles Clarified

Equal employment opportunity and affirmative action responsibilities have been separated from other federal regulatory and compliance responsibilities. Given the importance and complexity of various federal compliance programs, the following assignments will best provide for meeting the university's obligations.

Sam Connolly, assistant to the chancellor for EEO/AA and Quality Management, functions as the university's "EEO/AA officer." He is responsible for monitoring the university's employment programs to ensure they are free of discriminatory factors. Questions concerning employment discrimination may be referred to Connolly at 395-3855. SPA employees may also contact Kay Robinson, assistant vice chancellor for Business Affairs.

Nikki Howard, director of Internal Audit, functions as the university's "compliance officer." She is responsible for monitoring the university's overall compliance with federal regulations. Questions regarding access or entitlement under any federal program may be referred to Howard at 395-3835.

COMMUNITY CORNER

"Rumors" to be Presented

Opera House Theatre Company proudly presents Neil Simon's hilarious comedy, Rumors, on Jan. 12-16 and Jan. 21-23 at Thalian Hall Center of the Performing Arts.

Rumors is about four couples attending an anniversary party of the deputy mayor of New York who cover up the fact that the host has suffered a flesh wound by shooting himself and that his wife is missing.

All performances are at 8 p.m. For ticket information and reservations, call the Center Box Office at 763-3398 or 343-3664.

African-American Leadership Conference Scheduled

Bev Smith, host of Black Entertainment Television's prime time talk show, Our Voices, will be the keynote speaker for the second N.C. African-American Student Leadership Conference, to be held Feb. 4-6 on the UNCW campus. Smith will speak at the closing banquet on Saturday, Feb. 5, at 7 p.m. at the University Center Ballroom.

The purpose of the conference is to develop and strengthen the leadership skills of African-American students and communities. It also will serve as a means of addressing problems faced by African-Americans as students, citizens and leaders in society. About 250 students and advisers are expected from across the state, and UNCW students are encouraged to participate.

The cost to attend the conference is $10 for UNCW students and $25 for UNCW faculty and staff members. The registration fee covers the cost of four meals, workshops, a dance, conference entertainment and keynote sessions. Tickets for the banquet only are $15.

The deadline to register is Jan. 21. For more information, contact Reginald Perry at ext. 3877.

Loyalty Fund Update

We are on our way to reaching our Loyalty Fund goal for this year. Many of you may have not taken the time yet to make a gift, so please consider this a reminder to do so. Faculty and staff participation is critical to our overall effort.

UNCW operates on an academic calendar year; however, giving is recorded by fiscal year (July 1 to June 30).

Therefore, if you gave a gift anywhere between July 1, 1992, and June 30, 1993, it is considered a gift for last year (fiscal '93). We are currently in the fiscal '94 year, so if you have not yet taken part in Loyalty Fund '94, please make the effort to do so.

Your contribution can be directed to a certain area as outlined in the Loyalty Fund brochure you received earlier this year:

- Greatest Need (or unrestricted) Gifts

Your contribution is directed to identified areas of special financial need such as scholarships, special programs and academic development.

- Charles L. Cahill Fund

Your contribution is pooled and used for research and development programs identified by this area.

- Department Trust Fund

Your gift is directed to the department you specify and added to their fund which provides for professional development and/or resource materials needed.

- Staff Development

Your gift is pooled with other gifts specified for this fund which provides for professional development for staff members.

Please know that your gift is important and that every dollar raised is crucial to our continuing development for faculty, staff and our students.

Barbie Cowan can be contacted at ext. 3004 for any questions.

Bolen Announces Resignation

Dr. Eric G. Bolen, dean of the graduate school, has tendered his resignation effective July 1, 1994. Bolen, whose scholarly specialty is wildlife ecology, with emphasis on the conservation and management of natural resources, plans to remain at UNCW and return to full-time teaching in the Department of Biological Sciences.

"UNCW is deeply indebted to Dean Bolen for his dedication in shaping a graduate education program that meets the needs and interests of the Southeast region and that is establishing a national reputation for excellence," said UNCW Provost Marvin K. Moss. "He has helped UNCW to fulfill a very important part of its mission, and I know that its graduate faculty and students will miss his wise leadership."

Following a national search, Bolen came to UNCW in 1988 as the first dean of the graduate school which was officially established in November 1987. During his tenure, graduate program offerings increased from four to 11 master's programs and added a cooperative doctoral program in marine science with NC State University. A 12th program, the master of arts in psychology, will be offered beginning fall 1994. Three additional master's programs are pending approval of the UNC Board of Governors: master of fine arts in creative writing, master of liberal arts, and master of accountancy.

"Although I have, by choice, maintained classroom contact with students throughout my administrative career, I now plan to increase my level of involvement with teaching, including the initiation of a new course or two," Bolen commented.

Depending on departmental needs, he hopes to develop and teach classes in conservation biology, general ecology, and if demand permits, one in avian ecology. Released in December 1993, Bolen's most recently published book is "Mississippi Kite: Portrait of a Southern Hawk," written with Dan Flores at the University of Montana with some photos furnished by Jack Dermid, former professor of biology at UNCW.

"I'm pleased to have been involved with the development of the graduate school at UNCW, including my day-to-day association with so many members of the faculty, staff and administration interested in quality graduate education," he said.

In addition to his work in the graduate program, Bolen has an academic appointment as a full professor in the Department of Biological Sciences where he has regularly taught seminars and other courses in his field.

Names Quilt Earnings Check Presented

Deborah Haywood, Chair of the Cape Fear Host Committee, and Jennifer Phelps, Co-Chair of the Cape Fear Host Committee and a senior nursing student at UNCW, presented the NAMES Quilt earnings check for $9,104.40 to Nina Brown, a GROW representative.

The money was raised during the weekend of Oct. 21-24, 1993, when the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt was on display at UNCW. Funding of the project came through contributions and donations made by corporate sponsors and individuals. All proceeds left over from display expenses were set aside to benefit GROW: A Community Service Corporation. This non-profit organization will use this money to give direct care to people living with HIV/AIDS in our community.

"Those of us who worked to bring the Names Project AIDS Memorial Quilt to Wilmington are very appreciative of the warmth, caring and generous financial support shown by the community for the worthy project," stated Deborah Haywood.

Spangler Foundation Gives Gift to UNC Campuses

The family foundation of C.D. Spangler, Jr. announced that a gift of $10 million over the next 10 years will be shared between the 16 campuses. Spangler hopes the money will be used to establish endowments for distinguished professorships and to fund existing professorships.

Among the chairs to be established are the Raymond H. Dawson Distinguished Professorship in Political Science at UNC at Chapel Hill and the Julia Jones Daniels Distinguished Professorship at the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem. Dawson, professor at UNCW, formerly taught in the political science department at UNCCH.

NATIONAL STUDENT EXCHANGE

Do you know of any students who would be interested in attending another campus without out-of-state fees? The National Student Exchange Program allows UNCW students to attend another school for one or two semesters while paying UNCW tuition and fees. This is an easy avenue for students to take advantage of the academic and geographic strengths of another institution. For more information, contact Linda Moore at ext. 3283.

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS

Professors Rob Nathanson, fine arts, and Peter Thomas, foreign languages and literatures, are spending the spring semester at the University of Swansea in Wales and Universidad San Francisco in Quito, respectively. Professors Nathanson and Thomas are the faculty participants in UNCW's spring semester study abroad programs at these two sites.

UNITED WAY

UNCW's 1993 State Employees Combined Campaign has concluded with a total of $20,955 in contributions from 258 employees. Although the dollar amount is down for the second consecutive year, the number of contributors is up from 1992. Thanks to all who contributed! A special thanks to Linda Moore, campaign chair; Kay Robinson and Bob Appleton, section chairs; and their staff of over 50 volunteers who worked on UNCW's campaign.

ALUMNI BOARD PROMOTES SCHOLARSHIPS

The UNCW Alumni Association is seeking applications for 10 scholarships to be awarded for 1994-95. Awarded annually, scholarships are based on academic achievement and demonstrated need. Applicants must have a minimum G.P.A. of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale on all high school or college work. With an approximate value of $1400, scholarships cover the cost of in-state tuition and fees for one academic year. Of the 10 awards given, nine go to undergraduates (including freshmen) and one to a graduate student. Also, recipients maintaining a 3.0 minimum G.P.A. may apply to renew their awards each year that they are enrolled at UNCW.

To be considered for a scholarship, students must complete an application and return it to the Alumni Relations Office by March 15, 1994. For more information and an application, call Pat Corcoran at ext. 3616 or Sandra Dail at ext. 3601.

OVERSEAS ADVENTURE

Dr. Robert Smith, education, will lead a study abroad program to England, Wales and Scotland from June 27 to July 15, exploring the British system of education. This is a wonderful opportunity to travel abroad, to have fun exploring three fascinating countries, and to learn about education. For more information, contact Dr. Smith at ext. 4076.

ALUMNI BOAT RAFFLE

The Alumni Association is raffling a dynamic 17-foot Boston Whaler Montauk with 90 horsepower Evinrude and Load Rite trailer. Tickets are $20 each and only 2500 are to be sold. The drawing will be held this spring. For tickets, contact Pat Corcoran at ext. 3616 or Sandra Dail at ext. 3601.

IN SEARCH OF RESIDENT ASSISTANTS

The Office of Housing and Residence Life is now taking applications for resident assistants for the 1994-95 academic year. Applications are available at H&RL, and are due to the office by Feb. 4. Current RAs who wish to reapply may pick up their applications on Feb. 4 - these are due in on Feb. 16. If you have any questions concerning this process, please call ext. 3241.

New Look on Campus

During the past week, the Grounds Section has been installing more than 80 large canopy trees throughout the campus. The main goals for this planting project are to use shade trees to cool large asphalt areas and to create a more comfortable scale around several of the buildings.

To create a more beautiful and environmentally sound campus, the Grounds Section intends to pursue these goals each year. The landscaping around the student suites has just begun - watch its transformation in the coming weeks.

Business Affairs Asks the Campus: What Do You Think of Us?

During the last quarter of 1993, we asked how we were doing with the services we provide to the campus. Towana Moore and Laura Young interviewed 26 individuals representing all divisions, including employees serving in varying capacities.

Each interviewee was given a list of services provided: financial services, administrative services, auxiliary services, security services, telecommunications services, physical plant services, human resources, and purchasing services.

Comments received were summarized and presented to the vice chancellor for business affairs, and forwarded to the responsible managers for action. Over the next few weeks, those managers will be reporting to you on the actions they will be taking in response to your comments. Please direct additional feedback and/or suggestions to Laura Young at ext. 3856.

Fly Wright! Advances to Regional Competition

UNCW's University Theatre production of Fly Wright! The Story of Two Brothers has been advanced to the regional level of the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival (KC/ACTF). The original operetta composed and directed by Frank Trimble, associate professor of communications, and produced by the UNCW University Theatre in the Department of Fine Arts, was one of two productions to win the North Carolina ACTF state competition held at Catawba College in November. The set and light designs were created by Tom Macie, associate professor of fine arts. Costumes were designed by Georgia Richardson, senior theatre major, under the supervision of Toni Bratton, assistant professor of fine arts.

UNCW students Jennifer Joyner, Aimee Schooley, Karla Stith, Jebediah Toms and Jason Yates also were nominated for the prestigious Irene Ryan Regional Acting Competition. Irene Ryan is best known for her role as "Granny" in the TV series, The Beverly Hillbillies. Two candidates from this competition will be sent to the Kennedy Center for the national finals. A member of the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Region IV Festival, UNCW won in the North Carolina state competition, and have advanced to the regional festival. This year, 45 colleges and universities from 10 southeastern states competed in Region IV. The production will be one of six featured in the regional ACTF competition currently being held at Clemson University.

This national festival is designed to showcase, in the nation's capitol, the best college and university theatre. By entering this production, the UNCW Department of Fine Arts is sharing in the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival goals to help college theatre grow, and to focus attention on the exemplary work produced in college and university theaters across the nation.

Auxiliary Services

Auxiliary Services, under the direction of Charles A. Maimone, consists of the Bookstore, Food Services, ID Plus System, Printing Services, Padrick House, Pharmacy, Vending Services, and Maintenance and Repair of auxiliary facilities.

The mission of the auxiliaries is to provide support services to those involved in the primary mission of UNCW. We are here to support those who learn, teach and research. The question most often asked is, "How do you arrive at the prices for your services?" Each of the auxiliaries is a self-supporting operation relying completely on the revenues generated by the sale of goods and services. Since we do not receive funding from any other source, auxiliaries are challenged to offer quality service and cover all of the expenses related to the operations.

The staff members working in Auxiliary Services welcome any ideas or suggestions that will help us better meet your needs and expectations. For more information concerning any of the auxiliaries, please contact Charles Maimone at ext. 3178.

Awards Dinner to Honor Blackmore and Cameron

UNCW will honor Rebecca W. Blackmore and Daniel D. Cameron at an awards dinner sponsored by the UNCW Alumni Association Friday, Feb. 11, in the University Center.

Blackmore, a district court judge for New Hanover and Pender counties and a 1975 graduate of UNCW, will be honored as Distinguished Alumnus 1993. The Durham native received her law degree from UNC-Chapel Hill in 1983 after teaching in Wilmington at M.S.C. Noble Junior High School. In her community, Blackmore serves as a trustee for Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church and Community

Board Member of the Wilmington Boys Choir, in addition to serving on the UNCW Alumni Association Board of Directors. Blackmore, an active member of the N.C. Bar Association, recently spoke on "Ethical Issues in Domestic Law" for the N.C. Academy of Trial Lawyers Seminar.

Wilmington native, Daniel D. Cameron, will be recognized as Distinguished Citizen for Service to the University 1993. After receiving his bachelor of science degree from the Virginia Military Institute in 1942, Cameron entered the Army, becoming 1st lieutenant before his 21st birthday and major at age 24. Cameron, who participated in the Normandy Invasion at Omaha Beach, was awarded the Bronze Star. Currently a partner of the Cameron Company, Daniel Cameron also serves on the V.M.I. Board of Visitors, the board of UNCW Foundation, and is president of the board for the Community Boys Club. He has been involved in a wide range of community activities including serving as former chairman of both the Committee of 100 and New Hanover Memorial Hospital, as well as serving on Wilmington's City Council and being elected Mayor of Wilmington.

UNCW Graduate Wins Costume Design Competition for Fly Wright!

Georgia Richardson, from Charlotte, N.C., won the costume design competition for region IV (Southeastern United States) in the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival (ACTF). She won with her costume renderings for FLY WRIGHT!, a UNCW University Theatre Production. She competed against five others in this field when the play was presented at Clemson University Feb. 5.

Her competitors were: Lifelines - Northern Kentucky University; She Stoops to Conquer - Centre College, Kentucky; The Praying Mantis - University of North Carolina at Greensboro; Whose life is it Anyway? - University of Miami; and Smoke on the Mountain - Hinds Community College, Mississippi.

Richardson, a December '93 graduate, executed the designs as part of her senior project. For her research, she looked through 1890's pattern books, pictures and photographs that would give her inspiration for the period costumes. She then developed some 20 renderings of the costumes. These renderings were submitted to be judged.

According to Toni Bratton, assistant professor of design, this win is very significant because it gives "recognition to the university and the drama program, and it will help out Georgia's career as a designer," she said.

This is only the second year UNCW has entered the competition, a prestigious and rigorous festival with winners at the state level advancing to regional competition, then on to the Kennedy Center.

Richardson will go to Washington, D.C., in April for the National Design Competition. The final winner will receive a free trip to New York to meet with Broadway costume designers.

Georgia Richardson and Toni Bratton discuss the research process in designing the pictured costume of Katharine Wright, sister of Wilbur and Orville.

ORIENTATION PREPARATION

Approximately 975 new freshmen, 300 transfers and 800 parents are expected to attend summer orientation to be held June 12-13, 15-16 and 19-20. Also, there will be a transfer orientation program June 9-10. Departments that have materials for distribution should watch for information to follow in the Campus Communique about dates and location for delivery of materials. Call Linda Lueken with any questions at ext. 3089.

REGALIA SALE

The UNCW Bookstore and Oak Hall Cap and Gown will have a salesman on campus Feb. 16-18 to measure for custom regalia. The Bookstore will be offering 20 percent off all regalia purchases. To make an appointment for measurement, call Jessiebeth at ext. 3054. Oak Hall guarantees all purchases will be here by May 14. This will be the only time this year a salesman will offer this discount. You must pay a third down when you place your order.

CAPE LECTURE

The Consortium for the Advancement of Public Education (CAPE) is gearing up for its second Distinguished Scholars Lecture on Feb. 15. Dr. Harold L. Hodgkinson, director of the Center for Demographic Policy, Institute for Educational Leadership in Washington, D.C., will speak to fellow CAPE scholars about changing demographics and its impact on education. For more information, call ext. 4173.

EARTH SCIENCES SEMINAR

"Geochemistry, Geochronology and Tectonic Origin of Floridan Basement Terranes," will be presented by Dr. Ann Heatherington on Feb. 11 at 1 p.m. in Friday Hall, Room 251. Everyone is invited to attend.

PARKING LOTS COME TO LIFE

To promote awareness of endangered species in N.C., the UNCW Biology Club plans to paint sea life on more parking lots. They will paint manatees on parking lot G near Morton Hall and dolphins on parking lot B next to Alderman Hall on Feb. 19. Finally, a coral reef scene will be painted on parking lots S and T on March 26. All the paintings will start at 10 a.m. and last until completion (approximately three to four hours).

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP COMPETITION

The Undergraduate Research Fellowships are intended to stimulate original research among undergraduate students. The competition is open to any rising junior or senior who has completed at least one semester at UNCW. Candidates must file their application with their respective department chairperson by March 15. For further information, call Dr. Richard M. Dillaman at 256-3721.

A CALL FOR PROPOSALS

The Institute for College and University Teaching has issued a call for proposals for its Small Grants Program for Research on Teaching. Designed to promote scholarship in teaching through support of classroom research, the program encourages research that focuses on the effects of teaching strategies or modes of teaching on the level of student learning, interest and/or motivation in a course or courses. Individual or groups of tenured and/or tenure-track faculty teaching in North Carolina's post-secondary institutions may apply for grants up to $2000. Proposal deadlines are April 15 for fall 1994 funding and Oct. 15 for spring 1995 funding. For information, contact the Office of Research Administration.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Joseph Pawlik, assistant professor of biology, has been awarded $7000 from UNCW's National Undersea Research Center for his project on the chemical ecology of Caribbean sponges. The grant will allow Pawlik to conduct research from Aquarius. Pawlik will use this apparatus to observe tropical sponges in their natural habitat and will investigate the hypothesis that sponges produce unusual chemical compounds that might make them taste bad to predators.

"Bauhaus on Trial: Aluminum City Terrace and Federal Housing Policy During World War II," an article by Dr. Kristin M. Szylyvian, history, has been accepted for publication in the July issue of Great Britain's Planning Perspectives. Also, in December, Szylyvian discussed Wilmington's public housing program in an interview on WHQR's Sounds Local.

In January, Dr. Sybil Burgess, associate professor of chemistry, participated in Washington, D.C., in a panel review of proposals for the U.S. Department of Education's Women and Minority Participation in Graduate Education Program.

Dr. Michelle Howard-Vital, vice chancellor for public service and extended education, delivered the commencement address, "Trekking into the Information Age," to the graduates of Edinboro University of Pennsylvania on Dec. 12.

Dr. Wei Feng, mathematical sciences, presented the paper, "Global Asymptotic Stability in Population Models with Diffusion and Delay Effects," and chaired the AMS session on Partial Differential Equations at the Joint Mathematical Meetings in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Jan. 12-15.

Dr. Karin Deck, mathematical sciences, presented the paper, "The Radical of the Group of Automorphisms of a Transcendental Field Extension," at the Joint Mathematical Meetings in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Jan. 12-15.

Dr. Michael A. Mallin, biological sciences, has published an article titled "Phytoplankton Community Assessments of Seven Southeast U.S. Cooling Reservoirs," in Water Research, vol. 28, pp. 665-674.

Dr. Terry Theodore, fine arts, has published "Kuleshov and Pudovkin Introduce Montage to Filmmaking" in the recent encyclopedic work Great Events from History II: Arts and Culture by Salem Press. The study examines the Russian film theorist Lev Kuleshov's seminal work and Jeri Whiting, lecturer of health and physical education and women's tennis coach, had a drill on approach shots featured in the January/February issue of Tennis Pro Magazine.

Dr. Andrew F. Clark, history, has a review of a book on the history of Islamic West Africa in the current issue of Journal of African History.

Harry F. Smith, mathematical sciences, has had his paper, "Spreadsheets, Continued Fractions, and Number Theory," accepted for publication in the College Mathematics Journal of the Mathematical Association of America.

Career Planning and Placement Center Director James C. Braye has been appointed by Governor Hunt to the North Carolina State Government Internship Council through June 30, 1995.

William A. Bryan, vice chancellor for student affairs, has been elected to the Center for the Study of the College Fraternity Board of Directors. The central office is located at Indiana University in Bloomington, Ind., and was incorporated in 1981 for the purpose of providing support and nurturing to programs and services that further excellence in the fraternity community and harmony with the broad mission of higher education.

Dr. Hatha Hayes and Dr. Karen Wetherill, education, joined Linda Beaman and Denny Rutledge from Duplin County Schools for a presentation, "How Collaboration Can Support Change," at the Southeastern Regional Reading Recovery Conference on Jan. 14 in Charlotte, N.C. These collaborative efforts link UNCW's School of Education and two regional school districts, Brunswick and Duplin County Schools.

A research article by Dr. Joseph Yan, mathematical sciences, titled "Bifurcation at 1:1 resonance in a reversible system using the 3-jet of the normal form" appeared in the January issue of Journal of Differential Equations.

Administrative Cabinet Updates

Following recent news articles and board of governors discussions about campus drug use, Chancellor Leutze invited Dean of Students Pat Leonard and University Police Chief Billy Dawson to make a presentation to the Feb. 4 administrative cabinet meeting.

Both made the point that UNCW has been reporting our statistics honestly for the past 15 years, and we will continue to do so. "We're ranked number three because we don't keep secrets," commented Dawson. Data reported to the UNC system for July 1, 1992, through June 30, 1993, showed 19 drug arrests at UNCW. Since the beginning of the 93 academic year, there have been 13 drug-related arrests. Leonard also noted that these numbers are a "barometer of enforcement, not usage."

They told the group of senior administrators and deans that "drugs are back," just as is the case in the rest of the country. A recent national survey indicated that one of 15 high school seniors has tried LSD. Of particular concern here is the recurrence of LSD's popularity, although at UNCW, marijuana is the illegal drug of choice.

Asked if students on LSD or drugs posed a danger to faculty, Dawson responded that it was unlikely because individuals on trips are usually withdrawn. They are more likely to be dangerous to themselves. Faculty who observe behavior that causes them concern should feel free to consult with either Dawson or Leonard.

What arrest statistics don't show is the extensive amount of work done at UNCW to educate and work with students to prevent drug use. Through a cooperative effort between University Police and the Division for Student Affairs, a number of education programs are offered to students including bringing inmates who have been convicted for selling drugs to the classroom to talk with criminal justice classes. Early intervention is also widely used to head off more serious problems.

UNCW's Alternatives! program of drug prevention education has won national awards, and was recently recognized as one of five sites at universities in the nation to maintain a successful program for more than five years.

Chancellor Leutze encouraged supervisors to inform all employees of the program of confidential counseling offered through Human Resources should there be drug or alcohol problems among faculty and staff. Dawson and Leonard are available to make presentations to departments or other interested groups.

Other Cabinet Notes:

- Update on applications as reported to Cabinet meeting Feb. 4: Of 5638 applications received to date, 2995 have been accepted. Of those accepted to date, the average SAT is 979, 20 above this time last year, and the high school GPA average is 3.38. Target freshman class is 1250.

- For the second year, a group of 16 Japanese students from Nagoya Gakuin University arrived on our campus Feb. 2 to participate in an English-as-a-second language program. The 12 women and four men will spend two months taking intensive courses in English language and culture while living on the campus of UNCW, each with an American roommate. The classes, coordinated through the Office of International Programs, are being taught by two ESL-certified instructors from Wilmington, Jean Campbell and Ray Bernard.

- Last year, adult volunteers gave 2000 hours of their time to UNCW in a variety of programs. Many thanks to participants in the Adult Scholars Leadership Program for their hard work and for being a pleasure to have around. Hats off to the Division for Public Service and Extended Education for organizing the volunteer program!!!

Grant Received for Study of Sponges

Dr. Joseph Pawlik, assistant professor of biology, has been funded $177,000 for three years from the National Science Foundation for his project titled "Assessing the Chemical Defenses of Caribbean Sponges." This project represents the first systematic investigation of the chemical defenses of tropical marine sponges.

Pawlik, an invertebrate zoologist, will conduct research to discover the unusual chemical compounds that make the sponges that inhabit coral reefs distasteful to predators. Crude extracts of sponges will be mixed with food strips that are then placed back on the reef for predatory fish to sample. These experiments can lead to the isolation of novel chemical compounds that may be important as potential drugs.

Because sponges are dominant and important components of coral reefs, his research will be carried out on Aquarius, the world's most advanced underwater scientific research laboratory situated on Conch Reef near Key Largo, Fla. The Aquarius is a joint venture between UNCW/NOAA environmental research program aimed at better understanding and preserving the coral reef.

Pawlik will be taking graduate and undergraduate students to Florida in July and August to live on Aquarius for eight days and conduct extensive research.

Pawlik was selected by the NSF in 1991 to receive a Presidential Young Investigator award, one of only 200 given out.

Of the $177,000 grant, 82 percent is provided by the NSF, a federal agency, with the remainder matched with funds from UNCW.

Chancellor Named to Governor's Commission for a Competitive NC

Chancellor Dr. James R. Leutze has been named to Governor Jim Hunt's Commission for a Competitive North Carolina.

The commission, a centerpiece of Gov. Hunt's drive to create a well-based, long-term vision for North Carolina, will hold its first meeting in mid-March. It is comprised of 40 appointees, including leaders in banking, education, journalism, law, real estate, manufacturing and service sectors and non-profit foundations. In addition, it has 12 ex-officio members who serve on state boards and commissions, as well as appointed and elected officials.

Hunt's commission will chart a direction for the state in areas of education, economic growth, public safety, environmental protection and overall quality of life. It will set goals for achievement levels, establish performance standards for evaluations, recommend method changes for operations and recommend a permanent organizational structure for monitoring performance.

Leutze, whose commission is effective immediately, is looking forward to his next two years on the board. He commented "the commission offers an opportunity to examine educational programs which come closer to meeting the needs of the 21st century."

The commission will prepare a final report on its findings and recommendations to the people of North Carolina not later than fall 1994.

Fulbright Scholar to discuss Britain

A noted British scholar, Peter Stead, will deliver a lecture at UNCW on Feb. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in King Hall Auditorium. The title of his presentation is "Living Without Thatcher: John Majors' Britain."

Professor Stead will talk on a wide range of subjects related to politics, culture and the arts in contemporary Britain. He will include a discussion of economic conditions in Britain and consider the impact of radio, television and film on social attitudes.

Sponsored by the History Department and the Office of International Programs, Stead's talk is free and open to the public. For more information, call Dr. Toplin at ext. 3318.

3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Thursday, April 28

REMINDER TO FACULTY

The deadline for mailing your completed survey on "The Technology, Teaching and Scholarship Project" is Feb. 18. Either mail it directly to Iowa City, Iowa in the envelope provided with the survey or return your sealed survey to George Quinn for bulk mailing to the Iowa processing center.

A SPECIAL THANKS

The ACE Arts and Lectures Committee would like to thank the UNCW and Wilmington community for supporting The E. Gywnn Dancers performance on Friday, Feb. 4, at Kenan Auditorium.

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

Sigma Xi, The Scientific Research Society, will hold its annual initiation in conjunction with the spring lecture by Dr. Mark Stoneking and the Student Poster Presentations on April 15, 1994. Current Sigma Xi members are urged to nominate fellow faculty for membership in Sigma Xi. Nomination forms may be obtained from Kate Bruce, psychology. Faculty or graduate students who have shown aptitude for research in a field of pure or applied science are eligible for nomination. Inactive members are urged to renew their membership.

ARTS IN ACTION

Upcoming events include: Andy and Zach Page, classical and jazz guitar on Feb. 24 and a music ensemble of oboe, bassoon and flute music on March 3. Performances are at noon in the Hawk's Nest.

TAKE BACK THE NIGHT

If you or someone you know is a survivor of sexual assault or attempted sexual assault and would like to participate in UNCW's "Take Back the Night" march and rally on March 22, please submit any creative expression of your experience to be shared at the rally. It may be anonymous. Please submit your work to the ALTERNATIVES! office in University Union, Room 104 ASAP. For more information, call ext. 3577. Sponsored by REACH OUT!

THINK FALL

The UNCW campus-wide calendar of events for fall 1994 is now being planned. If you would like to inform the campus community of department's upcoming fall events, we request that you submit your list of activities to us by June 15, 1994. The calendar will be ready for distribution by Welcome Week '94. Please include photographs and any additional information about the events if available. Please send information by e-mail to ROSEK. If you have any questions regarding the information that we are requesting, please contact the Campus Activities Office at ext. 3827.

AVAILABLE RESOURCES

The Leadership Center has many resources available to the campus including books, files on leadership education topics and multi-cultural games. The newest edition, Hartwick Classic Leadership Cases, offers a unique way to incorporate classic literature into discussions of leadership issues. There are several dozen titles, including Ghandi, Malcolm X, Plato, Moby Dick, The Mayor of Casterbridge and several works of Shakespeare. Teacher notes are available. Donated copies of books or handouts on topics related to leadership education are always appreciated.

UNCW THEATRE PRESENTS "THE VERGE"

Does being on the verge represent being on the edge, brink or margin of becoming a personal and free individual? Or does it define the limiting, enclosing line that may drive an individual seeking unique sovereignty into chaos? University Theatre proudly presents The Verge by Susan Glaspell on Feb. 23-26 at 8 p.m. and on Feb. 27 at 3 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. UNCW students are admitted free with valid student ID; other students are $2 and general public is $6. For more information, call Dr. Terry Rogers at ext. 3440.

Faculty and Staff

Lee Pridgen, University Center Operations coordinator, recently completed three days of training in Raleigh, N.C., on the computerized HVAC system used in the Union/Center. The system results in increased energy management capabilities within the two buildings. The workshop was presented by Robert Shaw Controls of Garner, N.C.

Dr. Ronald J. Vetter, mathematical sciences, had a paper, "Electronic Timekeeping," published in the December 1993 issue of NACUBO Business Officer. On Dec. 6, he presented a talk, "High Performance Computing with HIPPI," which described his work with Network Supercomputing to the Communications Research Group at the Microelectronic Center of North Carolina (MCNC). He also presented an invited talk, "Network Supercomputing," at the Center for Aerospace Studies at the University of North Dakota.

Dr. Don Habibi, philosophy and religion, received a Charles L. Cahill Award for his project, "Political Analysis of Israel and the Middle East."

Dr. Walter Conser, philosophy and religion, recently published God and the Natural World: Religion and Science in Antebellum America. This book examines responses by American Protestant theologians to the challenge of science in the era before the Darwinian controversies.

Kimberly Markham and Dr. Joel Mintzes, biological sciences, and Dr. M. Gail Jones, UNC-Chapel Hill, have published their paper titled "The Concept Map as a Research and Evaluation Tool: Further Evidence of Validity" in the January 1994 issue of the Journal of Research in Science Teaching.

The Burroughs Wellcome Fund has awarded $8500 under the Young Investigator Biomedical/Substance Abuse Research Program to Dr. Andrea Bourdelaïs, psychology, for research in the substance abuse field.

Dr. Deborah Dowd, HPER, presented a paper, "Retention of Motor Skills in Females," at the Research Symposium of the Southern District AAHPERD Conference held in Atlanta, Ga.

Vol. XXIII, No. 27 February 24, 1994

A Clear Goal for TQU

Judging from several items that came up at the most recent Faculty Advisory Committee meeting, it would appear that I have not communicated as clearly as I should have in some instances.

First, when I make a suggestion for improvement, I am not implying criticism. I do believe that we need to constantly seek ways to get better; this observation applies to all aspects of the university including our academic mission; however, this does not mean that there is anything basically wrong.

One of the primary attractions of UNCW for me, and I am sure for many others, is the emphasis that has always been placed on the close working relationship between students and faculty. This institution has a well-deserved reputation as a place where the learning process takes priority. The commitment of UNCW faculty to the educational mission has always impressed me.

I know you work extremely hard and effectively; so when I emphasize both the need for improvement and the importance of teaching, it should not be taken to mean that you aren't doing a good job teaching. We are good, but we can be even better.

Moreover, by emphasizing our continued commitment to teaching, this does not imply that I'm absolving students from the responsibility to learn. It is a two way street: teachers teach and students learn. I share the expressed concern that some of our students do not approach their course work with sufficient commitment, that they sometimes do not try as hard as they might. When I talk about being student-centered and caring about students, I'm not suggesting that you reduce your standards or lower your expectations. In fact, I share the belief voiced by one faculty member that by emphasizing rigor and responsibility, we can, in effect, influence the development of those qualities in our students.

Next, in regard to TQU, an apprehension was voiced that we were preparing to impose a quality initiative on professors in the classroom. Please be assured that no one intends to mandate that Total Quality principles be applied to our teaching mission. Specifically, no one is going to require that students be treated as "customers" in the classroom. Student learners may not be as aware of what they want or need from a class as traditional customers are aware of their desires. Nor do I believe the concept that the "customer is always right" should be applied to students in an academic context. If, on the other hand, professors wish to experiment with some Total Quality approaches, they are free to use their classrooms as they think best.

None of this means that students should not be heard. In fact, a great deal can be learned by listening to students and it is my opinion that gauging their reactions to different teaching methods is vital in order to be effective. Nevertheless, the primary emphasis for our TQU program will continue to be on administrative practices, relations between departments and divisions, employee relations, and those academic areas where the university deals with a broader public, such as the Registrar's Office, Admissions, Financial Aid and so on.

Finally, we should continue to experiment with the use of student evaluations of teaching. We should not allow them to become tools by which students penalize faculty who adhere to rigorous standards. Again, this does not mean that evaluations should not be taken seriously — they should. In my view, the best way to use evaluations is to look for trends or patterns over time and ideally to use them in company with other measures of teaching effectiveness, such as peer evaluations.

Position Announcement

UNCW is searching for a director to provide dynamic and creative leadership for its new Honors Program. The principal responsibility of the director will be to lead the formation of the Honors Program. Anticipated responsibilities include, but are not limited to: supervising the academic and residence life program; recruiting students and faculty; and working with the Honors Advisory Council on matters related to program and curriculum development. The director will be expected to teach one course each semester.

The position is a 12-month appointment for a three-year term. The appointment may be renewable for an additional three years. Salary will be commensurate with rank and experience.

The director is expected to be a respected scholar and teacher with multi-disciplinary interests and must hold a terminal degree in his or her discipline and have tenure at UNCW. A person may either apply or be nominated. Letters of nomination must be received by Feb. 28. Applicants for the position must submit CV and letter of application by March 14. The position is expected to be filled by April 4.

All materials should be sent to Dr. Charles Ward, Hoggard Hall, Room 216.

Children and Organized Sports

Dr. Sue Combs, chair of HPER, will be the guest speaker for the YWCA at 7 p.m., March 1. This program is free. For more information or to reserve a space, call 799-6820.

Brainstorming Has Its Rewards

Jeffrey S. Brown, carpenter shop supervisor, was presented a check for $1230 from the university through the Employee Suggestion System for the State of North Carolina.

Brown's cost-saving suggestion involved the resurfacing of blackboards. Brown, employed with UNCW for 18 years, explained that after approximately two to three years, the surface of blackboards becomes pitted; however, resurfacing the boards using Formica saves the expense of replacing existing blackboards. "Formica is durable and erases great, so I'm surprised it wasn't thought of sooner," said Jeffrey Brown.

By resurfacing existing boards, there is no handling fee and no disposal problem. This system saves money and gives UNCW a better product.

The Employee Suggestion System exists to encourage efficiency and cost savings in government, and carries a monetary award based on a percentage of the savings up to $5000. Suggestions are shared statewide and applied wherever possible.

Teaching Excellence Award Nominees Sought

Nominations for the Board of Trustees Teaching Excellence Award are being accepted until March 31. Nominations may be submitted by any member of the faculty, currently enrolled students or alumni. Persons in the community served by UNCW are also invited to recommend nominations.

A nominee must be a current member of the UNCW faculty who has been teaching at least half time for five semesters. The nominee must have demonstrated a mastery of and enthusiasm for the subject taught, diligently maintained high academic standards, a genuine interest in students, an ability to respect diverse points of view and an openness to learning.

The nominations will be reviewed by the chancellor and members of the Chancellor's Nomination Committee. The committee will make its recommendation to the chancellor. He will present the recipient of the 1994 Board of Trustees Teaching Excellence Award to the Board of Trustees in Summer 1994.

The winner receives a $1500 cash award. This carries with it both an honor and a responsibility of manifesting excellence and continuing significant contributions to higher education.

All letters of nomination must be limited to one page and received no later than Wednesday, March 31, 1994, by the Chancellor's Nomination Committee, Alderman Hall.

Bolen Writes Book on Mississippi Kite

Dr. Eric Bolen, dean of the UNCW graduate school and professor of biology, has co-written The Mississippi Kite with Dan Flores, professor of western history at the University of Montana. Jack Dermid, former UNCW biology professor, contributed some of the book's photographs.

The book, released in December 1993, details the graceful southern hawk, nicknamed the Mississippi Kite, that can be seen from the Carolina coast to the southwestern plains. The Mississippi Kite is also known as the Blue Dart, the Grasshopper Hawk and the Mosquito Hawk. The book describes the Kite's life cycle, some of its history, and how humans have affected it.

The Mississippi Kite is part of the Corrie Herring Hooks Series of bird books published by The University of Texas Press. Other titles in the series include The Cardinal and The Mockingbird.

Bolen, a noted conservation biologist, received his master's and doctoral degrees from Utah State University. Appointed the first dean of the UNCW graduate school in 1988, he plans to step down this summer to return to full-time teaching in the biology department. His specialty is wildlife ecology with an emphasis on natural resource conservation and management.

This book can be ordered through local bookstores for $17.95.

Reminder to Workshop Participants

As a reminder, the "Write to the Point" workshop will be held from 2-4 p.m., Thursday, March 10, in the Human Resources Training Room. Facilitators for this workshop will be Stephanie Richardson and Sue Richardson of the English Department.

Warehouse Services

The new surplus property bid sheets are available in Central Receiving. Property can be viewed from 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Focus on In-House Recruiting

Many staff believe that most vacancies are advertised publicly (in the Star-News or Journal) before they are posted on campus. Human Resources is committed to making sure that vacancies are posted on campus before they appear off-campus. In fact, Cathy Olson, employment services coordinator, works closely with the hiring official and together they discuss whether an off-campus posting is even necessary. If there is a sufficient pool of candidates on campus and if there is assurance that affirmative action goals are met or can be met by an on-campus posting, Cathy will encourage departments to consider posting the vacancy only on campus.

Since July there have been 38 SPA hires. Of those, 10 have been on-campus promotions and transfers. We are committed to increasing the number of on-campus transfers and encourage staff to assess their skills and the requirements of the positions they are applying for to ensure there is a good match. Staff should also take advantage of any training programs that will hone their skills.

Later this spring, employment services will begin reviewing project plans for a career development program. If you are interested in serving on a committee to look at this program, call Cathy at ext. 3162.

Welcome

Please welcome these new employees: Linda Cluxton/VCSA and Leslie Daniel/Accounting.

David C. Girardot presently serving as assistant vice president for facilities management at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Va., has accepted the position of assistant vice chancellor - facilities (effective April 1).

Check Surveys

Faculty Chosen for Writer's Roundtable in June

Eighteen of the best-known authors, editors, agents and publishers in the nation will make up the faculty of the 1994 Writer's Roundtable to be held at UNCW from 10 a.m.-6 p.m., June 4-5, in Cameron Hall. The program is co-sponsored by UNCW's Professional and Creative Writing Program.

Workshops featuring the authors will present a selection of topics from southern fiction to poetry to nonfiction. A panel of editors, agents and publishers will hold classes to discuss their part in the writing industry.

UNCW Nursing Student Receives Fellowship

For the first time, a nursing student from UNCW has been chosen to receive the Helene Fuld Health Trust Fellowship. Selected from more than 300 nominations, Christy C. O'Herron, a junior nontraditional UNCW student, is the North Carolina recipient of the prestigious Fuld Fellowship.

The Helene Fuld Health Trust Fellowship was established with the purpose of sending 51 outstanding nursing students (one from each state and Washington, D.C.) to the world's most prestigious health care meetings, to stimulate interest among students in a nursing specialty and to promote awareness of nursing as an international career field.

O'Herron chose to pursue a degree in nursing after having firsthand experience with a true miracle. "I always felt like I needed to be doing more, but in 1985, my son was diagnosed with an inoperable brain tumor and this experience changed my life forever," said O'Herron. "Being near children with cancer and seeing their unbelievable courage and dignity gave me the strength to pursue a career in nursing." In remission for more than five years, her son will proudly graduate from Hoggard High School this year.

The cost is $30. Pre-registration deadline is May 30. Registration will be taken the day of the conference, but space is limited.

Registration forms are available at most bookstores in the Wilmington, or write: The Writer's Roundtable, 2801 Lyndon Ave., Wilmington, NC 28405.

The Writer's Roundtable is a low-cost writer's conference designed to provide unpublished writers a chance to learn tips from successful authors. For information, call Jack Fryar at 763-9573.

Candidates for the fellowship are nominated by the deans of schools of nursing. "We are extraordinarily proud of Christy," said Dr. Marlene Rosenkoetter, dean, UNCW School of Nursing. "I know many people will profit from O'Herron's attendance at the conference."

With this Fuld Fellowship, O'Herron will travel, all expenses paid, to Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada for the Eighth International Conference on Cancer Nursing to be held Aug. 7-12, 1994.

Grant Received for Biotechnology Workshop for NC Science Teachers

Dr. Carl Lundeen, associate professor of biology, and Dr. Charles Ward, director of the Science and Math Education Center, have received funding from North Carolina Biotechnology Center and UNCW for $13,081 for their project "Working with Bacteriophage: A Five-Day Advanced Biotechnology Workshop for North Carolina Science Teachers."

The workshop (July 25-29 in Friday Hall) will accept 24 teachers who have completed BIOTECH 1. The focus will be on microbiology, specifically the study of bacteria and their viruses (bacteriophage).

The main goal of the project is to integrate aspects of modern biotechnology into middle or high school curricula. Dr. Lundeen and his staff will conduct detailed lectures and basic laboratory practices and experiments with the basic methodologies of bacteriophage. He will also develop classroom lesson plans which will incorporate these concepts for the science teachers.

Lundeen said the session should, "empower the teachers to bring this methodology back to the classroom."

For the past five summers, the UNCW Science and Mathematics Education Center in partnership with the NC Biotechnology Center has sponsored teacher workshops which have allowed middle and high school science teachers to gain hands-on experience in the basic skills of recombinant DNA technology (BIOTECH-1).

Campus Atmosphere

The Grounds Section has recently installed a fragrant landscape at the Center Stage courtyard. This project, sponsored by the Cape Fear Garden Club, will provide an aromatic and colorful atmosphere for users of the patio. Gardenias, Osmanthus, and Loropetalum will provide a sweet fragrance, while Natchez Crepe Myrtles and Daylilies will display floral color. The Grounds Section appreciates the support of the Cape Fear Garden Club in funding this needed improvement.

Business Affairs Asks the Campus: What Do You Think of Us? UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE

The mission of the University Bookstore is to provide the university community with high quality service at reasonable prices, while maintaining a financially sound operation. A self-supporting unit of Auxiliary Services, our sole source of revenue is generated by the sale of goods.

The question most asked is "Why are textbooks so expensive?" Textbooks make up 80 percent of the total sales. Based on statistics by the Association of American publishers, after publisher cost, author income, freight, personnel and operating expenses, the college store receives less than four cents of every dollar of a new textbook sold. An outside company conducted a general review and found that our store's profit margin was 3 percent under industry standards on textbooks. We're always striving to better serve the campus community and keep our customer's cost low.

The Bookstore staff and advisory board welcome your suggestions and comments. For more information, call ext. 3188.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Mary Harvey/NURC; Rodney Green/Physical Plant.

Emergency Lights

The Preventive Maintenance Department, in a continuing effort to update facilities, recently performed a survey of the lead acid battery systems for emergency lights.

They concluded that a gel cell battery system would not only provide a self-testing mode, but also would provide extended longevity and eliminate acid use in the interiors of buildings.

The first building converted to the gel cells was Social and Behavioral Sciences. In Kenan Auditorium, 10 fixtures were replaced with a new system that will self-test only at preset times, ensuring that functions in progress will not be disturbed by flashing lights.

Everyone is invited to attend this earth sciences departmental seminar.

RANDALL LIBRARY ANNOUNCES NEW AUTOMATION SYSTEM

On Thursday, Feb. 24, 1994, the N.C. Division of Purchase and Contract awarded the contract for a new library automation system for UNCW and eight other UNC institutions to Innovative Interfaces, Inc. of Berkeley, Calif.

A funding request, titled UNC Library Project, was developed by Eugene W. Huguelet, Ron Johnson and the late Dr. Robert Williams. This request incorporated the establishment of consortia of university libraries sharing centrally located computers. Randall Library is the node location for the UNC Coastal Library Consortium, serving this campus, Pembroke State University and Fayetteville State University. In July, 1993, the UNC Board of Governors announced funding of the project and allocated approximately $800,000 over the 1993/95 Biennium to UNCW to purchase node hardware and software.

Among this new system's many capabilities will be the ability to extend searches to other Innovative Interfaces libraries in N.C. by pressing one key. Many of these features will be available to any user on campus, to Internet users and the community at large.

AEROBICS CHANGE

Changes in the aerobic schedule are: the 6:15 p.m. step class is now at 7:15 p.m., and the 7:15 p.m. multi impact class will be at 6:15 p.m. If there are any questions, please call ext. 3261.

State Begins Study

Several employees recently attended a focus meeting at Pembroke State University to discuss the state study of how jobs are classified (job evaluation) and how employees are paid (compensation program).

The state is interested in computerized programs to aid in streamlining the job evaluation process so that it is not so paper and labor intensive. The study will also look at the issue that there is little opportunity to move up in the salary schedule unless an employee is reclassified or promoted. Another issue is how to administer and pay for equity increases when hiring a new individual. (Please note: UNCW's policy is not to create equity problems, and we typically do not hire above the minimum of the paygrade. The concern being that current employees are making the same amount as new employees. This also will be looked at in this study.)

The study will take the next two years, and it is not known at this time what the outcome of that study will be. Kay Robinson, associate vice chancellor of business affairs-human resources, is serving on the State Technical Advisory Committee. Call Kay at ext. 3274 with any questions.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Lisa Allred/Accounting; Shashikala Gnanasekaran/ALTERNATIVES; Cynthia Hucks/Budget.

First Union Pledges $100,000 to UNCW

On March 18, Chancellor Leutze announced a corporate gift of $100,000 from the First Union Foundation to establish the First Union Cameron School Endowment. Presenting the initial check for $10,000 to the university were Malcolm E. "Mac" Everett III, president of First Union National Bank of North Carolina, and Randall C. Tomsic, First Union Wilmington city executive.

Total pledges and contributions to UNCW's five-year, $15 million Capital Campaign now stand at $13 million.

"Support by North Carolina's banking community has been critical to the early success of our capital campaign," Leutze said. "The University of North Carolina at Wilmington is extremely pleased to announce this major gift from the First Union Foundation, the first major contribution to this university from First Union.

"Well before others saw the value of adopting education as a cause worthy of business support, First Union began a variety of initiatives to promote and support excellence in education. One of my favorites is the First Union Outstanding Educator Award to outstanding K-12 teachers and principals."

"We are very pleased that you have added UNC Wilmington and our Cameron School of Business to those you actively support," said Leutze. Commemorating the establishment of the endowment, Leutze presented First Union representatives with a plaque featuring a medallion and the UNCW seal designating the First Union National Bank Teaching Excellence Award. A replica of the plaque will hang in the lobby of the Cameron School.

In presenting the check, Mac Everett commented, "This marks the beginning of a new partnership between First Union and UNC Wilmington, as we both strive to extend our outreach to the community. Our company has a long-standing commitment to excellence in education, and we're proud to be a partner in the continuing success of the Cameron School of Business."

First Union National Bank of North

Carolina, which had $22 billion in assets at Dec. 31, 1993, has the top market share among all financial institutions in the state, based on deposits of $17.2 billion. The bank, which was established in 1908, is a principal subsidiary of Charlotte-based First Union Corporation (NYSE: FTU and FTUp), the nation's ninth-largest bank holding company, on the basis of $70.8 billion in assets at Dec. 31, 1993.

Chancellor Leutze addresses attendees of the First Union National Bank corporate gift announcement on the front steps of the Cameron School of Business.

Faculty Reassignment Award Recipients

Provost Marvin K. Moss is pleased to announce the recipients of the 1994-95 Faculty Reassignment Awards.

The faculty and their departments, research areas, and award periods are as follows: Dr. Ravija Badarinathi (production and decision sciences), an investigation of error rate estimation in discriminant analysis, fall; Donald E. Furst (fine arts), study and production of software for computer animation, spring; Dr. Douglas Hoffman (management and marketing), development of instructional materials in services marketing, fall; Dr. Patricia Lerch (sociology and anthropology), monograph on the cultural history of the Waccamaw Sioux Indians of North Carolina, fall; and Dr. Lee Schwenger (English), a monograph on early American literature that challenges traditional approaches to its study, fall.

The recipients were selected by the Faculty Reassignment Awards Committee, which consisted of three previous recipients of the Faculty Scholarship Award and four other faculty selected by the deans of the College of Arts and Sciences, the Cameron School of Business, the School of Nursing and the School of Education.

Business Affairs Asks the Campus: What Do You Think of Us? Purchasing Services

UNCW Purchasing is a centralized, state-funded and regulated function with the sole purpose of supporting the educational mission of UNCW. We strive to operate with "quality service" to assure that our customers receive what they need at the best price and in a timely manner. We are by law, however, required to accomplish this within the regulations and guidelines set forth by the state of North Carolina.

The N.C. Department of Administration executes the laws developed by state legislature to manifest the state's best interest. The N.C. Division of Purchase and Contract negotiates umbrella contracts for mandatory use by all state agencies to assure this "best interest" is maintained in all purchasing arenas across the state.

We pursue changes to state contracts, as appropriate, to make them as effective as possible for all concerned. Presently, we are doing a cost comparison of office products available through state contract with those items available from local sources. We hope to have this ready for release to department heads in April. If you would like any specific items included in a price comparison, please relay the information to Mary Forsythe.

Quality is another concern and is considered highly in awarding state contracts. However, on occasion you may need something of higher (or lesser) quality. In these cases, we will certainly take into consideration your requirements and will do our best to get you exactly what you need, and of the quality that you need. This may mean obtaining special approval from the state to deviate from the contract.

Please call Purchasing with any questions or concerns.

UNCW's Fly Wright! Reached the Regional Level at Clemson

About 50 students and faculty members from UNCW participated in the production of FLY WRIGHT! The Story of Two Brothers. The original operetta composed and directed by Frank Trimble, associate professor of communication studies at UNCW, and produced by the UNCW University Theatre in the fine arts department, was one of two productions to win the North Carolina Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival (KC/ACTF) state competition held at Catawba College.

From there the play was taken to the regional level of competition. The five other productions that reached the region IV (Southeastern United States) level held at Clemson University were:

Lifelines - Northern Kentucky University;
She Stoops to Conquer - Centre College,
Kentucky; The Praying Mantis - University of North Carolina at Greensboro; Whose Life Is It Anyway? - University of Miami; and Smoke on the Mountain - Hinds Community College, Mississippi.

Six productions will be selected from the eight regional festivals that were held over the last several months. The chosen six will participate in the noncompetitive KC/ACTF national festival at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Tom Macie, set and light creator also an associate professor of fine arts at UNCW, said, "Despite a standing ovation at intermission and at the curtain call, our production did not make it to Washington." The experience was very rewarding, he said, for the participants who took Fly Wright! to the second highest level of the festival. Macie also noted that this was only the second time a UNCW production has even entered the KC/ACTF competition, that in itself is a great accomplishment.

Even though the play did not advance, the costume designer, Georgia Richardson, won the region IV costume design competition. Her renderings of the play's costumes won the December 1993 UNCW graduate a chance to compete in April for the National Design Competition in Washington, D.C.

"Chancellor's Forum" Examines the Collapse of Communism

UNCW will host a "Chancellor's Forum" panel discussion with nationally known experts in Soviet, European and international politics titled "Why Did Communism Collapse in 1989?" The forum takes place at 7:30 p.m., April 7, in Cameron Auditorium. The three speakers will be Gennadi Gerasimov, Charles Maier and Warner Schilling, with Dr. James R. Leutze serving as moderator.

Ambassador Gennadi Gerasimov, from Russia, is a visiting professor at UNCW. He was spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs under Mikhail Gorbachev and ambassador to Portugal under Boris Yeltsin. He will be talking on "Generational Change and the Collapse of Communism in the Soviet Union."

Dr. Charles Maier is Krupp Professor of European history and acting chairman of the Center for European Studies at Harvard University. He has done extensive writing on the interrelation of economics and politics in Europe. He is currently completing a book that investigates the collapse of the communist system in East Germany. Since December 1993, he has served as occasional consultant to the White House on matters of NATO policy. Maier will speak on "Economic Contradictions of Socialism."

Dr. Warner Schilling is James T. Shotwell professor of international relations and former associate director of the Institute for War and Peace Studies at Columbia University. He has written several books and articles on U.S. nuclear strategy, security and arms control in Europe. He has served as occasional consultant to the Department of State and the Department of Defense. He will talk on "Strains of Strategic Rivalry: Did the United States Win the Cold War?"

Panel members will offer short presentations on the social, economic and strategic problems faced by the Soviet regime followed by discussion and questions from the audience.

Sponsored by the departments of history, political science, philosophy, and religion, the College of Arts and Sciences and the Cameron School of Business, this program is free and open to the public.

Business Affairs Asks the Campus: What Do You Think of Us?

Administrative Procedures and Forms

The Systems and Procedures Office is responsible for the Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual. The question most asked is "How can we minimize unnecessary paperwork?"

Recently, the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences asked us to look into PC-based forms input. We are currently working with the College of Arts and Sciences' staff on this project and looking into other possibilities for electronic forms access. In addition, we have provided campus-wide electronic access to Administrative Procedures using the Videotext system. If you have access to the VAX, you can view up-to-date administrative policy without the hassle of maintaining or updating printed volumes. As a result of this change, 85 printed manuals were taken out of circulation in favor of electronic access.

We are open to any suggestions that will keep administrative paperwork to a minimum. Please contact the Systems and Procedures Office at ext. 3257.

ADVISORY MEETING DATES SET

Chancellor's Staff Advisory Committee meeting is scheduled for 7 a.m., Tuesday, April 5; the Chancellor's Faculty Advisory Committee meeting is scheduled for 7 a.m., Monday, April 11. Faculty and staff are encouraged to contact these members to address issues of concern.

Student Advisory Committee: Victor Brown, Cara Chickanosky, JoEllen Frank, Randy Good, Samantha Hardy, Nathaniel Hill, Roger Hyman, Leslie Noukelak, Bobbi Pate, Reggie Perry, Tyese Scott, Kande Shipp, Brian Abbot, Christina Raynes.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Gur Saran Adhar, mathematical sciences, presented his research paper "Mixed Domination in Trees: A Parallel Algorithm" at the 25th Southeastern International Conference on Combinatorics, Graph Theory and Computing held March 7-11 at Florida Atlantic University. Adhar was also an invited speaker at the University of Umea, Sweden, where he presented his ongoing research in the parallel algorithms area of computer science in two separate lectures on Feb. 28 and March 1.

Dr. Joel Mintzes and Anne Kendrick, biological sciences, recently had their article "Alternative Conceptions in Sexually Transmitted Diseases: A Cross-Age Study" published in the Journal of Sex Education and Therapy.

Dr. Earl Sheridan, political science, delivered a paper titled "Classical Republicanism and Slavery" at the annual meeting of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists in Hampton, Va., March 10-12, 1994.

Dr. Lewis E. Nance, chemistry, published a paper titled "Temperature and Field Dependent ¹³C NMR Relaxation Studies of the Reorientation of Methyl Iodide." Co-authors were Dr. A.A. Rodriguez and graduate student P.B. Simcox, East Carolina University. This is a study of the type3 of rotational motion that a molecule encounters while colliding with its neighboring molecules in the liquid state.

Dr. Ronald J. Vetter, mathematical sciences, will present a paper at the Eighth International Parallel Processing Symposium's Workshop on Heterogeneous Computing (IPPS '94) on April 26-29, 1994, in Cancun, Mexico. The paper, "A Network Architecture for Distributed High Performance Heterogeneous Computing," was co-authored with S. Bhattacharya, D. Du, A. Pavan and S. Tong of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, and K. Williams of North Carolina A&T State University, Greensboro, N.C. The paper will be published in the conference proceedings.

Official Notices

Dr. Donnalee Frega, English, presented "Teaching How to Unlearn: Fictions of Tim McLaurin" at the Society for the Study of Southern Literature Conference in New Orleans, La., March 24-27. Her interview with McLaurin will be published in a special edition of The Southern Quarterly this spring.

Dr. Robert Mark Spaulding, history, will present his research on "East-West Trade as German-American Problem in the 1950s" at the June 1994 annual meeting of the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations.

Dr. Paula K. Kamenish and Dr. Lindsay Pentolfe Aegerter, English, participated in the spring meeting of the Southern Atlantic States Association for Asian and African Studies, March 18-19, at Presbyterian College in Clinton, S.C. As chair for the association's Faculty Development Committee, Dr. Kamenish organized a seminar on the "Politics of Human Rights," and Dr. Pentolfe Aegerter served as invited speaker on the panel on human rights issues in Asia and Africa.

Dr. James D. Johnson, psychology, had his article "Violent Attitudes and Deferred Academic Aspiration: Deleterious Effects of Exposure to Rap Music" accepted for publication in Basic and Applied Social Psychology. Also, Dr. Johnson's article "Construct Accessibility, AIDS, and Judgment" will be published in the March issue of the Journal of Social Behavior and Personality. Both articles were co-authored by Lee A. Jackson, psychology, and student assistant Leslie Gatto.

Dear Faculty and Staff:

Due to your many accomplishments and achievements, the Faculty and Staff column sometimes gets too long to publish in its entirety. Please be assured that your achievement will be printed as soon as there is room. As editor, I look forward to receiving your announcements and hope you will continue to send them to the Communique. Please do not be discouraged by the length of time it takes the announcement to appear.

Proposed Craft Show and Sale

A craft show and sale for fall 1994 featuring craftsmen who are UNCW employees is being proposed. The proposed idea is to have the show on a weekend. The public will be invited to attend, but only UNCW employees will have booths. This is just an inquiry to see how much interest there is, not a commitment at this time. Please call ext. 3415 or send e-mail to STRICKLANDM.

Please Note

When announcing Cennie Beatty's new position in the office of the Vice Chancellor for University Advancement, a mistake was made in her title. Her correct title is Office Assistant III.

American Indian Celebration to be Held Friday

The UNCW School of Nursing, in cooperation with the N.C. Commission of Indian Affairs and the Coastal Area Health Education Center, is sponsoring an "American Indian Celebration" at UNCW on Friday, April 8.

The program will feature American Indian music, medicine, folklore, current issues, dance and food.

Although the original purpose was to inform healthcare providers about the American Indian culture, the festival has become a celebration of the 84,000 American Indians who currently live in North Carolina.

Organizers hope to provide the public with more in-depth information on a culturally diverse population which has lived in North Carolina for thousands of years.

Enjoy an American Indian food sampler ($2 fee) from noon to 2 p.m. Concurrent 45-minute sessions will also be repeated on campus. The topics include: "Medicine and Healing"; "Current Issues"; and "Contact Period History." In addition, Ray Little Turtle and the Lumbee-Cheraw Dancers of Jacksonville, N.C., will be featured in a music and dance session.

The keynote speaker for the festival is Judith Black Feather, RN, BSN, who will speak on "The American Indian: A New Tomorrow." Black Feather, chief of the Indian Health Service Area Nursing Branch, is deputy director of its office of health programs in Phoenix, Arizona.

A nationally known authority on Indian affairs and healthcare, Black Feather serves as an ex-officio facilitator for the National Alaska Native American Indian Nurses Association. She is a noted speaker and presenter, most recently serving as the keynote speaker of the pre-convention seminar for the National League for Nurses.

All sessions are free of charge and open to the public.

For more information, call ext. 3784.

Schedule:

Tape Dubbing

Operator Services, under the direction of the Audiovisual Department, will provide dubbing services for videotapes. For a fee of $10 per copy, a standard VHS and VHS dub is offered, the tape is included. When utilizing this service, please bring your original tape and a written request, along with the departmental account number to be billed, to the Telecommunications Department.

Remember that copyright laws must be observed when duplicating tapes!

The Audiovisual Department also offers the dubbing service using a multi-standard VCR. This allows us to convert tape formats of other countries. This equipment can be used to dub a foreign tape to our standard and is able to convert your original tape into the format of your choice to be sent abroad. The same procedure and fee is required for this service. Please note that the Audiovisual Department looks to have editing capabilities in the future.

Business Affairs Asks the Campus: What Do You Think of Us?

Accounting Department

The Accounting Department provides accounting support services to UNCW by assisting departments in general ledger accounting (FRS), payroll, accounts payable, cashiering and student accounts.

Accounting has been involved in the first stages of TQU and is in the process of reviewing each area of the department. Accounting has received feedback from recent surveys from the UNCW community and is currently reviewing the distribution of non-payroll checks to accommodate customer needs. We have been streamlining all processes so that payroll personnel can spend time assisting faculty, staff and students with their questions and concerns.

During the 1994-95 fiscal year, a TQU team will be formed to review the travel process in its entirety. Additionally, we are looking at the feasibility of establishing a separate window at the cashier's office to handle faculty and staff business.

Please call ext. 3143 with comments and suggestions.

Largest Donation in University History Benefits School of Education

Trustee Chair Eunice T. (Bambi) MacRae and Chancellor Leutze today announced that the university's School of Education will be named for the late Donald R. Watson, in recognition of his most recent contributions to the university.

Watson's donation, which brings his lifetime giving to the university to more than $2 million, establishes a distinguished professorship and an endowment for the School of Education plus a major merit scholarship program for the university.

MacRae and Leutze announced the donation at the regular quarterly meeting of the UNCW Board of Trustees.

"This is an historic occasion because Don Watson has done something of significance that will have an important impact for years to come," Leutze said. "He was a man of vision. Not only was he thinking of what would help the school in 1994 but he looked ahead to 2094. This is an important endowment."

Robert Warwick, co-chairman of the capital campaign, agreed, saying, "It's a major gift that will be an asset to the university from now on."

A long-time Wilmington businessman and former president of Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Wilmington, Watson believed the key to economic prosperity in the Cape Fear area was through education. His way of insuring that was by providing financial support to UNCW, particularly the School of Education.

A donation of property valued at approximately $1.3 million was made jointly last year by Watson and business partner Carl Brown. That contribution was used to establish two endowed chairs, one in the School of Education and another in marine sciences.

"Don Watson was a real leader who was extremely generous with his wealth and assets. He believed education was very important to the people of Wilmington and New Hanover County and that the university was a major factor in the economic development of the county," Warwick said.

"He really did have a giving way about him. He was very generous. When something was shown to him and there was a need, and it would benefit a large number of people, he was willing to go out and work for it," said Brown, who was both a business partner and a close friend of Watson.

"Don Watson was a real leader . . . he believed education was very important . . . and that the university was a major factor in the economic development of the county."

A portrait of Watson, who passed away March 19, will hang in King Hall which houses the Donald R. Watson School of Education.

Before Watson's death, the School of Education presented him with a resolution which recognized the dedication in his "personal, public and business life to advancing the quality of life for the citizens of Wilmington."

The resolution also pointed out that Watson "expressed his belief in the mission of the School of Education in producing teachers for public schools who are of the highest intellectual ability, who demonstrate excellence in technical competencies and who display a deep and abiding passion for developing the minds of our community's youth."

Dr. Brad Walker, director of student studies in the School of Education, said Watson's gift "makes a significant impact on the kinds of experiences we can give to students" and will help the School of Education bring state-of-the-art equipment and materials needed for the preparation of quality teachers.

The establishment of an endowed professorship is significant for a school of this size, which is training approximately 850 students for teaching careers, Walker said.

The merit scholarships established with Watson's donation will enable UNCW to draw top students who might not otherwise be able to afford a college education. "That's going to have a big impact on allowing people to come to the university," Walker said. "How do you really put a value on that kind of an impact?"

SUMMER ORIENTATION

Departments that have information for distribution at orientation may deliver their materials to Alderman Hall, Room 101 during the week of May 2-6. Due to storage concerns, please do not deliver materials before or after these dates. Please mark your items for "freshmen only," "freshmen and parents," "transfers only" etc. Approximately 1000 new freshmen, 800 parents and 400 transfer students are expected during the June orientation sessions. For more information, call ext. 3089.

HONORS TELECONFERENCE

Faculty who presently have honors students and others interested in participating in the expanded Honors Program at UNCW are invited to attend the 1994 Spring Honors Teleconference on "Innovations in Honors Programs" sponsored by the Great Plains Honors Council and the National Collegiate Honors Council Task Force on Teleconferencing and Distance Learning Technology. The teleconference is scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., Friday, April 29, in Cameron Hall Auditorium. Faculty may also invite current honors students, as well as possible candidates for future honors work. The teleconference also will be videotaped for later viewing by interested faculty who may be unable to attend this event.

DISCOVER OUTDOOR PROGRAMS

Tour the coast of Charleston, S.C., on our sea kayaking trip April 22-24. We will be camping at James Island County Park and on Capers Island. The deadline to register is April 15 and spaces are limited. No experience is necessary for any of the Discover Programs! Rental equipment is available at day and weekend rates. For more information, call ext. 4052.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

All full-time faculty are invited to submit one-paragraph abstracts describing research that has appeared recently, or is in press, in peer-reviewed, professional media appropriate to their disciplines, including works in the fine arts. Forms are available from department chairs or from the Graduate School. From these, the editorial board will select four to five submissions for expansion into 1000-1300 word articles for the fall issue of UNCW Discovery. Consult recent issues of UNCW Discovery for guidance concerning the character of the publication.

CONTROLLED BURNS TO PROTECT LONG-LEAF PINE

Controlled burns on the undeveloped portions of the UNCW campus is the topic of a panel discussion at 7 p.m., April 20, in Kenan Auditorium. The group will examine the feasibility, impacts and positive effects of these burns to protect the long-leaf pines. This is sponsored by the Chancellor's Office, Biology Club and the Environmental Concerns Organization of UNCW. The public is encouraged to attend, and it is free of charge.

GLOBAL VOLUNTEERS

UNCW's Global Volunteers, composed of 20 students and two UNCW staff members, will be traveling to Montego Bay, Jamaica, May 9-16, to paint the local YMCA. Global Volunteers is a service organization co-sponsored by the UNCW Leadership Center and United Christian Campus Ministries.

CURRICULUM COMMITTEE

The University Curriculum Committee will be holding an open hearing at 3 p.m., April 19, in King Hall Auditorium regarding the adoption of a comparative cultures / cultural diversity graduation requirement. The input of the entire faculty is requested. E-mail comments to LOCKLEDGEA if you are unable to attend.

Faculty and Staff

Agnes McDonald, English, has been notified by her publisher, Carolina Wren Press, Durham, N.C., that Journey Proud, her collection of excerpts from southern women's journals and diaries, will be forthcoming in June 1994. A conference titled "Journey Proud" will be held at N.C. Central University in Durham on June 10-11, featuring presentations on the narrative writing of ethnically diverse women. McDonald will read from her work on June 10 and moderate a panel on June 11 titled "Truth, Masks and Change: The Journal as A Literary Construct."

Dr. Lawrence B. Cahoon, biological sciences, assumed the duties of president of the N.C. Academy of Sciences (NCAS) at its annual meeting at Davidson College on March 26. Cahoon pledged that the Academy would continue to help train undergraduate and graduate science students in North Carolina, serve as a means for scientists across North Carolina to communicate with each other, and support improved science and mathematics education in the state's public schools.

Dr. Robert Roer, Dr. Richard Dillaman, and Dr. Thomas Shafer, biology, have received a two-year grant for $79,608 from the UNC Sea Grant Program for their proposal "The Role of Glycoproteins in Control of Tanning and Mineralization in the Blue Crab, Callinectes Sapidus." Blue crabs and other crustaceans must molt in order to grow. This study addresses how crabs control when they harden their exoskeleton after they molt. Experiments conducted by investigators at UNCW's CMSR indicate that hardening may result from changes in the proteins and glycoproteins in the exoskeleton which occur in the first two hours after the crab molts.

Dr. Kathy Rugoff, English, presented "Sexuality and Complexity in the Poetry of Robert Frost" in the annual Modern Language Association Conference, held in December. Earlier she presented "Bebop and Bach: Music and the Cultural Spheres of Langston Hughes and Louis Zukofsky" as part of the National Poetry Foundation Conference.

Dr. Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, three graduate students and two undergraduate students attended the 22nd Annual Benthic Ecology Meeting in Mystic, Conn., March 17-20. Dr. Pawlik gave a presentation titled "Do glass spicules defend reef sponges from fish predators?" Brian Chanas and Alicia Henrikson, both MS students, gave presentations entitled "Anti-predatory defenses of the Caribbean reef sponge Agelas clathrodes: When tough is not tough enough" and "A new method for assaying metabolites for antifouling properties"

Chris Kaberline, housing and residence life, was named "Advisor of the Year" by the North Carolina Association of Residence Halls at the state conference in February.

Dr. Joseph Yan, mathematical sciences, presented "Bifurcations in Reversible Systems in the Presence of Z2-symmetry" at the Southeast Dynamical Systems Conference at Auburn University on March 24.

Dr. Richard Mullendore, associate vice chancellor for student affairs, served as a panelist on the topic "Imperative for Further Learning: Discussions Between White and Black Men" at the American College Personnel Association's National Convention in Indianapolis, Ind., on March 7.

A joint research proposal by Dr. Joseph Yan, Dr. Yaw Chang, Dr. Xin Lu and Dr. Wei Feng, mathematical sciences, has been selected for funding by the North Carolina Supercomputing Center. Computing time on supercomputer CRAY Y-MP are allocated for their various research needs.

Dr. Judith Hayn, specialty studies, presented "A Novel Alternative: Using Short Stories, Plays, and Poetry with Young Adults" at the 14th Annual Conference on Writing and Literature in Overland Park, Kan., on March 6-7. Co-presenting with her were Melissa Howard, graduate student in the master of arts in teaching English program, and Brad Hayn, undergraduate major in secondary English education.

RESCHEDULED DATES:

May 17, 19 and 24; 3-4:30 (all sessions)

For more information, please contact Kimberly Best-Tuten at ext. 3712.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: David Dickman/Biology; Marcus Johnson/English.

Summer Hours

Summer hours begin Monday, May 16 (the first short Friday is May 20) and end Friday, August 12. During this period, the official operating hours of UNCW are 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 7:30-11:30 a.m. on Fridays. Employees working these hours will take a half-hour lunch Monday through Thursday and no lunch on Fridays. Division vice chancellors may approve different flex schedules for departments, providing each employee is scheduled to work 40 hours during each work week (Sunday midnight-Sunday midnight). Please notify Human Resources if a different schedule is approved. Remember, relaxed dress is appropriate during the summer schedule. Call ext. 3392 or ext. 3698 if you have any questions.

Fourth of July Holiday

Plan now for the July 4 holiday which falls on the first Monday in July. Employees should count eight hours toward holiday time and use one hour of vacation leave to cover this holiday (employees having accrued comp time may use one hour in lieu of vacation leave). Supervisors may redesignate work hours for the July 4 week to schedule 32 working hours (i.e., if Friday, July 8 is rescheduled for 7:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., employees should enter five regular hours worked (column 1) on the timesheet). Time for this holiday may not be made up after the week beginning July 4. Call ext. 3392 or ext. 3698 if you have any questions.

Chancellor's Hours

Students can meet with Chancellor Leutze in his office during the following hours:
8:30 to 9:30 a.m., Thursday, April 14
3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Thursday, April 28

12th Annual Jazz Festival Features Baritone Saxophonist Denis DiBlasio

The UNCW Jazz Program, under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, will host its 12th annual Jazz Festival and Concert on April 22 and 23 in the University Center Ballroom.

Special guest will be Denis DiBlasio. DiBlasio served as both musical director and arranger to Maynard Ferguson and his big band during the 80s. As featured soloist on four of Ferguson's recordings, DiBlasio also co-produced the legendary "Body and Soul" release.

Today, DiBlasio stays busy leading his own quartet, performing across the nation and abroad. He has three solo recordings including his critically acclaimed recent release entitled "Catch Me."

As an enthusiastic educator for Temple University, Glassboro State College and Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts, Denis DiBlasio also has numerous publications including original jazz arrangements, jazz improvisational texts and articles.

DiBlasio will conduct clinics and critique jazz ensembles during the afternoon sessions (1-5 p.m.) of the festival and will be a featured soloist at the Saturday evening concert (8 p.m.). The afternoon clinics are free and open to the public. The Saturday evening performance will be $5 for general admission, $3 for students and senior citizens and free for UNCW students with valid I.D.

DiBlasio will perform on baritone saxophone, flute and scat vocals on such arrangements as Anthropology, La Fiesta, I Got News For You, A Meeting of the Minds, and Three and One among others.

For more information, call ext. 3390.

UNCW Fashion Show and Dinner to Benefit Scholarship Fund

All That Jazz, II, a fashion show and dinner, will be held at 7 p.m., Thursday, April 28, in the University Center Ballroom. The show is sponsored by The University Women of UNCW, a group of about 90 faculty, staff, and spouses of university employees.

Tickets are $15, and are available at the Information Center in the University Union or from participating merchants. Monies raised from the fashion show go to benefit the group's scholarship fund. This year, male and female models will wear spring fashions provided by Country Vogue, The Wonder Shop, Sondra's Boutique, Fleishman's Fine Clothiers, The Julia, Hilda Godwin's, Belk Beery, R. Bryan & Co., Gentry House, UNCW Bookstore and Personal Touch.

Models scheduled to appear include Vice Chancellor for University Advancement William G. Anlyan, Jr., and Vice-Chancellor for Public Service and Extended Education, Dr. Michelle Howard-Vital.

The University Women of UNCW was founded in 1951 as the Faculty Wives Group. Although started as a social organization, it has grown not only to promote fellowship but to support the programs of UNCW, and most importantly, to provide scholarships to needy women.

Director and Associate Director Chosen for Honors Program

Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Dr. Marvin K. Moss is pleased to announce the appointments of Dr. Diane Levy as director and Dr. Patricia Turrisi as associate director of the newly expanded Honors Program.

Levy and Turrisi were recommended, from a pool of applicants, to Provost Moss by the Interim Honors Advisory Council.

Drs. Levy and Turrisi will begin working with the Council immediately to develop the pilot program that will begin with the 1994-95 freshman class. They also will finalize the full program proposal for approval by the Faculty Senate in the fall.

ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE

University Advancement staff have a direct challenge for you . . . we are offering a deluxe car wash (including interior clean) for everyone in each department that matches Advancement's percentage of participation in the Loyalty Fund. We are well on the way to exceeding last year's record of $23,150 contributed from faculty and staff. However, in order to do that before June 30 (the end of the fiscal year), it will take a concerted effort from everyone. Show your loyalty today by making your gift to UNCW. The gift you give can directly benefit you and your department.

The date of the car wash will be announced soon, so check your department to assure 100 percent participation! Call ext. 3004 with questions.

"OOZEBALL" IS HERE

Join the UNCW Ambassadors at the first UNCW "Oozeball" tournament sponsored by Belk Beery from 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Saturday, April 23, in Brook's Field. Mud volleyball is the rage on campuses across the nation, and the Ambassadors are proud to sponsor the first tournament at UNCW. For more information, call ext. 3004.

MATHEMATICS AND MEDICINE

A presentation of "Stand and Deliver," the story of the efforts of Jaime Escalante, a Los Angeles math teacher, to raise underprivileged students' expectations in themselves enough to want to learn AP calculus, will be shown at 7 p.m., Friday, April 29, in the Randall Library Auditorium. This will be in celebration of Mathematics Awareness Week, April 24-30.

Mathematics Awareness Week is a national celebration of mathematics in the community. This year's theme is "Mathematics and Medicine." The interface between mathematics and the biological sciences is becoming an active and interesting area of interdisciplinary study—from the modeling of biological processes to the growing science of medical imaging. The Mathematics Department has devoted a bulletin board to this theme. Feel free to offer contributions related to the interface between mathematics and the biological sciences, as we continue this theme throughout the rest of 1994.

ARTS IN ACTION

UNCW composers to perform at noon, April 25, in the Hawk's Nest. Original music by student composers Eleanor Ebersole, Brad Martin, Jay Manley and Bryce Masterson will be heard.

Arts in Action will be sponsoring the Cross Creek Pipes and Drums in a special parade to be held at noon, April 30, on campus beginning at Wagoner Hall and ending on the lawn in front of Randall Library. Following the march, there will be Scottish dances performed and shortbread served. This is free and open to the public. For more information, call ext. 3797.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Judith Hayn, specialty studies, was appointed to a three-year term on the Commission on Middle Grades English Language Arts Teacher Education while attending the National Council of Teachers of English 1994 Spring Conference in Portland, Ore., March 10-12.

Dr. Paz Bartolome, curricular studies, and Dr. Judith Hayn, specialty studies, co-presented "Collaborative Reading of a Novel: Adapting the Macro-Cloze Procedure for Reading a Novel" at Focus 2000: Circle of Inclusion, The Association for Childhood Education International Study Conference, in New Orleans, La., March 30-April 2. Joining them in the workshop were Lynn Frankland, graduate student in reading education, and Angela Joyner, language arts teacher at Topsail Middle School.

Dr. Charles B. Dodson, English, spoke on change in the English language to the Cape Fear Lions Club on April 4.

Dr. James Johnson, psychology, and three of his student assistants presented three papers at the 1994 meeting of the Southeastern Psychological Association. A paper titled "Violent Attitudes and Deferred Academic Aspirations: Deleterious Effects of Exposure to Rap Music" was presented by Dr. Johnson. Leslie Gatto and Eric Whitestone presented "Perceptual Bias and Ambiguity: Assessing the Effects of Factors Which Modify Perceptions of Sexual Harassment." "Differential Gender Effects of Exposure to Rap Music" was presented by Amy Nowak.

Allan R. Riggs, physician assistant at the Student Health and Wellness Center, has accepted a new position as physician assistant at the Student Health Center at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Robert A. Warren, grounds supervisor III, has been elected vice chairman of the New Hanover County Extension Turfgrass Advisory Committee.

Administrative Procedures

A revised functional index for the Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual is now available on the VAX. This index provides a listing of administrative functions performed by various university departments, as well as the contact person and the telephone extension to call if you need further assistance or if you have questions regarding a specific administrative function. The manual can be accessed through VXA, VXB or VXC on the VAX by typing INFO at the username prompt. Administrative procedures can also be accessed through SNBALLEXP and through FRS and SIS menus.

Student Timesheets

The student timesheet deadline for April is 3 p.m., April 28. Work performed on April 29 should be reported on May's timesheet. Incomplete or late timesheets will not be processed, causing a delay in payment. There will be no exceptions.

Inventory Reports

All annual departmental inventory printouts have been distributed. Please call ext. 3875, if your department has not received yours. When reporting lost or stolen equipment, the UNCW FAS number should be referenced on the initial report taken by University Police. Please cross reference your inventory report with the information given to the police.

High-Speed Modems

Fifteen additional high speed dial-in access modems, to connect to campus computing resources, have been installed and are being tested. Dial 350-4270 to access these modems. The 11 older modem series can still be accessed by dialing 395-3700 during this test phase.

NationsBank Pledges $200,000 to UNCW's Capital Campaign

Chancellor James R. Leutze today announced a corporate gift of $200,000 from NationsBank. The contribution will be used to establish the NationsBank Growing Scholars Program, an endowment whose earnings will be used to support merit scholarships in the university's new honors program.

In making the announcement, Leutze acknowledged the crucial importance of North Carolina's banking community as the university seeks to reach its $15 million capital campaign. "Today, another of North Carolina's finest has stepped up to meet the challenge," he said.

"In the past few years, NationsBank has increased its size and national presence dramatically. During this time, they have realized the importance of reinvesting in the people they serve and have made a commitment to help ensure the growth of the communities they serve," Leutze said.

"By establishing the NationsBank Growing Scholars program, the bank is making a distinguished effort to guarantee the growth of the students who attend UNCW and to help us recruit the nation's top students."

To symbolize the concept of the NationsBank Growing Scholars Program, Leutze pointed out the first live oak in what will be a grove of oak trees planted adjacent to Wagoner Hall, the campus dining facility. "It is my hope," said Leutze, "that as these trees grow to become strong and outreaching, the same will be said of the NationsBank Growing Scholars program as it brings academically gifted students to the University of North Carolina at Wilmington."

Presenting the check to the university was Sid Warner, North Carolina

Community Banking executive for NationsBank. "As the largest bank in the South, NationsBank is committed to quality education," Warner said. "We feel our $200,000 gift to the University of North Carolina at Wilmington makes a direct investment in the students who are the future of this community and this state."

"And ultimately, if our communities are successful, NationsBank is successful," he added.

NationsBank has assets of $165 billion and a retail banking franchise in nine states and the District of Columbia. NationsBank serves New Hanover County customers through eight banking centers.

Special invited guests at the ceremony and a luncheon following were teachers of academically gifted students in the New Hanover County schools.

Marine Biology Student Receives Perfect Score on GRE

Timothy Proseus, senior marine biology student, scored a perfect 99 percent on the biology Graduate Record Exam (GRE). Dr. Dan Plyler, professor of biology, says "We are extremely proud of Timothy. To rank 99 percent on any nationwide exam is quite an accomplishment. It is not only impressive in what it says about Timothy but also in terms of what it says about the university."

Although Proseus is very pleased with his score, he says he would like to keep it in perspective. He says not everyone looks at standardized test questions the same way, and although it does help in respect to graduate school, he does not feel it is necessarily a predictor of future potential.

Proseus finds his work at UNCW's Center for Marine Science Research a big part of an overall rewarding experience at UNCW. He says UNCW still has focus, and since it is a small school it encourages individual attention. "You are not restricted in the classroom," Proseus says, "and the small size of the classes allows a one-on-one environment."

Announcements

MCDENVER AT MCDONALD'S PROJECT

The UNCW School of Nursing, Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and McDonald's would like you and your child to participate in an expansion of the McDenver at McDonald's project. This is an opportunity for you to learn more about your child and an opportunity for us to train teachers of nurses and recreational therapists in the latest techniques for child development screening. We are seeking parents and their children ages three months to five years to come to a designated McDonald's from 9-11 a.m., Friday, June 10, to participate in a practice session using the Denver II Developmental Screening Test. For more information, call ext. 3205.

ALUMNI BOAT RAFFLE

The Alumni Association is raffling a dynamic 17-foot Boston Whaler Montauk with 90 horsepower Evinrude and Load Rite trailer. Tickets are $20 each, and only 2500 are to be sold. The drawing will be held this spring. For tickets, call ext. 3616.

GRADUATION BREAKFAST

Graduating seniors, their families and guests, faculty and staff are invited to attend an outdoor continental breakfast from 8-9 a.m., May 14, on the UNCW Quadangle (tent provided).

ALL THAT JAZZ II

All That Jazz II dinner and fashion show will be held at 7 p.m., April 28, in the University Center. Tickets are $15 available at the University Union and at the door. Chancellor Leutze also will be modeling the latest fashions along with many other university figures. Come join us for an enjoyable evening!

SUMMER ORIENTATION

Departments that have information for distribution at orientation may deliver their materials to Alderman Hall, Room 101 during the week of May 2-6. Due to storage concerns, please do not deliver materials before or after these dates. Please mark your items for "freshmen only"; "freshmen and parents"; "transfers only"; etc. Approximately 1000 freshmen, 800 parents and 400 transfer students are expected during the June orientation sessions. For more information, call ext. 3089.

HONORS TELECONFERENCE

Faculty who presently have honors students and others interested in participating in the expanded Honors Program at UNCW are invited to attend the 1994 Spring Honors Teleconference on "Innovations in Honors Programs" sponsored by the Great Plains Honors Council and the National Collegiate Honors Council Task Force on Teleconferencing and Distance Learning Technology. The teleconference is scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., April 29, in Cameron Hall Auditorium. Faculty may also invite current honors students, as well as possible candidates for future honors work. The teleconference also will be videotaped for later viewing by interested faculty who may be unable to attend the April event.

RESERVE THOSE LISTS

Faculty teaching courses during Summer Sessions I and II should submit reserve reading lists before May 6. Faculty are requested to submit reserve reading lists for fall 1994 before leaving for the summer. Reserved reading lists may be sent through campus mail to Carolyn Andrews at the library or through e-mail to ANDREWSC. Previous lists may be renewed by calling the reserve desk in Randall Library at ext. 3790.

DISCOVER PROGRAMS

Going Camping? Need Equipment? Discover Outdoor Programs provides a variety of quality gear for rent. Discover also has a complete collection of maps and guides covering most of the Southeast. Located in the University Center, Room 138, office hours are Monday - Friday, 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE

University Advancement staff has a direct challenge for you . . . we are offering a deluxe car wash (including interior clean) for everyone in each department that matches advancement's staff's percentage of participation in the Loyalty Fund. We are on the way to exceeding last year's record of $23,150 contributed from faculty and staff. However, in order to do that before June 30 (the end of the fiscal year), it will take a concerted effort from everyone. Show your loyalty today by making your gift to UNCW. The gift you give can directly benefit you and your department.

The date of the car wash will be announced soon, so check your department to assure 100 percent participation! Call ext. 3004 with questions.

ALUMNI ON THE MOVE!

The UNCW Alumni Relations office will be making a move to their new home, Wise Alumni House, located at 1713 Market Street. Please stop by, take the grand tour and enjoy the beauty of this grand old home. Beginning May 2, Pat Corcoran, Alumni Relations Director, can be reached at 763-1748. Please direct all correspondence to the Wise House address.

UNC Wilmington University Planning

Update on 1993-94 Planning Activities

The university has taken some significant steps in its planning process over the last few years. This would not have been possible without the efforts of many if not most members of the campus community. Your diligence and concern for the future of our university community is deeply appreciated. What follows is a brief update on this year's activities and several items that remain to be accomplished. Planning is a multi-step process which includes declaring who we are, what we value, and where we are going as an organization. UNCW has adopted a rather lengthy statement which has and will continue to serve as the foundation of our planning process. Efforts were made this year to develop a more concise statement which adequately addresses the purpose of a mission statement and yet does not overburden the reader with excessive detail. In January, the Planning Committee adopted the following statement which will appear in future editions of the college catalogue and other documents.

Concise Mission Statement

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington is an evolving comprehensive university dedicated to excellence in teaching, in scholarly and artistic achievement, and in service to regional and global communities. As the only university in the region, it has a special responsibility to education and service. Particularly in its primary mission, the teaching of undergraduates in a broad range of disciplines and professional fields, the University seeks to stimulate intellectual curiosity, imagination, rational thinking, thoughtful expression, and love of learning. Knowledge of the humanities, the social and natural sciences and the fine arts is central to its curriculum. The University likewise regards scholarly endeavors as essential for faculty and students. It encourages research and seeks to attract faculty who are excellent teachers and have diverse scholarly interests. The University's location in an historic Atlantic seaport provides special opportunities for teaching and research in a variety of fields, among them marine and environmental sciences, the humanities, and business. In its public service role, the University serves as a resource and catalyst for regional growth and development.

In February the Planning Committee, after receiving input from various campus constituencies and considerable discussion, adopted the following university-wide planning objectives/priorities. These statements, many with specific deadlines, are intended to set more specific targets for the institution and will serve as a beginning step in building the linkage between the planning and the resource allocation processes.

Campus-wide Goal (1) Enhance the quality of the learning experience at all levels specifically emphasizing the university's historical commitment to the preparation of the undergraduate student

Continue to improve quality of the undergraduate curriculum

Increase opportunities for inter-disciplinary teaching and learning experiences

Continue to improve quality of academic support services

Define measures that will provide information on level of user satisfaction with academic support services (Registrar's Office, academic advising, placement, etc.), determine current levels, and monitor changes over time.

Continue to improve quality of entering undergraduate students

Increase average SAT score of entering freshmen from current 936 to 986 by fall 1996

Increase number of merit based scholarships from current 61 (31-Need Based, 30-Non-Need Based) to 120 (45-Need Based, 75-Non-Need Based) by fall 1997

Improve enrollment management of undergraduates with emphasis given to student recruitment, retention, progression, graduation, and placement

Student Recruitment - Increase freshmen yield rate (percent of accepted students that enroll) from 33% to 40% by fall 1997

Student Retention - Increase freshmen first year retention from current 77% to system average of 83% by fall 1997

Student Graduation - Increase percentage of freshmen graduating in four years from current 23% to at least 30% by the year 2001

Student Graduation - Increase percentage of freshmen graduating in six years from current 48% to at least 55% by the year 2005

Expand availability and utilization of computing and other technologies

Reduce ratio of number of students per microcomputer from current 114:1 to 40:1 by fall 1997

Develop plan to double utilization of distance learning classrooms by fall 1996 (current usage 10.25 hours per week)

Expand information resources for instruction and research

Define measures that provide data on availability and utilization of information sources (INTERNET information retrieval, library usage, etc.), determine current levels for measures, then monitor changes over time

Expand opportunities for and participation in learning experiences outside the classroom

Campus-wide Goal (2) Strengthen and develop the role of graduate education

Continue to enhance quality of entering graduate students

Increase average Graduate Record Exam score for entering students from current 1090 to 1110 by Fall 1997

Increase average Miller Analogies Test score for entering students from current 48 to 53 by Fall 1997

Increase average GMAT score for entering students from current 532 to 545 by Fall 1997

Increase financial support for graduate students

Increase number of teaching and research assistantships from current 89 to 95 by fall 1996

Increase number of graduate fellowships from current 5 to 7 by fall 1997

Increase graduate tuition remissions from current 10 to 20 by fall 1997

Increase number of graduate minority scholarships from current 0 to 8 by fall 1997

Increase program offerings at the graduate level

Increase support for existing graduate degree programs

Increase number of graduate degree programs offered by the University from current 12 to 15 by fall 1997

Improve enrollment management of graduate students with emphasis given to recruitment, retention, progression, and graduation

Increase total fall semester graduate enrollment from current 376 to 10% of total university enrollment by the year 2000

Increase fall graduate school applications from current 327 to 650 by fall 1997

Increase overall graduation rate from current 60% to 65% by fall 2000

Continue to improve quality of the graduate curriculum

Expand availability of instructional and research resources including facilities, technologies, and information sources

Increase number of graduate research carrels in the library from current 0 to 8 by fall 1997

Campus-wide Goal (3) Sustain and strengthen teaching, learning, research, creative work and other forms of scholarship throughout the university

Expand opportunities to recognize faculty for excellence in teaching, research, and creative work

Maintain 1994 level of awards and stipends for excellence in teaching, research, and creative work and other forms of scholarship

Increase support to enhance faculty teaching, research, creative work and other forms of scholarship

Increase number of grant applications from current 114 to 150 by fall 1997

Increase funding from grant awards from current $6 million to $10 million by fall 1997

Provide office space for each full-time faculty member by fall 1997

Increase stipends for faculty teaching summer school

Expand opportunities for faculty to improve teaching effectiveness

Establish mentoring program for new faculty

Establish teaching effectiveness program

Increase faculty access to and use of instructional technologies

Provide microcomputer/computer terminal for every full-time faculty member by fall 1996

Increase number of classrooms with hypermedia capabilities from current 8 to a minimum of 18 by fall 1997

Increase number of faculty utilizing instructional technologies from current 24 to 75 by fall 1997

Continue to expand opportunities for faculty development

Increase resources available for faculty participation in professional conferences and development programs

Increase number of faculty semester reassignments from 5 to 10 by fall 1996

Campus-wide Goal (4) Expand and strengthen the internationally recognized marine programs and broaden opportunities for marine related study, research, and public service throughout the university community,

Enhance resources to support expanded research in the marine sciences

By the designated date, complete plan to provide marine science research facilities on Myrtle Grove property

Increase efforts to integrate marine related information and research into the university's curriculum

Increase community awareness of marine research activities

Campus-wide Goal (5) Broaden the university community's study of and involvement in international activities,

Encourage expansion of the international component of the university curriculum

Broaden faculty involvement in all aspects of the international program

Increase faculty participation in study abroad programs by 10% per year (Current involvement - 20)

Increase assistance to international students attending the university with specific attention given to Visa applications

Increase tuition remissions for international students from current 0 to 4 by 1997

Increase numbers of degree seeking international students enrolling at the university

Increase the number of international students on campus by 10% per year (Current enrollment - 42)

Expand university community participation in international learning, teaching, research, consultation, and professional development programs

Increase external support for UNCW students participating in international programs

Campus-wide Goal (6) Expand campus awareness, involvement, and study of environmental issues specifically addressing those concerns unique to the world's coastal regions,

Continue to expand efforts to educate the region on environmental issues

Expand university's efforts to be environmentally responsible

Increase volume of materials recycled by fall 1999

Increase types of materials recycled by fall 1997

Expand on-campus opportunities that focus on the environment

Expand opportunities for study and research on environmental issues

Continue efforts to develop the campus as an arboretum and to preserve conservation areas on campus that are representative of ecosystems in the region

Campus-wide Goal (7) Broaden the university's leadership position as a regional service provider by initiating and coordinating programs that address the special needs of southeastern North Carolina

Expand support for campus based centers, consortia, institutes, etc. that focus on educational, economic, social, and business needs of the region

Expand support for technological transformation of the region including increased utilization of the North Carolina Information Highway

Increase regionally focused programming hours per semester originating from UNCW on NC Information Highway from current 29 to 116 by fall 1997

Expand training opportunities for regional leaders

Expand efforts to improve the educational performance of regional elementary and secondary students

Campus-wide Goal (8) Broaden the commitment to nurture, sustain, and expose the university community to a diversity of thought, culture, and ethnic background.

Continue development of the UNCW Center for World Cultures concept

By fall 1995, develop plan for implementing Center for World Cultures concept

Increase university community involvement in diversity issues

Improve quality of programs that address diversity issues

Encourage expanded promotion efforts and increased numbers of multicultural events on campus

Increase number of on-campus multicultural events by fall 1995

Increase diversity training opportunities for the university community

By fall 1996, increase number of diversity training programs offered

By fall 1995, increase participation at all levels in diversity training programs

Increase cultural and ethnic diversity of campus community

Increase diversity of administrative and academic community

Increase number of students coming from diverse cultural and ethnic backgrounds

One step that remains to be completed is the establishment of a formal linkage between planning and our Total Quality (TQU) efforts. Plans are to have these two efforts united under one umbrella by June 30th. This linkage will ensure that TQU is effectively linked to strategic planning and plays an integral role in our efforts to improve quality. With these changes, the Planning Committee will be renamed "The University Planning and Quality Council."

If UNCW of the future is to be successful then it is extremely important that we take more than a few moments to think about and plan for the world our successors will face. In planning, we are all called upon to accept an important responsibility - one that is challenging, rewarding, and bears fruit for our generation and ones to come.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Robert Toplin, history, published an article in the March 28, 1994, issue of The Chronicle of Higher Education titled "Many Latin Americanists Continue to Wear Ideological Blinders." He also received a fellowship for the fall from the Virginia Humanities Center in Charlottesville.

Dr. Rob Miller, sociology, served as discussant for a paper session on "The Politics of Race and Racism: Perceptual Realities," at the 57th annual meeting of the Southern Sociological Society, held in Raleigh, N.C., April 7-10.

Dr. Lee Johnston, political science, had his paper "Cumulative Voting, Real Authentic Leaders and the New Concurrent Majority" selected by the civil rights panel of the North Carolina Political Science Association as the best paper at the panel's recent meeting at UNC-Charlotte.

Dr. Xin Lu, mathematical sciences, presented a paper titled "Asymptotic Periodicity in Diffusive Logistic Equations with Discrete Delays," at the Annual Meeting of Southeastern-Atlantic Section of SIAM held in Winston-Salem, March 25.

Dr. Katia Campbell, foreign languages and literature, had a book chapter "Rabelais and the Massorah" published in Rabelais in Context, ed. Barbara C. Bowen, Summa, 1993.

Dr. Stephen McNamee, sociology and anthropology, was a discussant at the session on "Stability and Change in the Stratification Process" at the Southern Sociological Society Annual Meeting held in Raleigh, N.C., April 7-10.

Kathleen Halme, English, was recently named winner of the North Carolina Writers' Network Harperprints Chapbook Competition for her poetry manuscript, "The Everlasting Universe of Things." Edward Hirsch served as final judge. Halme will be awarded publication, $200, a reading and reception and 50 copies. She recently had two poems accepted for publication in The Virginia Quarterly Review.

University police officer Sgt. James Brown has been awarded the Advance Law Enforcement Certificate from the N.C. Department of Justice Criminal Justice Standards Division. This award is the highest level of certification in the state and is awarded based on a formula which combines formal education, law enforcement training and actual experience as law enforcement officers. Brown joins Chief Billy Dawson, Maj. Bob Riley, Lt. Charlie Willis, Sgt. Wayne Howell and Sgt. Becky Marshburn as the department's advance certification holders.

Mike Abernathy, financial aid, and Stephen Pullum, communications studies, recently won the UNCW men's intramural doubles tennis tournament.

Arthur J. Spivack, earth sciences, has had several papers accepted for publication. They include: "Borehole fluid chemistry in Hole 504B, Leg 137: Formation water or in situ reaction?" (Proceedings of Ocean Drilling Project); "Boron and halide systematics of marine hydrothermal systems: Implications for phase separation," (Earth and Planetary Science Letters); "The seawater alkalinity budget: The importance of low temperature crustal alteration," (Chemical Geology); "Stable chlorine isotopic compositions of marine aerosol particles," (Journal of Geophysical Research); "Precise Low-Level determination of stable chlorine isotopic ratios in silicate and aerosol samples," (Geochimica et Cosmochimica Acta). Spivack also organized and convened a session on "Marine Chemistry," presented a lecture on "The Precise Low-Level Determination of the Cl Isotopic Compositions of Terrestrial and Extra-terrestrial Materials" and co-authored a presentation on "The Cl Isotopic Systematics of Marine Pore Waters" at the March American Chemical Society meeting in San Diego, Calif.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Stephen Keys/Physical Plant; Marion Parker/Auxiliary Services.

Shared Leave

Kathy Cherry, library, has requested shared leave due to the serious illness and subsequent death of her husband. If you would like to donate vacation leave to Kathy, please send an approved leave form (Form G.7-1) to Human Resources, indicating the number of hours you would like to donate. The leave request form requires both your signature and your supervisor's approval. Employees may donate a minimum of four hours. If you have questions regarding shared leave, call ext. 3161 or ext. 3698.

Calls to Burgaw and Atkinson

The UNCW telephone system is now in the Southern Bell Community Caller Plus Plan, which means that the university gets unlimited calls for Wilmington, Castle Hayne, Wrightsville Beach, Scotts Hill, Carolina Beach and Acme exchanges. All calls dialed to Burgaw and Atkinson are now long distance calls according to Southern Bell. In order to make these calls from UNCW, you will have to use a credit card, dain line, place a collect call or have inward call billing. Inward call billing means that on your home phone, in either Burgaw or Atkinson, you are billed for all calls made from Wilmington. If you have this service, then you should contact operator services with proof of inward call billing. At that point, operator services will activate your number in the system, which will allow you to call your Burgaw or Atkinson number at no charge to the university.

Performance Evaluations

As a reminder, performance evaluations are due May 16. For more information, please call ext. 3161.

Office Staff Training and Development

Preparing Makes Sense

A life planning program workshop geared to career minded state employees with five years or more of service will be presented by UNCW Human Resources May 17-19, from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., in Human Resources Training Room.

The program is limited to 15 participants. We are limiting the target audience initially to career-minded state retirement participants with five years or more of service. After May 10, if there are spaces remaining, other employees may enroll. The cost of the three, half-day workshops is $10. This covers the workbook and refreshments each morning.

Please refer to the training schedule catalog for more detailed information and a registration form. For more information on the workshop, please call ext. 3713.

TIAA/CREF Retirement Seminar

Seats are still available for TIAA/CREF Optional Retirement Plan seminar from 2-3 p.m., April 28, or 9-10 a.m., April 29, in the Human Resources Training Room. Fran Strayhorn will discuss options available at retirement. Individual appointments may also be made. Call ext. 3006 for more information or to register.

Dr. Alice M. Rivlin to Speak at UNCW Commencement

Dr. Alice M. Rivlin will be the speaker during commencement beginning at 10 a.m., May 14. Regarded as one of the top economists in the country, Dr. Rivlin will be speaking to more than 900 UNCW graduates.

The university plans to graduate 557 students in Fine Arts and Sciences, 182 students in the Cameron School of Business, 77 students in the School of Education, 71 students in the School of Nursing and 59 graduate students.

Dr. Rivlin is the deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget in the Executive Office of the President. She was nominated for this position by President Clinton and confirmed by the U.S. Senate on January 21, 1993.

Prior to her current position, Dr. Rivlin was a professor of public policy at George Mason University. From 1987 to 1993 she also served as a senior fellow at the Brookings Institute, where she had previously been the director of Economic Studies from 1983 to 1987. During this time, Rivlin also served as assistant secretary for Planning and Evaluation in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In 1975, Dr. Rivlin became the founding director of the Congressional Budget Office. She served in this capacity until 1983, almost half of CBO's existence to date. During her tenure at CBO, Rivlin worked closely with Presidents Ford, Carter and Reagan. Economic and budgetary forecasts from CBO, under her direction, were consistently the most accurate of all that were produced.

During the commencement ceremony, university officials will present Dr. Rivlin with an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Landmark Homes Establishes Merit Scholarship at UNCW

UNCW is proud to announce the gift of $50,000 from Landmark Homes, Inc. to establish the Landmark Homes Merit Endowment Scholarship. The scholarship fund is intended to provide undergraduate academic scholarships for students attending the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

First preference for the scholarship will be given to qualified high school students from Southeastern North Carolina and Horry County, South Carolina. The student will be selected based on strong academic standing and solid moral character.

It is also required that the recipients' course of study lead them to a career in one of the following: accounting, marine biology, physics, mathematics, chemistry, marketing, economics, English, computer science, business management, and elementary or middle school education. The scholarship is the first privately funded scholarship for the University of North Carolina at Wilmington's Honors College.

Bobby Harrelson and Rex Stephens from Landmark Homes, Inc. of Wilmington, envisions that "the scholarship will grow over the years and promote the means for many of the best students in our area to further their education at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington."

On behalf of the university and the Leadership Gifts Committee, Bob Warwick, Advancement Committee Chair of Board of Trustees, expressed his appreciation. "The gift will make an immediate and important impact on education in North Carolina. Without the support of our local community, this gift would not have been possible."

Landmark Homes, Inc. does business primarily in Southeastern North Carolina and has been a longtime contributor to the university.

Senior Gets SIAM Award

Jonathan Tyrone Rowell, a UNCW senior mathematics major, was right up there with the big boys during a regional student paper competition held March 25-26 at Wake Forest University. Sponsored by the Society of Industrial and Applied Mathematics, it is the largest professional organization for applied mathematicians.

Rowell was the only undergraduate among 18 competitors from Clemson, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Emory, North Carolina State, Duke, Tennessee Technological and Howard Universities. The paper he submitted, "Coexistence and Permanence in a Four-species Food-chain Model," received the Special Award.

Rowell's paper presents a mathematical model that explores the long-term survival of four species in an ecological system. The work is based on a biological model developed by Dr. Martin Posey, UNCW assistant professor of biological sciences. Rowell's independent research was done as part of his

This research was co-authored by Dr. Robert Sumichrast of Virginia Tech.

Dr. Richard Mullendore, associate vice chancellor for student affairs, served as an invited presenter at the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators' Convention in Dallas, Texas, on March 25. The presentation, "Exploring Alternative Approaches to Community: The Undiscovered Country," was based on Mullendore's work and publications on the "Joint Statement on Rights and Freedoms of Students."

On April 7-9, Dr. Charles B. Dodson, English, attended the College English Association national conference in Orlando, Fla., where he read a paper titled "Using Homer to Teach The Ramayana" and spoke on "Faculty and TA Evaluation Procedures at UNC-Wilmington" in an invited panel.

Dr. Stephanie Richardson and Dr. Granetta Richardson, English, presented a poster/paper session, "The Person Behind the Paper: Invent(ing) Writer Integrity in the Contemporary Writing Center" at the First Annual National Writing Center Conference in New Orleans, La., April 13-16. Co-presenters included students Sherry Kelly, Ernest DiMattina, and Patricia Vickers.

Karen Shafer, Science and Math Education Center, and Dr. Tom Shafer, biological sciences and Sigma Xi delegate to the national meeting, presented a poster entitled "The Mathematics and Science Education Network: A Collaboration of Universities and Public Schools" at the annual forum of Sigma Xi, Scientific Research Society, in Atlanta, Ga., April 14-17. The focus of this year's forum was Scientists, Educators, and National Standards, Action at the Local Level.

Dr. Terry Theodore, fine arts, was recently informed his long, analytical film review of Cliffhanger was selected from hundreds of inclusions to be published in Magill's Annual Cinema: 1994.

Dr. David Bejou, management and marketing, and Dr. Barry Wray, production, operation and decision sciences, had their article "Evaluating Buyer-Seller Relationships Using Neural Network Analysis" accepted for publication in the European Journal of Marketing. This article is co-authored by professor Adrian Palmer, De Montfort University, Leicester, England.

Dr. Robert Y. George, biological sciences, presented an invited research seminar titled "Biological Impact of Water Masses Including the Gulf Stream on the Shelf and Deep Sea off the Carolinas" on April 25, 1994, at the Department of Marine, Earth and Atmospheric Sciences at N.C. State University.

Dr. Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, has been awarded $21,000 from Sphinx Pharmaceuticals Corporation for a collaborative project investigating the pharmacological activities of extracts of marine organisms. The funds will provide equipment and salary support for a research technician to help Pawlik in his research.

Dr. Terry Theodore, fine arts, gave a lecture on "Jean Renoir's Visual Montage in 'La Bete Humaine'" on May 1 at Brookgreen Gardens. Theodore focused on Renoir's masterful way of blending skillful editing with simple visuals to create a powerful film of human passions gone awry.

Tune in to Campus Watch

Tune your television set in to WECT-TV 6 for the 5:30 evening news on Mondays for the UNCW CAMPUS WATCH program.

Follow WECT reporter Genevieve Barker as she takes you around campus and the surrounding communities to share interesting and exciting things occurring on campus and within UNCW's academic departments.

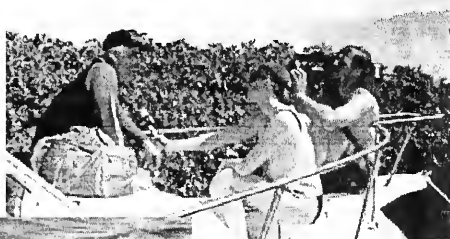

The kick-off to this program was Monday, May 2, from Key Largo, Fla., as Barker introduced viewers to faculty and staff of the university in general and more specifically those involved with the most sophisticated undersea laboratory Aquarius. Barker, university faculty and staff, national media and university donors dove approximately 50 feet to Aquarius for a personal tour of the research facility.

Dr. Kristin Szylyvian, history, and three students from her Seminar U.S. Social History: Labor History course were featured on May 9th's Campus Watch. This segment focused on their semester's worth of research on the history and importance of the railroad in Wilmington.

Dr. Joe Wilson, philosophy and religion, and his work as an international Buddhist scholar was showcased on the May 16 segment. Shot on location in Bolivia, N.C., the Watt Carolina is the only Buddhist temple in the state.

Dynamic segments are being planned for the future; however, suggestions are always welcome. Please contact Gina Roundtree at ext. 4082 with any ideas for future UNCW Campus Watch programs.

UNCW Graduates 946 in Commencement Exercises

UNCW awarded 946 degrees at its 48th commencement exercises on Saturday, May 14. In this graduating class, some 887 received bachelor's degrees while 59 were awarded graduate degrees.

Commencement speaker was one of the country's top economists Dr. Alice M. Rivlin, deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget in the Executive Office of the President.

UNCW Professor Dr. Gerald H. Shinn was awarded the 1994 O. Max Gardner Award for his many contributions to the "welfare of the human race." Established by the will of the late Governor Gardner, the award is the highest statewide honor given to faculty members by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors.

Three special awards were presented to graduating seniors during the ceremonies: Kelly Marie Brooks received the Hoggard Medal, Heather Jean Petroff received the 1994 Senior Leadership Award and Mamie Lynn Strickland was awarded the Alumni Achievement Award.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION SEEKS CHILDREN FOR TUTORING IN MATH

The School of Education is currently enrolling students, kindergarten to sixth grade, for tutoring in the Educational Lab (King Hall).

The Educational Lab is an education center where college students work one-on-one with children on reading, reading-related skills and math. All reading slots are full for the summer, but there are still a number of spaces available for math tutoring.

Sessions are supervised by the lab's professional staff. Children attend one-hour sessions after school, four times per week, for a total of eight hours of math tutoring. The tutoring fee is $5 per hour for a total of $40 for the summer term.

Tutoring is scheduled for the following dates: May 31-June 2; June 6-8; and June 13-16. Students will attend one-hour sessions between 3-5 p.m. Applicants are accepted on a first come, first serve basis.

To enroll your child in this tutoring program, call ext. 3633 or 3388 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. The deadline for applying is May 23.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS ORGANIZATION

Thanks to all who participated in the "Big Turn Off!" We saw some excellent results from the contest, and we hope that the results from April will be just as successful. Winners of the March run included Hewlett Hall (conserving 7.7 percent of their natural gas) and Waggoner Hall (conserved 30 percent of their water). The results for April will be posted in the Seahawk's summer issue.

COMMUNIQUE SUMMER SCHEDULE

With summer hours also comes a change in the Campus Communique schedule. The Communique will be printed every other week (beginning this week). The deadline remains status quo with NOON TUESDAYS. Please send announcements to Gina Roundtree c/o University Relations, or via e-mail to ROUNDTREEG.

River Run: Down the Cape Fear to the Sea

Imagine, if you will, a lone canoeist paddling silently through the water as birds sing and dart from branch to branch. Now, close your eyes and move quickly southward, hop into your motor boat and feel the wind against your face as your boat streaks through a green-laden corridor, pulling a skier in your wake. Leap forward again and smell the salt air; listen to the horn of an ocean-going freighter, the clang of heavy metal and chatter of dock workers as they unload a foreign vessel.

These are just a few of the sights and sounds of the Cape Fear River that are examined in River Run: Down the Cape Fear to the Sea. Chronicling a three-day journey from the headwaters of the Cape Fear to the Atlantic Ocean, the documentary explores the river's history, ecology, relation to commerce, the current issues affecting it and its future. Produced by UNCW in cooperation with Broadcast Services of NCSU and University of North Carolina Television, the one-hour program deliberately asks more questions than it answers, while challenging citizens to become involved in maintaining the Cape Fear's health.

Major underwriting for River Run: Down the Cape Fear to the Sea was provided by AAI, the pharmaceutical development people, and Carolina Power & Light Co.

The Health of the River

This 200-mile river, which begins at the confluence of the Haw and Deep Rivers near Moncure, forms the largest river basin system in North Carolina and houses an estuary in which 90 percent of North Carolina's commercial seafood harvest spends part of its life. It is a vital, living part of the state.

The questions of its health, however, is today still unanswered. While extensive sampling and monitoring of water quality is done by private and government concerns, the testing strategies vary considerably. Without consistency in testing, an accurate analysis of the data is not possible. Because of this problem, Lower Cape Fear businesses are working with the government and UNCW to develop and implement a monitoring program for the Lower Cape Fear which can then be implemented all the way up the river with assistance from other interested organizations.

Cape Fear River Program

The second phase of this program is the education of North Carolinians about the river. Continued protection of the Cape Fear River depends upon citizen concern and knowledge for generations to come. The Cape Fear River Program is making available to North Carolina public school systems the video River Run: Down the Cape Fear to the Sea and a curriculum guide to assist teachers in discussing the documentary and river issues. Your interest, expressed to your local school officials, can help assure that this program reaches our children. Funding for the Cape Fear River Program must come from the private sector.

Title Song

Inspired by the beauty and solitude of the river, Elaine Penn, development officer in University Advancement, composed a ballad to the river the first evening of her journey with the documentary team. Take A Stand depicts the spiritual nature of that journey, the camaraderie it evoked, the animals that live along the river and the human connection to unspoiled nature. Recorded with background vocals by The Combination Choir of Charlotte, Take A Stand has elicited interest from several media outlets.

RIVER RUN
9 p.m.,

The following is a list of nominees for the 1994 UNCW Staff Award of Excellence: Marguerite L. Chance; D. Diane Edwards; Lori C. Barrett; Corliss H. Bradley; Margaret Taylor Robison; Deborah E. Gay; Joseph S. Hack, Jr.; Robert A. Warren; David Ronald Johnson; Phillip M. Sharp; Diane B. Talley; Martha L. Shipman; Patricia L. Leonard; Kimberly W. Stowell

Congratulations to each of you! If you have any questions, please call ext. 3712.

SERVICE AWARDS LUNCHEON

This year's Service Awards Luncheon will be held from noon to 2 p.m., Thursday, June 23, in Wagoner Hall. Doors will open at 11:30 a.m., and lunch service begins at 11:45 a.m. Kay Robinson, assistant vice chancellor for human resources, will be the mistress of ceremonies. Tickets are on sale in the bookstore through June 17.

MCDENVER PROJECT

The UNCW School of Nursing, Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and McDonald's would like you and your child to participate in an expansion of the McDenver at McDonald's project. We are seeking children ages three months to five years to come to a designated McDonald's from 9-11 a.m., June 10, to participate in a practice session using the Denver II Developmental Screening Test. Each parent will need an appointment. For more information, call ext. 3205.

EVENTS CALENDAR

Beginning shortly, the Events Calendar will have a new look. If you have any questions about using this updated version, call ext. 3861.

NEW OFFICE TO IMPROVE STUDENT RETENTION AND GRADUATION RATES

Beginning July 1, the Division of Academic Affairs will initiate a major organizational change aimed at improving student retention and graduation rates, as well as enhancing the overall learning experience of students. A new Office for Student Academic Support Programs will centralize and coordinate freshman level advising, learning assistance and other academic services aimed at helping incoming students with their adjustments to and progress in the academic life of the university. Dr. Yousry Sayed, currently assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and director of the General College Advising Center, has been appointed director of the new unit. He will retain supervision of the General College Advising Center, which will be renamed the Center for Academic Advising. In addition, he will oversee the coordination of tutorial services in a new learning center facility in Westside Hall. Other goals of the new unit are to facilitate networking between the university's instructional and academic support programs and between the various student support services in the Divisions of Academic and Student Affairs.

CRAFT SHOW AND SALE

There has been a good response to the call for crafters to participate in the fall 1994 show; however, more people are needed. To add your name to the list, please call ext. 3415 or e-mail to STRICKLANDM.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Congratulations to Dr. Steven Weiss, who has accepted a position as chairman of the Department of Communications at Northern Kentucky University. Everyone is welcome to a farewell reception for him from 2 to 4 p.m., June 8, in the University Union Living Room.

TECHNOLOGY IN FUND RAISING

University Advancement will host the summer conference of the N.C. Development Officers Assembly June 16-17. The theme is "Technology in Fund Raising." The university community is invited to visit with several vendors demonstrating such technology as optical imaging systems and geographic information systems between 9 and 10 a.m., Friday, June 17, in the University Center.

PROSPECT REVIEW MEETINGS

University Advancement would like to thank all of those who have attended the monthly prospect review meetings and who have helped make the university's fund raising a success. Please continue to coordinate your development efforts through University Advancement and thank you for your support.

REGALIA RENTAL

To rent regalia for fall convocation on August 24, please call ext. 3054 by June 24. Please send check for rental via campus mail to the University Bookstore. (PhD Complete, $32.86; PhD Gown and Cap, $16.43; MA Complete, $28.62; MA Gown and Cap, $14.31.)

CORRECTION

The last issue of the Communique gave Telnet addresses for several library catalogs that use the INNOPAC search system. These addresses were not the Randall Online Catalog, but will allow you to explore the search capabilities that Randall's new system will have beginning in August. Send questions and comments to ext. 3688 or e-mail to CODYS.

FALL CONVOCATION

The fall convocation will be held from 10:30 a.m. to noon, August 24, in Kenan Auditorium.

A Letter From the Governor

James B. Hunt Jr.
Governor

Dear Friends:

North Carolina's universities have given our state 200 years of quality, affordable public education, inspired our students and helped shape the future of our state. The 16 campuses have also helped push North Carolina forward, producing great leaders, outstanding research and development, and playing a vital role in education and medical and economic development efforts across the state.

North Carolinians believe in their universities and believe that investing in our universities is investing in our future. The success of last fall's university bond referendum demonstrates that support and that commitment.

But we must make sure our universities stay competitive, offering quality education and providing a forum for cutting-edge research and development. Without strong universities, North Carolina's national and international reputation will fade.

That means we must pay our university professors fairly, and we must provide state-of-the-art resources and facilities in which to learn. That's why I'm recommending that the General Assembly provide for a 4 percent raise for teaching and non-teaching faculty and a one-time 1 percent bonus, as well as an additional 1.5 percent raise for teaching faculty. My 1994-95 budget also recommends a 4 percent pay raise and a 1 percent performance bonus for all other university personnel.

I'm also recommending $70 million for capital projects identified by the UNC Board of Governors and almost $17 million for 'top priority' items such as books, computers and instructional support.

I am hopeful that the General Assembly will give universities this sorely-needed boost during the upcoming short session, and I look forward to working with you to continue to address the needs in higher education.

Sincerely,

James B. Hunt Jr.

Faculty and Staff

Dr. Ronald J. Vetter, mathematical sciences, has been awarded a grant for $32,903 to study the architecture of the Earth Observing System Data and Information System (EOSDIS) from Hughes Information Technology Company's Applied Information Systems Division. The grant is part of a collaborative effort involving researchers from the Center for Aerospace Studies at the University of North Dakota as well as members of the computer science departments at North Dakota State University and the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. The combined award was $346,590. A series of spacecrafts will be used to monitor and collect data about the Earth, including ozone mapping and monitoring, ocean surface topography, ice sheet altimetry, high spatial resolution visible and infrared imagery of land surfaces, remote sensing of soils, vegetation, and aquatic systems. The project will involve processing a tremendous amount of computerized digital data in various databases distributed across the country.

Dr. Louis H. Adcock, chemistry, was presented the North Carolina Distinguished Service to the Profession of Chemistry Award for 1994 by the North Carolina Institute of Chemists at their annual awards banquet at Guilford College at Greensboro on April 23. Dr. Adcock served as the institute's secretary (1975-77) and president (1979-81), and he has coordinated the institute's annual student awards program for a number of years.

Wally DesChamps, reservations and event planning coordinator for the University Union, received the 1994 Outstanding New Conference and Event Professional Award at the annual conference of the Association of Conference and Events Directors-International (ACED-I) held in Denver, Col., March 27. The award recognized outstanding work by an individual who has been in the conference and events profession for less than four years. Recipients are nominated by colleagues across the United States and Canada. DesChamps has served on the host committee for the 1992 national conference in Orlando, Fla., and is currently editor of the association's quarterly periodical, The Communique.

Dr. Karin Deck, mathematical sciences, has had her paper "The Radical of the Group of Automorphisms of a Transcendental Field Extension" accepted for publication in the Journal of Algebra.

Dr. Courtney Hackney, biological sciences, has been awarded the 1993 prize of the Association of American Publishers, Scientific, Technical and Medical Division for Outstanding Books of the Year in Biological Sciences for his three-volume set of books Biodiversity of the Southeastern United States, Upland Terrestrial Communities, and Lowland Terrestrial Communities and Aquatic Communities.

Dr. Saul Bachner, specialty studies, has had an article, "Sports Literature for the At-Risk Student," published in the April issue of The Clearing House. The article is an account of the research conducted last year with ninth graders at North Brunswick High School.

First Aid Training

The Safety Department will offer standard first aid training on:

June 7, 1-4:30 p.m.

June 8, 1-3:30 p.m.

The cost is $20. Call ext. 3057 to register.

Purchasing Reminders

Delivery requirement for state appropriated purchases is June 30, 1994. All equipment and supplies should have been requisitioned by now so that purchasing can properly handle the orders. For the month of June, Purchasing will devote their time to getting ordered items in and invoiced. If goods do not arrive by June 30, the expense will be carried over to the next fiscal year's budget.

Processing timely paperwork this time of year is critical. Please be attentive to receiving goods and signing off on purchase order pink receiving copies quickly. The priority of the Purchasing Department this month is to assure receiving is correct and timely. "Expected Delivery" should be printed in the upper right hand corner of the purchase order (just under the purchase order number).

This month, purchasing's attention is associated primarily with receiving goods already ordered; we will be processing "Future Requisitions" for your July delivery requirements. When inputting your future requisitions, please note date goods are needed on your request. We will handle the orders appropriately. Reminder: future requisitions do not encumber. The purchase order encumbrance will be taken from your 1994-95 fiscal year budget.

Renewal requests are due in purchasing by June 15, 1994. Please return them by this date to make certain your recurring orders are processed by July 1. If you have any questions, please call ext. 3153.

Chair For Sale

For departmental sale, one high-back executive chair for sale in the Registrar's Office for $40.

Update on Human Resource Benefits Survey

Last spring, Human Resources conducted a benefits survey and based on the results, recommended some program enhancements and changes. The following is an update on some of the initiatives taken by Human Resources: Developed and distributed comparison brochure on supplemental retirement plans and conducted workshops; conducted "Prepare" and "Preparing Makes Sense" programs for those interested in retirement information planning; communicated new Child Involvement Leave Policy and Family Medical Leave Policy; expanded and evaluated employee exchange program opportunities; expanded employee appreciation week activities; revised and expanded orientation program including walking tour; re-instated EAP on campus; conducted employee focus groups to gather information on recognition program ideas; changed four-month parking deductions to 12-month parking deductions (details to be provided later this year); vacation leave is now available to transfer and sick leave bank versus "use it or lose it" approach; working on "Quick Guides" as user-friendly way to provide information on human resource policies (more information will be provided soon); and continues to work with state legislative committee to "push" for cafeteria benefit plans (dental plan would be part of that flexible state-wide system).

If you have questions about any of these programs, please call Human Resources. Another benefits survey will be conducted in the spring of 1995 (a different survey with more focus on employee relations issues).

Summer Schedule for Gas Pumping - Motor Pool

Monday-Thursday:

7-8 a.m.; 12:30-1:30 p.m.; 3-4 p.m.

Friday: 7-8 a.m.; 9:30-10:15 a.m.

Time Sheet Note

Accrued comp time or vacation leave must be used for taking off on Memorial Day. UNCW redesignates the Memorial Day holiday to give a longer holiday break for Christmas. Fourth of July and Labor Day will be actual UNCW holidays.

Work Plans for SPA Staff

Human Resources thanks staff for their hard work and cooperation in getting performance evaluations in by the deadline. Prospects for a pay raise look bright this year. The new work plans need to be completed and turned in to Human Resources by June 15. The dates for the new work plans are May 1, 1994 through April 30, 1995, unless your department has registered a different evaluation cycle with Human Resources. If you have questions, call ext. 3161 ext. 3698.

WELCOME

David Crouch, Linda Simmons, Gerphine Yeoman/Physical Plant; Rosemary Howryla/Bookstore; Carol Lewis/Public Service; Kathleen Shallcross/Accounting.

The Winning Tradition Continues Seahawks Welcome Jerry Wainwright as Head Coach

Jerry Wainwright, assistant coach for nine seasons who played a key role in the revitalization of Wake Forest University's men's basketball program, has been named head coach at UNCW.

Wainwright, 47, served as an aide under Bob Staak and Dave Odom and helped rebuild the Demon Deacon program into an upper level team in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He replaces Kevin Eastman, who resigned on May 8 to accept the top position at Washington State.

"We're very excited about getting an individual with Jerry's experience," said UNCW Athletic Director Paul Miller. "Jerry's track record proves he has the knowledge and experience to direct a growing program. He will be a terrific asset to the university and the community."

A graduate of Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Colo., Wainwright earned his graduate degree in exercise physiology from the University of Denver before entering the coaching profession on the prep level.

At Montrose High School in Denver, he led his team to the state tournament and was named Colorado Coach of the Year in 1975. He then returned to his native Illinois as an assistant coach at East Leyden High School in suburban Chicago, where he helped teams there compile a 104-4 record over a four-year period. Wainwright's last high school coaching position was at Chicago's Highland Park High School, where he piloted his teams to three straight 20-win seasons and back-to-back appearances in "Everybody has a dream job and this one is mine . . . since the first time I came here . . . the thing that stuck in my mind . . . was Trask Coliseum . . . It's a great atmosphere with great fans."

— Jerry Wainwright

the state's Sweet 16 in 1982 and 1983. He was named state Coach of the Year following both seasons.

Wainwright then broke into the collegiate ranks, joining Staak at Xavier and later working with Odom at Wake Forest. During his tenure at WFU, Wainwright has sparked the Demon Deacons to four straight NCAA Tournament berths and back-to-back 20-win seasons for the first time in 10 years. He worked specifically with Wake's big men, including NBA draft picks Chris King (Seattle) and Rodney Rogers (Denver).

"Everybody has a dream job and this one is mine," said Wainwright, a native of Chicago, at a press conference held June 6 to announce his new position. "I could have stayed at Wake Forest for the rest of my life. But since the first time I came here and scouted for Wake Forest, I thought of this as my dream job. The thing that stuck in my mind after visiting as a coach was Trask Coliseum. The atmosphere was unbelievable. It's a great atmosphere with great fans."

Wainwright is only the fifth coach in the 43-year history of UNCW's program. Bill Brooks (21 years), Mel Gibson (14 years), Robert McPherson (4 years) and Eastman (4 years) have combined to lead the Seahawks to a 566-521 overall record, including 256-237 in 18 years of NCAA Division I play.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCES RECIPIENT OF SCHOLARSHIP

Christina Koenig, an eighth grade Noble Middle School student, has been selected as the recipient of the 1994 Friends of UNCW MarineQuest scholarship to attend one week of Coast Trek. Coast Trek is a residential, hands-on marine science and environmental study program offered by the Division for Public Service and Extended Education.

An academically-gifted student, Christina has a strong interest in marine biology and plans a career in the field. At Noble, she is a member of the Young Astronauts Club, served on the Holocaust Tribute Committee and as a Diplomat and was named Most Outstanding Band Student. Christina is the daughter of Rita Koenig of Wilmington. While at UNCW, Christina will be studying with 25 other middle school students from across the United States. The camp is offered for eight weeks every summer on the UNCW campus.

ADVANCEMENT CAR WASH

Don't forget to get your Loyalty Fund contribution in by June 30 so you can watch the Advancement staff clean your car! Advancement has 100 percent participation and if your department matches it, Advancement will wash your car on July 14 (11 a.m.-2 p.m.). Get your gift in now so it will count toward your department goal. Call ext. 3004 with questions.

On May 21, Peggy Astraikis, data coordinator for Physical Plant, was named Woman of the Year by the American Business Women's Association of Carolina Beach where she has been a member since 1988.

Dr. William A. Bryan, vice chancellor for student affairs, was the keynote speaker for the annual spring program of the University of South Carolina Student Personnel Association. Bryan's talk was titled "Student Affairs Challenged in the 90s."

Dr. Tammy G. Hunt, management and marketing, recently spoke to the North Carolina Register of Deeds Association on "Business Professionalism in the Workplace" at their state convention held at the Wilmington Hilton.

Dr. Tammy G. Hunt, management and marketing, with colleague Daniel Jennings of Baylor University will present "Continuing Education Programs for Entrepreneurs" at the 1994 Academy of Management Conference.

Dr. James D. Johnson, associate professor of psychology, and his colleagues Lee Anderson Jackson and Leslie Gatto presented their research findings that violent rap music may encourage violent acts at the Southeastern Psychological Association's meeting in New Orleans. They found exposure to violent rap music may increase the probability that listeners may be more likely to accept the use of and/or engage in violent behavior, and significantly affect the listener's perceptions of the value of academic pursuits or the likelihood of academic success. Johnson, who plans to see if the effects of rap music are generalized to black females, white males and white females, has had his initial research accepted for publication in Basic and Applied Social Psychology, a peer-reviewed journal for psychologists.

Dr. Diane Levy and Dr. Eleanor Maxwell, sociology, were featured speakers at the regional conference of Family Service America, Inc., at Wrightsville Beach on April 28-29. Dr. Levy's talk was "The American Family: Myth and Reality" and Dr. Maxwell spoke on "Shrinking Family Size and Increased Demand for Services Expected in the 21st Century."

Dr. Kristin Howell, economics and finance, participated in the Annual Conference of the North Carolina World Trade Association in Charlotte on May 10-11. The topic was "Global Free Trade — Opportunities for American Business Under the New World Order."

Dr. William Overman, psychology, delivered two invited addresses on May 12 and 18. The first, "The Development Complex Spatial Abilities in Young Children: Implications for Education," was presented to the Psychology Department of the University of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada. The second, "The Ontogeny of Learning and Memory in Young Children and Infant Monkeys," was presented to the Washington Regional Primate Center, University of Washington, Seattle.

Dr. John B. Taggart, CMSR, recently had his article "Ordination as an Aid in Determining Priorities for Plant Community Protection" published in Biological Conservation (68: 135-141).

Saxophonist Dr. Frank Bongiorno and two of his students, freshman Brad Merritt and senior Benny Hill, were invited to perform at the North American Saxophone Alliance and Southeast League Composers National Conference in Morgantown, West Virginia, on the campus of West Virginia University from May 17-21. While Dr. Bongiorno was the featured artist in the opening evening concert, both Merritt and Hill performed in master classes during the conference.

Dr. James D. Johnson and Dr. Nora Noel, psychology, have recently received a $40,000 research grant to investigate the possible effects of intoxication level on sexually aggressive behavior. More specifically, their investigation will focus on the effects of male intoxication level on perceptions of female behavior and sexual intention. The grant, which was funded for one year by the Alcoholic Beverage Research Foundation, will begin August 1, 1994.

Virginia Adams Named Dean of School of Nursing

UNCW has announced the appointment of Dr. Virginia W. Adams to be the second dean of UNCW's School of Nursing. Adams' appointment was approved by the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina and is effective July 1, 1994.

Adams is currently interim dean of the College of Nursing at East Tennessee State University, Johnson City, Tenn., a position she has held since June 1993. Her educational background includes a bachelor of science in nursing, Winston-Salem State University, 1967; master of science in maternal child nursing, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, 1975; and a doctorate degree in child development and family relations, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, 1985.

In Adams' current position as interim dean she has the responsibility of more than 50 faculty, 22 staff and more than 1600 majors. She is charged with the development and implementation of a strategic plan, oversight of external contracts and grants and a budget in excess of $4 million. She also serves as co-principal investigator and chair of the governing board for the $6 million W.K. Kellogg Foundation grant. Adams started with East Tennessee State University in August 1988 as associate professor of family/community nursing and in January 1993 was appointed chair of the family/community nursing department.

A member of several national nursing and health-related associations and a Lieutenant Colonel in the U.S. Army Reserves, Adams is an active researcher currently conducting research on health issues related to children.

"We are very pleased to have attracted such a highly-qualified professional from such an outstanding school to UNCW," said UNCW Chancellor James R. Leutze.

Adding Adams to a series of appointments made since Leutze arrived at UNCW in 1990 he stated, "It proves again that we are competitively seeking and hiring the best people in the country."

Whittaker Named Director of Admissions and Registrar

Provost Marvin K. Moss has announced the appointment of Ron Whittaker as director of admissions and registrar. Whittaker, who has served as UNCW's registrar since August 1992, is assuming the larger role following a national search for director of admissions and in keeping with the university's plan to strengthen its enrollment management office.

Whittaker's new role is effective July 1, 1994. Before coming to UNCW, Whittaker was registrar at the University of Baltimore, Md., for five years. Whittaker has been involved at different levels of higher education since 1966 and received his master's degree from Appalachian State University.

Wiley Named Interim Dean of Graduate School

Dr. Joan D. Wiley, graduate coordinator of the Department of Chemistry at UNCW, has been appointed interim dean of UNCW's Graduate School effective July 1, 1994.

In Wiley's current position at UNCW, she is the graduate coordinator for the Department of Chemistry, oceanography program coordinator and professor of chemistry. Her career with UNCW began in 1977 as assistant professor of chemistry.

Her educational background includes a bachelor of science in chemistry, Duke University, 1969, and a doctoral degree in chemical oceanography from Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia, 1975.

Wiley was recommended to UNCW Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Dr. Marvin K. Moss from a pool of applicants by UNCW's graduate program coordinators and members of the Graduate Council.

A prolific scholar, Wiley has had several articles, technical reports, theses and abstracts published in scientific journals and other publications.

Robison Receives 1994 UNCW Award of Excellence

UNCW awarded 101 employees for service to the state of North Carolina at the university's 19th Annual Service Awards Program held June 23. Chancellor James R. Leutze presented the awards and Assistant Vice Chancellor for Business Affairs-Human Resources Kay N. Robinson was mistress of ceremonies.

Margaret Taylor Robison, Director of Development in the Division of University Advancement, was the recipient of the 1994 UNCW Award of Excellence.

Through imagination and creativity, Robison works continually to promote the university's value both on and off campus. Employed at UNCW since July 1982, she has worked as director of auxiliary services, housing and food services and the annual fund, and coordinator of residence life.

In her current position as director of development, Robison is responsible for coordinating all of the corporate and private foundation fund-raising efforts at UNCW. She is responsible for establishing the university's first Leadership Gifts Committee. Robison has pioneered new and exciting ways of raising money for UNCW, including a designer show house scheduled next spring for the Wise House, and car washes for campus employees whose departments meet fund-raising challenges set out by University Advancement.

Currently a mentor for five UNCW students, Robison can be credited with the idea of inviting prospective students to a social held each year in Richmond at the CAA men's basketball tournament.

"Margaret's innovative and resourceful methods of threading the university through all her public and private activities, maximizing every opportunity in her volunteer organizations, her church, and among her friends to act as a liaison for UNCW, and promoting all its activities are what make Margaret so rare and such a jewel in this university's crown," said UNCW Vice Chancellor for University Advancement Bill Anlyan.

Robison also becomes UNCW's nominee for the Governor's Award of Excellence which will be presented in September.

UNCW Announces Recognition Program Initiatives

A core committee has been doing research on boosting morale by developing short and long-term recognition programs for UNCW faculty and staff.

The following programs were proudly announced at the 19th Annual Service Awards Luncheon:

- Full-time staff making $20,000 or less (their salary in July) will be eligible for the parking scholarship and will pay only $60 (versus $80).
- A 12-month deduction for parking
- Two free tickets will be available to every faculty and staff member for the Saturday, November 26, basketball game against Coastal Carolina. (As you know, UNCW faculty and staff already enjoy a good discount on season tickets and can pay for them via payroll deduction.)

- Tickets for UNCW-sponsored events at Kenan Auditorium will be half-price for UNCW faculty, staff and their families when purchased in advance or at the door. You will need to present your ID card upon purchase. This also includes the Travelogue series.

- The orientation fee for dependent children of faculty and staff will be waived starting next year.

Please call Human Resources with any ideas or suggestions.

Public Service and Extended Education

Four classes are being offered to both newcomers and veterans in the work place to upgrade their professional and personal work skills. The entire series offers 2.0 units of CEU credit. Classes and instructors are:

Announcements

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Dr. Nancy J. Gladwell has accepted a position with UNC Greensboro. In honor of her 10 years of service at UNCW, the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation invites her colleagues and friends to attend a reception from 4-6 p.m., July 5, in the Golden Hawk Room (Nixon Annex). Please RSVP to Dana McKoy at ext. 4268 by July 1.

CALL FOR CRAFTERS

There has been a good response to the call for crafters to participate in the fall 1994 show, but more are needed. To add your name to the list, please call ext. 3415. The show has been scheduled for November 5-6, 1994.

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES PRESENTS . . .

Juan Manuel Lopez Bautista will defend his graduate thesis "Nuclear Genomes Characterization and Agar Analysis of Some Gracilariiales (Rhodophyta)" from 9-10 a.m., June 29, in Friday Hall, Room 308. Everyone is invited and refreshments will be served.

FASHION SHOW: A SUCCESS

The University Women's Fashion Show, "All That Jazz II," was again a success thanks to the large number of faculty, staff (and their spouses), retirees, students, volunteers and merchants who took the time and interest to participate in, contribute to and support the event.

The hard work of the campus community, including models, store coordinators, staging at the University Center, publicity, backstage coordinators, music, buffet donated by ARA and generous door prizes donated by various merchants made this a most enjoyable evening. Thanks to everyone who helped make this event a success.

SEANC SCHOLARSHIP TICKETS

SEANC Scholarship tickets are now on sale for $1 each. The grand prize is a 1994 Ford Ranger Truck, XLT, and first prize is a 25" color television. The drawing will take place September 10 at the 1994 Annual Convention in Charlotte. For tickets see Bonnie Clements/Physical Plant, Gloria Sasser/English Department or Elizabeth Green/Human Resources.

BLOOD DRIVE

July 4 means picnics, relaxing by the pool, cool drinks, family fun and low blood supplies. Red Cross needs you more than ever to help offset summer shortages. UNCW's blood drive will be from 11:30 a.m.-4 p.m., Wednesday, July 6, in the University Center Ballroom. For more information, call 762-9663.

IRB REVIEW PROCESS UNDERWAY

For those planning research using human subjects, please send proposals for IRB review to Dr. Julian Keith, psychology, from June 27-July 29. After July 25, proposals can be sent to Dr. Candace Gauthier, philosophy and religion. Also, please allow more time for research proposals to be reviewed during the summer months since it is often difficult to gather IRB members for a meeting.

CAMPUS WATCH NEEDS YOU . . .

As described in the May 19 issue of the Campus Communique, Campus Watch is a television series aired every Monday on the 5:30 p.m. news on WECT-TV 6 with Genevieve Barker. We would like the input of the campus community for future segments. Please call ext. 4082 with current or upcoming happenings in your departments.

AUXILIARY SERVICES HAS MOVED

Beginning July 1, Auxiliary Services will be located in the Parking and ID Office next to the UNCW Bookstore. All telephone numbers will remain the same. The new location will be titled Auxiliary Services and will house IDs, parking decals, meal plans, flex accounts, deposits and administrative services.

HOST A STUDENT

United Christian Campus Ministry (UCCM) is sponsoring a host family program for new students beginning with the 1994 fall semester. During orientation, about 27 students expressed the desire to participate, and the international students also will be included. UCCM would like the participation of UNCW faculty and staff in sponsoring a student by spending time with them at least once a month in activities of mutual interest, having an occasional meal or seeing the local sites. Call UCCM at 799-8497 or ext. 4137 for more information.

CAHILL AWARDS

ARTS IN ACTION

Arts in Action presents "Something for Everyone," a collection of works by Doris Shumaker, June 7-July 29 in the University Union. For information, call ext. 3285.

CAR WASH

University Advancement is having a car wash from 10 a.m.-3 p.m., July 14, in front of the University Center for those departments that matched 100 percent participation in the Loyalty Fund.

Faculty and Staff

Madeleine Bombeld, reference librarian in Randall Library, was recently chosen as Interlibrary Loan Coordinator for North Carolina SOLINET Users' Group during their recent Spring Meeting in Chapel Hill, N.C.

Dr. Ned H. Martin, chemistry, was in Washington, D.C. May 30-June 1 to participate on a review panel for the Medications Development Division of the National Institute on Drug Abuse. The panel reviewed proposals for a contract to develop new drugs to counter cocaine dependency.

Dr. Robert Kieber and Scott Kaczynski, chemistry, have had a paper published in the most recent issue of Environmental Science and Technology. The paper is titled "Hydrophobic C18 Bound Complexes of Chromium and Their Potential Impact on the Geochemistry of Cr in Natural Waters."

On the recommendation of the director of the World Health Organization (WHO)/United Nations, Dr. Marlene Rosenkoetter has been invited to be listed on the roster of international health care consultants for the WHO, Geneva, Switzerland.

Vicky Chang, a correspondent from the Associate Press, was recently on campus to interview Dr. James D. Johnson, psychology, to gather information for a news article on Johnson's applied research on the effects of exposure to rap music, and perceptual biases due to male intoxication which might lead to acquaintance rape. Once the article is completed, it will be made available to all the major newspapers, news magazines and news organizations in the country.

Dr. Andrew F. Clark, history, has an article on "Slavery and its Demise in the Upper Senegal Valley (West Africa), 1890-1920" in the current issue of Slavery and Abolition (Vol. 15; No. 1): pp. 51-71.
